Frolik, 1999 A collection of 47 portions of essays articles and books addressing many of the social political and legal problems occasioned by having an increasing number of older Americans First defines and explores the emerging field of elder law then looks at such dimensions as work income and wealth housing mental capacity health care decision making long term care health care finance family and social issues abuse neglect victimization and elderly criminals and legal representation and ethical considerations Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Feminist Perspectives on Family Care Nancy R. Hooyman, Judith Gonyea, 1995-08-29 Today women find themselves playing an ever increasing role in caring for older family members who are frail developmentally disabled or suffering from serious mental illness While this role of women as caregivers has been documented the actual impact on the lives of women has remained largely unstudied In this volume the authors examine caregiving as a central feminist issue looking at its impact on women socially personally and economically The authors review how changing family structures the changing economy and workforce and the changing health care demands of needy adults have impacted on women's lives They critique existing public and private policies demonstrating a need for fundamental structural changes in social institutions and attitudes to improve the lives of women Finally they propose a social model of care that is oriented toward gender justice recognition of the work of caring and its impact upon women socially personally and economically For students scholars and practitioners in the field of gerontology gender studies and social work this book is a must Fundamentals of Feminist Gerontology J Dianne Garner, 2014-01-21 Explore feminist ideals and advocacy for aging women in health care home life work and retirement Fundamentals of Feminist Gerontology strives to increase women's self esteem and their overall quality of life by encouraging education and by putting a stop to age sex and race discrimination As a student or professional in psychology social work or gerontology you will learn about feminist conceptions of retirement economic issues psychological issues and social issues and will explore studies on old age discrimination and devaluation and sexism toward women in Western societies to gain an understanding of the experiences of these women This book also shows how some women are experiencing empowerment through alternative health care such as mind body therapies homeopathy aromatherapy and herbal medicine and examines older women in the family context Fundamentals of Feminist Gerontology will provide you with the tools to offer effective therapy to women to help them improve their own lives For a complete list of contents please visit our Web site at www.haworthpressinc.com Using feminist practice approaches Fundamentals of Feminist Gerontology gives you real life situations and examples that will raise awareness of the issues that rob older women of the quality of life they deserve Some of the vital issues and theories you will read about in Fundamentals of Feminist Gerontology include women regaining control over their health care retirement and the economic issues that older women face when they retire the role of children and grandchildren in the older woman's life unpaid work after retirement in the home and as a care provider older women battling domestic violence financial and psychological issues of widowhood special concerns of minority women and lesbians as they grow older Fundamentals of Feminist Gerontology presents new feminist knowledge and strategies to assist aging women in fully developing enhancing and enjoying their later years You will discover a rich variety of theories and frameworks from a multitude of intellectual paradigms and political positions to enhance your professional practice with older women Handbook of Long-Term Care Administration and Policy Cynthia Massie Mara, Laura Olson, 2008-03-27 Attitudes toward long term care contain a strong residue of negativity in today's society and current problems with the system augment such perceptions Unless dealt with now this will only get worse as the 85 and older crowd is the fastest growing part of the population and the first wave of Baby Boomers is approaching 60 Exploring and delineating National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1988 Circles of Care Emily K. Abel, Margaret K. Nelson, 1990-07-05 This work examines the experience of women providing care to children disabled persons the chronically ill and the frail elderly It differs from most writing about caregiving because it focuses on the providers rather than the care recipients It looks at the experience of women caregivers in specific settings exploring what caregiving actually entails and what it means in their lives

