Indigenous Methodologies, Research and Practices for Sustainable Development Marcellus F. Mbah, Walter Leal

Filho, Sandra Ajaps, 2022-10-21 This book states that whilst academic research has long been grounded on the idea of western or scientific epistemologies this often does not capture the uniqueness of Indigenous contexts and particularly as it relates to the achievement of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals SDGs The SDGs were announced in 2015 accompanied by 17 goals and 169 targets These goals are the means through which Agenda 2030 for sustainable development is to be pursued and realised over the next 15 years and the contributions of Indigenous peoples are essential to achieving these goals Indigenous peoples can be found in practically every region of the world living on ancestral homelands in major cities rainforests mountain regions desert plains the arctic and small Pacific Islands Their languages knowledges and values are rooted in the landscapes and natural resources within their territories However many Indigenous peoples are now minorities within their homelands and globally and there is a dearth of research based on Indigenous epistemologies and methodologies Furthermore academic research on Indigenous peoples is typically based on western lenses Thus the paucity of Indigenous methodologies within mainstream research discourses present challenges for implementing practical research designs and interpretations that can address epistemological distinctiveness within Indigenous communities There is therefore the need to articulate as well as bring to the nexus of research aimed at fostering sustainable development a decolonising perspective in research design and practice This is what this book wants to achieve The contributions critically reflect on Indigenous approaches to research design and implementation towards achieving the sustainable development goals as well as the associated challenges and opportunities The contributions also advanced knowledge theory and practice of Indigenous methodologies for sustainable development

Handbook of Research Methods in Early Childhood Education - Volume 2 Olivia Saracho, 2014-10-01 The Handbook of Research Methods in Early Childhood Education brings together in one source research techniques that researchers can use to collect data for studies that contribute to the knowledge in early childhood education To conduct valid and reliable studies researchers need to be knowledgeable about numerous research methodologies The Handbook primarily addresses the researchers scholars and graduate or advanced undergraduate students who are preparing to conduct research in early childhood education It provides them with the intellectual resources that will help them join the cadre of early childhood education researchers and scholars The purpose of the Handbook is to prepare and guide researchers to achieve a high level of competence and sophistication to avoid past mistakes and to benefit from the best researchers in the field This Handbook is also useful to university professors who conduct research and prepare student researchers in early childhood education It aims to improve the researchers conceptual and methodological abilities in early childhood education Thus the Handbook can be used as a guide that focuses on important contemporary research methodologies in early childhood education and describes them to offer researchers the necessary information to use these methodologies appropriately This Handbook is designed to be used by students of early childhood education at all levels of professional development as well as mature scholars who want to conduct research in areas needing more in depth study It is hoped that this Handbook of Research Methods in Early Childhood Education will serve the needs of many in the research community Scholars seeking the current state of research knowledge in various areas should find this volume useful Similarly practitioners who are trying to seek knowledge of research and its practical implications should find this volume helpful as well This Handbook with its individual chapters presents several research methodologies to address a variety of hypotheses or research questions that will contribute to the knowledge of the field in early childhood education      Indigenous Feminist Gikendaasowin (Knowledge) Tricia McGuire-Adams,2020-11-20 This book presents knowledge from Indigenous women who enact decolonization and wellbeing through physical activity In sport physical activity and health disciplines there is a significant need for Indigenous women s theoretical and methodological perspectives While much research is published from a Western perspective on Indigenous peoples health sport and physical activity less is known from Indigenous feminist and community perspectives The chapters therefore inform the broader sociology of sport and Indigenous feminist fields on Indigenous cultural perspectives of physical activity      The Colonial Problem Lisa Monchalin,2016-01-01 In The Colonial Problem Lisa Monchalin challenges the myth of the Indian problem and encourages readers to view the crimes and injustices affecting Indigenous peoples from a more culturally aware position

Practising Community-Based Participatory Research Shauna MacKinnon,2018-04-01 There is increasing pressure on university scholars to reach beyond the ivory tower and engage in collaborative research with communities But what does this actually mean What is community based participatory research CBPR and what does engagement look like This book presents stories about CBPR from past and current Manitoba Research Alliance projects in socially and economically marginalized communities Bringing together experienced researchers with new scholars and community practitioners the stories describe the impetus for the research projects how they came to be implemented and how CBPR is still being used to effect change within the community The projects ranging from engagement in public policy advocacy to learning from Elders in First Nations communities were selected to demonstrate the breadth of experiences of those involved and the many different methods used By providing space for researchers and their collaborators to share the stories behind their research this book offers valuable lessons and rich insights into the power and practice of CBPR      Applying Indigenous Research Methods Sweeney Windchief,Timothy San Pedro,2019-01-10 Applying Indigenous Research Methods focuses on the question of How Indigenous Research Methodologies IRMs can be used and taught across Indigenous studies and education In this collection Indigenous scholars address the importance of IRMs in their own scholarship while focusing conversations on the application with others Each chapter is co authored to model methods rooted in the sharing of stories to strengthen relationships such as yarning storywork and others The chapters offer a wealth of specific examples as told by researchers about their research methods in conversation with other scholars teachers and community members Applying Indigenous Research Methods is an interdisciplinary showcase of the ways IRMs can enhance scholarship in fields including education

Indigenous studies settler colonial studies social work qualitative methodologies and beyond     Indigenous Methodologies
Margaret Kovach, 2010-10-23 What are Indigenous research methodologies and how do they unfold Indigenous methodologies flow from tribal knowledge and while they are allied with several western qualitative approaches they remain distinct These are the focal considerations of Margaret Kovach's study which offers guidance to those conducting research in the academy using Indigenous methodologies Kovach includes topics such as Indigenous epistemologies decolonizing theory story as method situating self and culture Indigenous methods protocol meaning making and ethics In exploring these elements the book interweaves perspectives from six Indigenous researchers who share their stories and also includes excerpts from the author's own journey into Indigenous methodologies Indigenous Methodologies is an innovative and important contribution to the emergent discourse on Indigenous research approaches and will be of use to graduate students professors and community based researchers of all backgrounds both within the academy and beyond
