

The fate of this young girl, recorded during a hunting trip from Trieste, present day Italy, in 1908, is not recorded. The Adriatic Sea holds the record for being the site of the world's most northerly recorded unprovoked attacks on humans.

enough to be touched and dived desperately at John Wishart. Next instant there was a terrific crash as he took Wishart on the way down. The whole thing happened in a second. I imagined the brute hatched me with its tail, but it was the force of water as it descended that hit me in the stomach. He thought the shark was a whale or tiger three to four metres (10-12 ft) long. Hopper swam rapidly for the shore.

This is Warland's account:

'Suddenly there was a splash and I could see the shark's jaws come out of the water. Then it seemed to splash down on top of Wishart. It was about four yards (12 ft) away. There was swell in the water, then nothing. Hopper and myself first thought we could help, and tried to see Wishart. Then we realised it was useless and swam rapidly for the shore.'

Here are two basically consistent accounts by eyewitnesses very close to the tragedy. Mrs. G. Bell, however, was watching from a small bluff behind the beach where Wishart's mother and sister were sitting. Mrs Bell saw 'one of the men catch a big wave and ride it to the shore. But the poor sixth man missed it by about two feet (0.6 m). He appeared to be waiting for the next breaker when he suddenly threw up his arms and disappeared. Then he began to thrash his arms in and out of the water. We then realised that he was being attacked by a shark. We saw a large dorsal fin break the water and a pool of blood spread over the surface. ... The man in the water must have been one of the bravest men that ever lived, the way he fought off the shark for four minutes.'

None of the accounts sound like verbatim tape transcripts, and it is possible some of the inconsistency arose from reporters condensing the eyewitnesses' interviews. Even so, how did Mrs Bell see a four-minute struggle by a lone surfer, when two surfers saw one man plucked from a line of surfers by a single attack?

Three days after the attack, a 227-kg (500-lb) shark swallowed a halibut's liver bait on a line from a floating oil drum. Fishermen in a 5.5-m (18-ft) skiff killed it with a twelve-bore shotgun and five bullets from a .22 rifle. Taken ashore at nearby Sorrento Beach, it was raised and disembowelled as a crowd of 1,200 watched. The

In Harm's Way Doug Stanton, 2003-05-01 A harrowing adrenaline charged account of America's worst naval disaster and of the heroism of the men who against all odds survived On July 30 1945 the USS Indianapolis was torpedoed in the South Pacific by a Japanese submarine An estimated 300 men were killed upon impact close to 900 sailors were cast into the Pacific Ocean where they remained undetected by the navy for nearly four days and nights Battered by a savage sea they struggled to stay alive fighting off sharks hypothermia and dementia By the time rescue arrived all but 317 men had died The captain's subsequent court martial left many questions unanswered How did the navy fail to realize the Indianapolis was missing Why was the cruiser traveling unescorted in enemy waters And perhaps most amazing of all how did these 317 men manage to survive Interweaving the stories of three survivors the captain the ship's doctor and a young marine journalist Doug Stanton has brought this astonishing human drama to life in a narrative that is at once immediate and timeless The definitive account of a little known chapter in World War II history In Harm's Way is destined to become a classic tale of war survival and extraordinary courage
