Shaping The Corporate Image An Analytical Guide For Executive Decision Makers:

Shaping the Corporate Image Marion G. Sobol, Gail E. Farrelly, Jessica S. Taper, 1992-05-21 Much of the literature on corporate reputation examines the topic from a narrow perspective for example from a marketing or public relations point of view However reputation is really a topic that spans multiple fields of endeavor economics finance management marketing and public relations among others Clearly an interdisciplinary approach is needed and is provided by this volume written by two university professors and a public relations specialist Shaping the Corporate Image discusses how a corporate reputation is acquired maintained and nurtured The authors conclude that corporate leaders possess the power to mold investor perceptions and evaluations of their firms and the authors provide the latest information on the issues Central to the analysis of corporate reputation are numerous examples of drastic changes in reputation ranking as reported in Fortune magazine Discussions of these articles combine with an academic look at past trends and commentary collected from interviews with current CEOs and public relations executives to yield a valuable review of strategies that were either spectacular successes or dismal failures Shaping the Corporate Image provides the reader with valuable input for the future for developing reputation building in the 1990s and beyond This volume should be of particular interest to CEOs and public relations specialists concerned with defining enhancing and nurturing the corporate image It is also suitable for supplemental reading in courses in advertising public relations business strategy and marketing as well as a valuable resource for academics interested in the latest theoretical and practical developments in this field

Contemporary Thoughts on Corporate Branding and Corporate Identity Management T. Melewar, E. Karaosmanoglu, 2008-10-23 A new look at the latest thinking and issues in the areas of branding identity and communication drawing on recent academic and practical thought on corporate branding Bringing together an international array of authors the volume includes case study examples to provide a contemporary insight into corporate marketing communications

Marketing Communication Richard Varey, 2002-09-11 Providing a fresh and innovative framework for the management of marketing communication processes this textbook uses references to communication studies cultural studies and critical management studies to shift the focus from message making to relationship building Providing a contemporary examination of marketing as a social process author Varey focuses on a planned integrated marketing communication programme He combines a managerial perspective with current communication and marketing theory to develop a contemporary set of principles incorporating such recent developments as e communication and new media It investigates the issues of organizing and locating marketing in a business corporation management responsibility for planning and decision making the role of the marketing communication manager in contemporary society With a good balance of theory and practice and UK and European case studies this noteworthy book covers a range of issues of significance to both the public and private sectors and large medium and small businesses