Handbook of Aging and Mental Health Jacob Lomranz, 1998-09-30 This comprehensive resource responds to a growing need for theory and multidisciplinary integrative research in adult and gerontological health Handbook of Aging and Mental Health brings together for the first time diverse strategies and methodologies as well as theoretical formulations involving psychodynamic behavioral psychosocial and biological systems as they relate to aging and health Forward thinking in his approach Lomranz provides the mental health adult developmental and geriatric professions with a single reference source that covers theory construction empirical research treatment and multidisciplinary program development Successful Aging Through the Life Span May L. Wykle, Peter J. Whitehouse, Diana L. Morris, 2004-10-25 This book explores concepts and practices for productive aging What factors contribute to successful aging What is the role of exercise and nutrition What is the role of children and adults in interaction with elders The chapters identify the best practices for successful aging examine trends in intergenerational caregiving and define roles and responsibilities across the life span Topics addressed include how to maximize productive engagement of older adults how multigenerational issues impact successful aging the ways in which a learning environment can promote intergenerational relationships Who Cares for the Elderly? Emily K. Abel, 1991 Although caregiving is predominantly women's work care for the elderly is largely absent from the feminist agenda in this country Emily K. Abel presents a compelling and sensitive report that describes the experience of caregiving from the perspective of adult daughters She places their stories in the context of an analysis of existing policies and services for the elderly and traces the history of family caregiving in the U.S. since 1800 Through in depth open ended interviews with 51 women who were caring for one or both parents Abel explores how caregivers themselves understand their endeavors Poignant excerpts from these interviews reveal the overwhelming sense of responsibility that these women feel for their parents lives how they protect their parents dignity and the isolation and lack of support that is faced in these homecare situations While policy analysts speak of filial responsibility Abel allows the adult daughters to interpret its meaning in heart rending detail In her examination of how public policies affect the nature of caregiving at home Abel argues that the amount of care women deliver to elderly relatives is determined not only by demographic trends but by the inadequacies of the long term care system in the U S Author note Emily K Abel is Adjunct Associate Professor in the School of Public Health at the University of California Los Angeles She has published several books and is co editor with Margaret K Nelson of Circles of Care Work and Identity in Women s Lives

Old Age Haim Hazan,1994-04-28 Haim Hazan is a leading specialist on old age in anthropology and has published several books on particular communities of old people The latest book is an essay on the realities of old age as it is experienced as opposed to the ideas about the old current in western societies It argues that the construction of this world by outsiders is inevitably affected by deeply ingrained social attitudes and structures such as the spatial segregation of the aged as a population and the fear of death with which they are associated By approaching the subject from the social constructionist perspective and by drawing on a variety of detailed ethnographic accounts the author describes a unique and nuanced social world This is a sophisticated and original book which should have a significant impact on a field still dominated by a social problems approach

