Loving Nature Towards An Ecology Of Emotion:

Loving Nature Kay Milton, 2002 In Loving Nature Kay Milton considers why some people in western societies grow up to be nature lovers actively concerned about the welfare and future of plants animals ecosystems and nature in general while others seem indifferent or intent on destroying these things Drawing on findings and ideas from anthropology psychology cognitive science and philosophy the author discusses how we come to understand nature as we do and above all how we develop emotional commitments to it The author argues that the conventional opposition between emotion and rationality in western culture is a myth the effect of which has been to exclude from public decision making the kind of emotional attachments that support more environmentally sensitive ways of living The Routledge Handbook of Love in Philosophy Adrienne M. Martin, 2019-01-15 The Routledge Handbook of Love in Philosophy collects 39 original chapters from prominent philosophers on the nature meaning value and predicaments of love presented in a unique framework that highlights the rich variety of methods and traditions used to engage with these subjects This volume is structured around important realms of human life and activity each of which receives its own section I Family and Friendship II Romance and Sex III Politics and Society IV Animals Nature and the Environment V Art Faith and Meaning VI Rationality and Morality VII Traditions Historical and Contemporary This last section includes chapters treating love as a subject in both Western and non Western philosophical traditions The contributions all appearing in print here for the first time are written to be accessible and compelling to non philosophers and philosophers alike and the volume as a whole encourages professional philosophers teachers students and lay readers to rethink standard constructions of philosophical canons Emotion, Place and Culture Mick Smith, Liz Bondi, 2016-05-06 Recent years have witnessed a rapid rise in engagement with emotion and affect across a broad range of disciplines in the humanities and social sciences with geographers among others making a significant contribution by examining the emotional intersections between people and places Building on the achievements of Emotional Geographies 2005 the editors have brought together leading scholars such as Nigel Thrift Alphonso Lingis and Frances Dyson as well as young up and coming academics from a diverse range of disciplines to investigate feelings and affect in various spatial and social contexts environments and landscapes The book is divided into five sections covering the themes of remembering understanding mourning belonging and enchanting Moving Subjects, Moving Objects Maruska Svasek, 2012 Most theories of material culture transnationalism and globalization have failed to incorporate a focus on emotions even though an increasing number of scholars in recent years have explored emotion dense processes This book fills the gap and examines how emotions can be theorized and serve as a useful analytical tool for understanding the interrelated mobility of humans objects and images Through diverse ethnographically rich and theoretically grounded case studies these chapters offer new perspectives that relate migration material culture and emotions by addressing the ways in which migrants and migrant artists express their emotions through objects and images in transnational contexts the ways in
