Lure Of Africa:

The Lure of Africa Cornelius Patton, 2006-06-01 The rapidity of the Mohammedan movement in its sweep westward is highly significant A succession of conquerors came to the front their names need not bother us and by 668 what is now Tripoli was a Moslem state Algeria went down with little resistance and the Arab hordes swept onward to the Pillars of Hercules The story is told that Akba who raided Morocco rode his horse far out into the surf and cried Great God if I were not stopped by this raging sea I would go to the nations of the west preaching the unity of they name and putting to the sword those who would not submit from Chapter II Strongholds of Mohammedanism When missionary Cornelius Patton returned to Boston from an extended trip to Africa just before World War I his friends and colleagues assumed he would write a book about his trip That Patton assures us in the Personal Word that opens The Lure of Africa is exactly what I shall not do Fortunately Patton s friends and colleagues prevailed and in 1917 he published this account of his journey a lyrical and introspective work that hints at the conflicts this white man abroad on the Dark Continent may have felt For 21st century readers it is a fascinating and unexpected look at a man who found Africa horribly heathenish but mighty interesting but nevertheless sought to mold this exotic land into something comfortable and familiar OF INTEREST TO students of the history of Christianity in Africa armchair travelers AUTHOR BIO American writer CORNELIUS HOWARD PATTON 1860 1939 is also the author of Business of Missions 1924 Eight O Clock Chapel 1927 and God s Word 1931

Fruit Fly Research and Development in Africa - Towards a Sustainable Management Strategy to Improve Horticulture Sunday Ekesi, Samira A. Mohamed, Marc De Meyer, 2016-12-01 Horticultural sector presents many opportunities for economic development and improving livelihood of growers but several factors constrain production and limit the potential for trade of fruits and vegetables Tephritid fruit flies constitute a major constraint They cause enormous losses through direct feeding damage and loss of market opportunities through imposition of quarantine restrictions by importing countries to prevent entry and their establishment In Africa several native Ceratitis and Dacus spp and exotic Bactrocera and Zeugodacus spp species inflict considerable losses to horticulture causing losses ranging from 30 90% Over the past 10 years of R coverage of African native species has been limited largely to Bactrocera oleae and Ceratitis capitata which are not economically important species in many Africa countries Indeed no book exist that have explicitly addressed economically important African fruit flies and none of the various reviews have specifically focused on the status of the bioecology economic impact and management of exotic and native fruit flies including several potentially invasive Dacus species attacking vegetables in Africa This book consolidates this status of knowledge and socio economic impact of various intervention techniques that are currently being applied across Africa The timing of the book is especially pertinent due to the changing fruit fly landscape in Africa caused by arrivals of the highly destructive alien invasives Bactrocera dorsalis B zonata and B latifrons and the priorities African countries have placed recently on export of fruits and vegetables to international markets This is an important reference material for researchers academics and students that are keen at improving horticulture and enhancing food and nutrition security in Africa and beyond

The Epworth Era, 1917 Africa: Slave Or Free? John Hobbs Harris, 1919 The lure of Africa Edward H. MacKinley, 1974 Mission Studies, 1917 The American Friend, 1921 USA, India, Africa During and After the Cold War Okoth, Pontian Godfrey, 2015-03-16 The Cold War period witnessed competition from political economic ideological diplomatic military and social dimensions between the United States of America USA and the then Union of Soviet Socialist Republics USSR In the superpower rivalries India and Africa were adversely affected in many ways The situation did not change for the better in the post Cold War period which has witnessed the domination of the world by the US and its allies the Group of Eight G 8 industrialised countries This domination has been characterised by the process of Americanization of the worlds otherwise termed globalisation in virtually all spheres of life USA India Africa

During and After the Cold War demonstrates that both the United States and The Soviet Union used African States India and other Third World countries for their own geopolitical considerations that the foreign policy and foreign relations of the US were meant to subject Africa and India to the dictates of US imperialism The book assesses the impact of the Cold War and the post Cold War order on Africa India and the entire world and argues that the Non Aligned Movement is still relevant to the Third World countries despite the demise of the Cold War The book analyses issues from the African point of view as opposed to hitherto Western view points but provides a balanced appreciation of the complex forces that shape foreign policies and foreign relations globally It is a valuable contribution to modern diplomatic history and targets university students researchers foreign affairs ministries and practicing diplomats