Law and the Search for Community Joel F. Profiles in Caregiving Carol S. Aneshensel,Leonard I. Pearlin,Joseph T. Mullan,Steven H. Zarit,Carol J. Whitlatch,1995-09-15 Given medical advances and greater understanding of healthful living habits people are living longer lives Proportionally speaking a greater percentage of the population is elderly Despite medical advances there is still no cure for dementia and as elderly individuals succumb to Alzheimer s Disease or related dementia more and more people are having to care their elderly parents and or siblings Profiles in Caregiving is practical source of information for anyone who teaches caregiving acts as a caregiver or studies caregiving This book discusses recent research on stress factors associated with caregiving and what factors impact on successful versus non successful adaptation to the care giving role This is an expanding field in gerontology and is also of interest to personality and social psychologists studying stress and interpersonal relations Although there are many books on the cause and treatment of dementia there has been a book that provides a research investigation into the factors associated with effective caregiving to dementia patients Conceptualizes caregiving as a multistage career whose impact on the caregiver continues to be felt after in home care has ceased Based upon a longitudinal survey of a demographically diverse sample of principal caregivers over a three year period Identifies caregivers who are most at risk for adverse adaptation to the role Describes preventative and clinical intervention strategies Identifies post care risk and issues Identifies antecedents to successful adaptation State of the art analytic Bureaucracy Joel F. Handler, 1996-04-01 Throughout the world politicians are dismantling state enterprises and heaping praise on private markets while in the United States a new rhetoric of citizen empowerment links a widespread distrust of government to decentralization and privatization Here Joel Handler asks whether this restructuring of authority really allows ordinary citizens to take more control of the things that matter in their roles as parents and children teachers and students tenants and owners producers and consumers Looking at citizens as stakeholders in the modern social welfare state created by the New Deal he traces the surprising ideological shifts of empowerment from its beginning as a cornerstone of the war on poverty in the 1960s to its central place in conservative market based voucher schemes for school reform in the 1990s Handler shows that in the past the gains from decentralization have proved to be more symbol than substance some disadvantaged members of society will find new opportunities in the changes of the 1990s but others will simply experience powerlessness under another name He carefully distinguishes empowerment by invitation in special education worker safety home health care public housing tenancy and neighborhood organizations from the empowerment by conflict exemplified by the radical decentralization of the Chicago public schools What emerges is a map of the major pitfalls and possible successes in the current journey away from a discredited regulatory state For Love or Money Nancy Folbre, 2012-09-06 As women moved into the formal labor force in large numbers over the last forty years care work traditionally provided primarily by women has increasingly shifted from the family arena to the market Child care elder care care for the disabled and home care now account for a growing segment of low wage work in the United States and demand for such work will only increase as the baby boom generation ages But the expanding market provision of care has created new economic anxieties and raised pointed questions Why do women continue to do most care work both paid and unpaid Why does care work remain low paid when the quality of care is so highly valued How effective and equitable are public policies toward dependents in the United States In For Love and Money an interdisciplinary team of experts explores the theoretical dilemmas of care provision and provides an unprecedented empirical overview of the looming problems for the care sector in the United States Drawing on diverse disciplines and areas of expertise For Love and Money develops an innovative framework to analyze existing care policies and suggest potential directions for care policy and future research Contributors Paula England Nancy Folbre and Carrie Leana explore the range of motivations for caregiving such as familial responsibility or limited job prospects and why both love and money can be efficient motivators They also examine why women tend to specialize in the provision of care citing factors like job discrimination social pressure or the personal motivation to provide care reported by many women Suzanne Bianchi Nancy Folbre and Douglas Wolf estimate how much unpaid care is being provided in the United States and show that low income families rely more on unpaid family members for their child and for elder care than do affluent families With low wages and little savings these families often find it difficult to provide care and earn enough money to stay afloat Candace Howes Carrie Leana and Kristin Smith investigate the dynamics within the paid care sector and find problematic wages and working conditions including high turnover inadequate training and a pay penalty for workers who enter care jobs These conditions have consequences poor job quality in child care and adult care also leads to poor care quality In their chapters Janet Gornick Candace Howes and Laura Braslow provide a systematic inventory of public policies that directly shape the provision of care for children or for adults who need personal assistance such as family leave child care tax credits and Medicaid funded long term care They conclude that income and variations in states policies are the greatest factors determining how well and for whom the current system works Despite the demand for care work very little public policy attention has been devoted to it Only three states for example have enacted paid family leave programs Paid or unpaid care costs those who provide it At the heart of For Love and Money is the understanding that the quality of care work in the United States matters not only for those who receive care but also for society at large which benefits from the nurturance and maintenance of human capabilities As care work gravitates from the family to the formal economy this volume clarifies the pressing need for America to fundamentally rethink its care policies and increase public investment in this increasingly crucial sector

Caring for Our Parents Howard Gleckman, 2024-03-26 When his mother in law died suddenly and his seriously ill father in law was left with no one to care for him the author and his wife were thrust into the complex and overwhelming world of long term care Just months later his own father fell sick and the couple struggled to help care for him too from 1000 miles away Over the next year and a half this ordinary family faced one crisis after another as each day brought new struggle and pain but also surprising rewards They were among the 44 million Americans who are caring for elderly parents or relatives or friends with disabilities Someone you love will almost certainly need long term care services before they die Nearly 70 percent of our parents will receive such help sometime during their old age usually at home though often in a nursing home It will last for an average of three years though one in five will need this assistance for five years or more This book tells the sometimes painful sometimes uplifting and always compelling stories of the families who struggle every day with the care needs of their loved ones The costs are crushing and the weight of 77 million aging Baby Boomers will devastate our nation's already fragile system for funding this critical day to day assistance How can we repair the tattered safety net that is so essential to our aged and disabled

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and suspenseful novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