The American Corporation Today Carl Kaysen, 1996-10-31 Not since Edward Mason's classic book The Corporation in Modern Society appeared in 1959 has anyone compiled an authoritative overview of the American business firm Such a survey is now clearly overdue for in the last thirty years both the corporation and the business environment has changed radically In The American Corporation Today Carl Kaysen and other leading students of business and markets from around the country provide a much needed analysis of American corporate life at the end of the century Here is the American corporation from every angle its postwar history its relation to the law its financing its impact on technological innovation its role as employer and as political force and much more The contributors all of whom are recognized experts in their fields not only tackle many of the same key areas that the contributors to Mason s classic study looked at but they also illuminate issues that have only arisen in recent years For instance Raymond Vernon describes the increasing globalization of American business where the net income from operations outside the U S is now nearly half of that from domestic operations as opposed to one tenth in the 1950s James Q Wilson traces how the corporation has become a full time political actor showing how it reinvented its political strategy and tactics in the 1960s in the face of a wave of new consumer environmental and worker health legislation Gregory Acs and Eugene Steuerle show how the corporation promotes the commonweal acting as agent for the employee in purchasing pension health and other welfare benefit plans while Lester Thurow casts a critical eye at the decline of median real wages of American males over the last twenty years never before have a majority of American workers suffered real wage reductions while the real per capita gross domestic product was increasing In other pieces corporate finance experts Charles Calomiris and Carlos Ramirez advocate removing legal constraints on financial institutions that prevent them from providing the full range of business financing from short term debt to equity Michael Useem looks at the rise of education and training as a vexing corporate issue and Barbara Bergmann discusses the increasingly diverse work force arguing that ending bias is in the corporation s best interest And finally Neil Harris provides a fascinating discussion of architecture exploring how companies have become the principle patrons of important architecture since the 1950s Vital to everyone concerned with American big business today this collection is sure to become the new standard upon which future studies of the corporation will be built From Individualism to the Individual George M. Frankfurter, Elton G. McGoun, 2018-01-18 This title was first published in 2002 From Individualism to the Individual treats finance as a social and cultural process exploring the unseen side of academic discourse and the many obstacles the deeply entrenched elite puts in the way of alternative thinking Opening with a detailed discussion of the role of ideology in the perpetuation of the limited methodological bias of the profession toward markets the book then examines the more specific effects of such ideological limitations on theoretical and empirical research in finance The authors develop alternative ways to examine finance both as a profession and as a field of inquiry This book will be of particular value to researchers and practitioners working in finance as well as those in other social science disciplines whose research relates to finance culture and society Lesly's Handbook of Public Relations and Communications Philip Lesly, 1998 Until his death in 1997 Philip Lesly was a leading authority on public relations and a leading practitioner The new title reflects an added section on the techniques of communication Other sections cover the definition and function of public relations analysis research and planning how an organization utilizes public relations and the practice of public relations Appendices include sources of information public relations organizations the code of professional standards for the practice of public relations and a glossary Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Reputation Transfer to Enter New B-to-B Markets Christine Falkenreck, 2009-10-17 An increasing number of products and services are not differentiated by inherent features but by the vendors particularly their reputation and marketing communication Consequently a positive reputation provides competing vendors with a virtually inimitable competitive advantage Contemporary research concerning antecedents and consequences of reputation in the domain of marketing is dominated by branding and line extension issues Organizations communication efforts and the relation of reputation and the communication media are not fully understood nor have they been challenged up to now Moreover customers perception of reputation is clearly embedded in their cultural context However contemporary marketing research restricts both conceptual and empirical considerations to Western type cultures Frequently even the differences in Western type cultures are neglected Considering these shortcomings in contemporary marketing research Dr Christine Falkenreck investigates the opportunities and limits and also the potential benefits and dangers of transferring a vendor's positive reputation to product categories never produced or offered by the considered vendor Embedding the empirical investigation of both reputation management and reputation transfer in a coherent theoretical framework which is grounded in the Commitment Trust theory is her merit She derives and validates an integrated model that appears to be valid in all cultures considered in her study The results of this analysis contribute substantially to our understanding of reputation measuring and managing These results are not restricted to academic interests and they provided practitioners with a variety of new insights Thus this thesis will be widely discussed in both academia and management practice

Unternehmensreputation Sandra Kirstein, 2009-06-15 Sandra Kirstein entwickelt auf Basis hochaktueller wissenschaftlicher Erkenntnisse ein komplexes lineares Strukturgleichungsmodell das es erm glicht die strategische Wirkung der Unternehmensreputation im Kaufentscheidungsprozess von Konsumenten zu analysieren Am Beispiel deutscher Automobilhersteller erbringt die Autorin erstmalig den Nachweis eines positiven Zusammenhangs zwischen Corporate Social Responsibility und dem Kauf eines Automobils

Public Relations Inquiry as Rhetorical Criticism William N. Elwood, 1995-06-30 Whether politically socially economically or psychologically postmodern institutions attempt to influence their environments through the use of rhetoric in their public relations campaigns As corporations increasingly dominate the public discourse we experience daily it becomes increasingly important to understand how that discourse operates and to become more informed creators and consumers of institutional rhetoric This volume examines the theoretical bases and practical effects of a variety of public relations campaigns The contributors demonstrate that rhetorical inquiry is a viable and underrated approach to explaining the influence of public relations campaigns Cases analyzed in the book range from those of national scope e g Mobil Oil s Observations campaign of the 1970s and 1980s to studies of targeted influence e g corporate recruitment videos to cases of internal relations e g issues management during corporate mergers to studies of local situations e g the anatomy of a local ballot issue campaign While the various contributors employ a broad range of rhetorical methods and analysis the discussions remain approachable and understandable for students and professionals alike

Marketing Communications Management Paul Copley, 2007-03-30 Marketing Communications Management concepts and theories cases and practice makes critical reflections on the prime issues in integrated marketing communications and is designed to encourage the reader to stop and think about key issues The author takes a managerial approach to the subject and provides a set of frameworks that facilitate both learning and teaching A wide range of pedagogical features is included such as sample exam questions stop points vignettes and case studies and a summary of key points concludes each chapter Most organizations need some form of marketing or corporate communications and this text is designed to service both practitioners and students undertaking formal study The author addresses strategic and critical issues that dovetail with the current interest in marketing communications as reflected in the media with particular emphasis given to advertising and sponsorship
