Winans,2017-07-24 Excerpt from Shambala The Constitution of a Traditional State Let us dwell for a moment on the implications of the word must in the preceding paragraph for in that monosyllable lies a great deal of implicit theory as I have noted elsewhere 2 Man is committed to social existence by the nature of his physical needs but this commitment places each individual in the dilemma of self interest versus social demand Society must provide orderly processes for the regular resolution of this in herent con ict if the society is to continue The must therefore has no reference to moral requisites nor to inevitability but rather to survival If the society is to continue as a society then it must have certain organizational features The precise nature of these features will vary from one society to another that is these functions may be performed by variant structural elements But the functions must be performed or the society will cease to exist This is true for all societies however primitive or deve loped it is also true for societies of a particular character and the range of organizational choices are therewith narrowed We shall see that the special demands of statehood make certain organizational features necessary if the state is to exist as an entity About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds

The Making of a Mixed Language Maarten Mous,2003-12-19 The Mbugu or Ma language Tanzania is one of the few genuine mixed languages reputedly combining Bantu grammar with Cushitic vocabulary In fact the people speak two languages one mixed and one closely related to the Bantu language Pare This book is the first comprehensive description of these languages It shows that these two languages share one grammar while their lexicon is parallel In the distant past the people shifted from a Cushitic to a Bantu language and in the process rebuilt a language of their own that expresses their separate ethnic identity in a Bantu environment This linguistic history is explained in the context of the intricate history of the people The discussion of the processes that were involved in the formation of Ma a Mbugu is extremely relevant for both creole studies and for contact linguistics in general
