The Midas Touch Tom Logsdon, 2000-11 Simple creative solutions can be worth more than gold And all of us can learn how to become more creative All we have to do is master and use the six specific thought processes or winning strategies creative individuals instinctively employ when they make major breakthroughs In this book those winning strategies are arranged on the arc of creativity which forms the organizing structure for the six middle chapters The first chapter tells you how to get yourself into the proper frame of mind to become more creative how to surround yourself with supportive people and how to persuade them to help you polish and perfect your midas touch solutions Each of the six middle chapters opens with a description of a billion dollar breakthrough made by a single individual armed with one simple creative solution The next part describes the specific thought process winning strategy that individual used and the last part explains how you can use that same thought process in developing solutions to your own personal and professional problems The final chapter shows you how to polish and refine your most promising solutions and how to entice your colleagues to help you convert them into 24 carat gold Creative solutions are a jewel like commodity in today's exciting marketplace of ideas By mastering and using the six winning strategies on the arc of creativity you can lead a more stimulating life help America's competitive posture and enhance the value of your own career

Evolution's Empress Maryanne L. Fisher, Justin R. Garcia, Rosemarie Sokol Chang, 2013-01-30 Over the last decade there has been increasing debate as to whether feminism and evolutionary psychology can co exist Such debates often conclude with a resounding no often on the grounds that the former is a political movement while the latter is a field of scientific inquiry In the midst of these debates there has been growing dissatisfaction within the field of evolutionary psychology about the way the discipline and others have repeatedly shown women to be in passive roles when it comes to survival and reproduction. Evolutionary behavioral research has made significant strides in the past few decades but continues to take for granted many theoretical assumptions that are perhaps in light of the most recent evidence misguided. As a result, the research community has missed important areas of research and in some cases will likely come to inaccurate conclusions based on existing dogma rather than rigorous theoretically driven research. Bias in the field of evolutionary psychology echoes the complaints against the political movement attached to academic feminisms. This is an intellectual squabble where much is at stake, including a fundamental understanding of the evolutionary significance of women's roles in culture, mothering, reproductive health and physiology, mating, female alliances, female aggression, and female intrasexual competition. Evolution's Empress identifies women as active agents within the evolutionary process. The chapters in this volume focus on topics as diverse as female social interactions, mate competition, and mating strategies, motherhood, women's health, sex differences in communication and motivation, sex discrimination, and women in literature. The volume editors bring together a diverse range of perspectives to demonstrate ways in which evolutionary approaches to human behavior have thus far been too limited. By reconsidering the role of women in evolution, this volume furthers the goal of generating dialogue between the realms of women's studies and evolutionary psychology.

Sermons on the Second Readings John Neal Brittain, David O. Bales, Steven E. Albertin, 2007. The New Testament epistles are much more than just a historical record of the early church; they are also the heart and center of Christian proclamation, helping us to clearly understand how the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ is part of God's cosmic plan of salvation. In this outstanding anthology of sermons based on the Second Readings from Cycle A of the Revised Common Lectionary, five distinguished preachers bring their insight to the pastoral letters and draw valuable lessons for the complex challenges posed by life in the 21st century. Each thought-provoking message is filled with compelling stories and illustrations and offers a clear and authentic vision of Christian faith in the context of daily life. With material for every Sunday and major celebration throughout the entire church year, this resource provides abundant seeds for preaching, teaching, and meditation and will become a treasured addition to anyone's reference library. This essential resource is useful for fresh homiletical approaches to the lectionary texts, inspiring preaching, illustrations, and sermon starters, understanding scripture passages, adult study and discussion groups, personal devotions, and Bible study. John N. Brittain is Dean of the Chapel at Houghton College in Houghton, New York. A magna cum laude graduate of Brown University, Brittain has also earned degrees from Methodist Theological School in Delaware, Ohio, M.Div. and St. Mary's Seminary and University in Baltimore, Maryland. David O. Bales was a Presbyterian minister for 33 years. Recently retired as the pastor of Bethany Presbyterian Church in Ontario, Oregon, he is also a freelance writer and editor for Stephen Ministries and Tebunah Ministries. Bales is a graduate of the University of Portland and San Francisco Theological Seminary. Steven E. Albertin is the pastor of Christ Lutheran Church of Zionsville.

The Politics of Mass Digitization Nanna Bonde Thylstrup, 2024-05-28 A new examination of mass digitization as an emerging sociopolitical and sociotechnical phenomenon that alters the politics of cultural memory Today all of us with internet connections can access millions of digitized cultural artifacts from the comfort of our desks Institutions and individuals add thousands of new cultural works to the digital sphere every day creating new central nexuses of knowledge How does this affect us politically and culturally In this book Nanna Bonde Thylstrup approaches mass digitization as an emerging sociopolitical and sociotechnical phenomenon offering a new understanding of a defining concept of our time Arguing that digitization has become a global cultural political project Thylstrup draws on case studies of different forms of mass digitization including Google Books Europeana and the shadow libraries Monoskop lib ru and Ubuweb to suggest a different approach to the study of digital cultural memory archives She constructs a new theoretical framework for understanding mass digitization that focuses on notions of assemblage infrastructure and infrapolitics Mass digitization does not consist merely of neutral technical processes Thylstrup argues but of distinct subpolitical processes that give rise to new kinds of archives and new ways of interacting with the artifacts they contain With this book she offers important and timely guidance on how mass digitization alters the politics of cultural memory to impact our relationship with the past and with one another

Stuff Happens Jack Henry Markowitz, 2008-03-11 Who is Dobbin Feldman and why is he saying those awful things about me In this fictional yet semi autobiographical novella the author tries to explore the existential experience of being born Jewish into a particularly strange set of familial circumstances that encapsulates the Boomer generations struggle to make sense of the Helter Skelter world bequeathed to them by their fathers and mothers

Queering the Field Gregory Barz, William Cheng, 2019-09-23 Drawing on ethnographic research and often deeply personal experiences with musical cultures Queering the Field Sounding out Ethnomusicology unpacks a history of sentiment that veils the treatment of queer music and identity within the field of ethnomusicology The thematic structure of the volume reflects a deliberate cartography of queer spaces in the discipline spaces that are strongly present due to their absence are marked by direct sonic parameters or are called into question by virtue of their otherness As the first large scale study of ethnomusicology s queer silences and queer identity politics Queering the Field directly addresses the normativities currently at play in musical ethnography fieldwork analysis performance transcription as well as in the practice of musical ethnographers identification participation disclosure observation authority While rooted in strong narrative convictions the authors frequently adopt radicalized voices with the goal of queering a hierarchical sexual binary The essays in the volume present rhetorical and syntactical scenarios that challenge us to read in prescient singular ways for future queer writing and queer thought in ethnomusicology Atalanta
