Secrets of the Lost City Sandra Markle, 2022-09-06 Join a real life adventure a scientific expedition to a remote area of the Honduran rainforest suspected to be the ruins of the Lost City of the Monkey God In the dense rain forest of Honduras a legend lay hidden For centuries explorers had searched fruitlessly for a rumored lost city With the help of a new technology called lidar which uses a low flying plane and laser technology filmmaker Steve Elkins and his team found promising evidence of where the city might be But to know if they had really found an ancient archaeological site a team of explorers and scientists still had to go into the rain forest to look for it The team only had ten days to hike into the dense jungle likely unvisited by humans in the past 500 years and locate the archaeological site And what they found was not what they had expected In fact the discoveries were so astounding that more expeditions followed the first From close up encounters with fearsome predators to swarming insects to dangerous flash floods the explorers faced numerous challenges as they worked to find artifacts and document the diversity of life in this remote area Award winning science author Sandra

M. Newbery,T. H. Clutton-Brock,Ghilleen T. Prance,Royal Society (Great Britain),2000 Views on the dynamics of tropical forests are changing rapidly with the recognition that their environment is variable on the decadal to century scale Fluctuating climatic conditions partly determine tropical forest structure species composition and dynamics Tropical communities are also highly contingent in space and time with respect to site and historical factors Tropical forests have experienced to some degree this disturbance regime in the past but climatologists are now predicting increasingly frequent extreme events in the new century The combination of increasing deforestation and land use conversion by man plus an increasingly variable environment means a situation that could be very difficult to manage Tropical Rainforest Research — Current Issues D.S. Unknown Frank Uekötter,Uwe Lübken,2014-03-01 Information is crucial when it comes to the management of resources But what if knowledge is incomplete or biased or otherwise deficient How did people define patterns of proper use in the absence of cognitive certainty Discussing this challenge for a diverse set of resources from fish to rubber these essays show that deficient knowledge is a far more pervasive challenge in resource history than conventional readings suggest Furthermore environmental ignorance does not inevitably shrink with the march of scientific progress these essays suggest more of a dialectical relationship between knowledge and ignorance that has different shapes and trajectories With its combination of empirical case studies and theoretical reflection the essays make a significant contribution to the interdisciplinary debate on the production and resilience of ignorance At the same time this volume combines insights from different continents as well as the seas in between and thus sketches outlines of an emerging global resource history The Lost Inca Gold Chain of
