Remembering the Space Age Steven J. Dick, 2008 From the Publisher Proceedings of October 2007 conference sponsored by the NASA History Division and the National Air and Space Museum to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Sputnik 1 launch in October 1957 and the dawn of the space age The Hidden Lives of Dreams Melinda Powell, 2020-03-26 On average we spend around six years of our lives dreaming Yet astonishingly few of us understand the purpose of dreams and even fewer recognise what our dreaming mind can tell us about ourselves and our world Melinda Powell psychotherapist and co founder of the Dream Research Institute UK reveals how better understanding our dreams can improve our waking lives As well as examining the importance of sleep and dreams The Hidden Lives of Dreams explores the role of light colour landscapes space healing presence and lucidity in dreams dispels common misconceptions and addresses our fears of nightmares Powell shows how to tap into our dreams as a source of guidance and inspiration to enhance our wellbeing and to discover a healthier more balanced approach to life Exploring the depths of dreaming with an experienced guide like Melinda Powell will bring you closer to your heart your purpose and your truest self Highly recommended Robert Waggoner In Our Own Image Wesley J. Wildman, 2017-12-15 In Our Own Image is a work of comparative philosophical theology It is a study of the roles anthropomorphism and apophaticism play in the construction of conceptual models of ultimate reality Leading scholar Wesley J Wildman considers whether we create our ideas of God He offers a comparative analysis of three major classes of ultimacy models paying particular attention to the way those classes are impacted by anthropomorphism while tracing their relative strengths and weaknesses Wildman provides a constructive theological argument on behalf of an apophatic understanding of ultimate reality showing how this understanding subsumes challenges and relates ultimacy models from the three classes being compared He describes and compares competing ultimacy models fairly and sympathetically The conclusion is that all models cognitively break on the shoals of ultimate reality but that the ground of being class of models carries us further than the others in regard to the comparative criteria that matter most The Living Age , 1845 The Matriarchs of Genesis David J. Zucker, Moshe Reiss, 2015-08-27 Sarah Hagar Rebekah Leah Rachel Bilhah Zilpah These are the Matriarchs of Genesis A people's self understanding is fashioned on their heroes and heroines Sarah Rebekah Leah and Rachel the traditional four Matriarchs are important and powerful people in the book of Genesis Each woman plays her part in her generation She interacts with and advises her husband seeking to achieve both present and future successes for her family These women act decisively at crucial points through their actions and words their family dynamics change irrevocably Unlike their husbands we know little of their unspoken thoughts or actions What the text in Genesis does share shows that these women are perceptive and judicious often seeing the grand scheme with clarity While their stories are told in Genesis in the post biblical world of the Pseudepigrapha their stories are retold in new ways The rabbis also speak of these women and contemporary scholars and feminists continue to explore the Matriarchs in

Genesis and later literature Using extensive quotations we present these women through five lenses the Bible Early Extra Biblical Literature Rabbinic Literature Contemporary Scholarship and Feminist Thought In addition we consider Hagar Abraham s second wife and the mother of Ishmael as well as Bilhah and Zilpah Jacob s third and fourth wives

Dreaming Jennifer M. Windt,2023-12-05 A comprehensive proposal for a conceptual framework for describing conscious experience in dreams integrating philosophy of mind sleep and dream research and interdisciplinary consciousness studies Dreams conceived as conscious experience or phenomenal states during sleep offer an important contrast condition for theories of consciousness and the self Yet although there is a wealth of empirical research on sleep and dreaming its potential contribution to consciousness research and philosophy of mind is largely overlooked This might be due in part to a lack of conceptual clarity and an underlying disagreement about the nature of the phenomenon of dreaming itself In Dreaming Jennifer Windt lays the groundwork for solving this problem She develops a conceptual framework describing not only what it means to say that dreams are conscious experiences but also how to locate dreams relative to such concepts as perception hallucination and imagination as well as thinking knowledge belief deception and self consciousness Arguing that a conceptual framework must be not only conceptually sound but also phenomenologically plausible and carefully informed by neuroscientific research Windt integrates her review of philosophical work on dreaming both historical and contemporary with a survey of the most important empirical findings This allows her to work toward a systematic and comprehensive new theoretical understanding of dreaming informed by a critical reading of contemporary research findings Windt s account demonstrates that a philosophical analysis of the concept of dreaming can provide an important enrichment and extension to the conceptual repertoire of discussions of consciousness and the self and raises new questions for future research

The Adelphi ,1926 The Intelligence of Evil Jean Baudrillard,2013-06-27 Controversial postmodern thinker explores the rhetoric of the War on Terror and the Clash of Civilizations between East and West

The Fall Out of Redemption Joseph Acquisto,2015-04-23 Joseph Acquisto examines literary writers and critical theorists who employ theological frameworks but who divorce that framework from questions of belief and thereby remove the doctrine of salvation from their considerations Acquisto claims that Baudelaire inaugurates a new kind of amodern modernity by canceling the notion of salvation in his writing while also refusing to embrace any of its secular equivalents such as historical progress or redemption through art Through a series of interhistorical readings that put literary and critical writers from the last 150 years in dialogue Acquisto shows how these authors struggle to articulate both the metaphysical and esthetic consequences of attempting to move beyond a logic of salvation Putting these writers into dialogue with Baudelaire highlights the way both literary and critical approaches attempt to articulate a third option between theism and atheism that also steers clear of political utopianism and Nietzschean estheticism In the concluding section Acquisto expands metaphysical and esthetic concerns to account also for the ethics inherent in the refusal of the logic of salvation an ethics which emerges from rather than seeking to redeem or
