Louisiana Black Samuel Charters, 1986 Frank Lewis a complacent middle class Black is roused to action when he recognizes a photograph of a lynched Black man in his son's history book as that of his father The Postwar African American Novel Stephanie Brown, 2011-03-14 Americans in the World War II era bought the novels of African American writers in unprecedented numbers But the names on the books lining shelves and filling barracks trunks were not the now familiar Richard Wright and Ralph Ellison but Frank Yerby Chester Himes William Gardner Smith and J Saunders Redding In this book Stephanie Brown recovers the work of these innovative novelists overturning conventional wisdom about the writers of the period and the trajectory of African American literary history She also questions the assumptions about the relations between race and genre that have obscured the importance of these once influential creators Wright's Native Son 1940 is typically considered to have inaugurated an era of social realism in African American literature And Ellison's Invisible Man 1952 has been cast as both a high mark of American modernism and the only worthy stopover on the way to the Black Arts Movement of the 1960s But readers in the late 1940s purchased enough copies of Yerby's historical romances to make him the best selling African American author of all time Critics meanwhile were taking note of the generic experiments of Redding Himes and Smith while the authors themselves questioned the obligation of black authors to write protest instead penning campus novels war novels and in Yerby's case costume dramas Their status as lesser lights is the product of retrospective bias Brown demonstrates and their novels established the period immediately following World War II as a pivotal moment in the history of the African American novel The Columbia Guide to Contemporary African American Fiction Darryl Dickson-Carr, 2005-12-06 In both the literal and metaphorical senses it seemed as if 1970s America was running out of gas The decade not only witnessed long lines at gas stations but a citizenry that had grown weary and disillusioned High unemployment runaway inflation and the energy crisis caused in part by U S dependence on Arab oil characterized an increasingly bleak economic situation As Edward D Berkowitz demonstrates the end of the postwar economic boom Watergate and defeat in Vietnam led to an unraveling of the national consensus During the decade ideas about the United States how it should be governed and how its economy should be managed changed dramatically Berkowitz argues that the postwar faith in sweeping social programs and a global U S mission was replaced by a more skeptical attitude about government's ability to positively affect society From Woody Allen to Watergate from the decline of the steel industry to the rise of Bill Gates and from Saturday Night Fever to the Sunday morning fervor of evangelical preachers Berkowitz captures the history tone and spirit of the seventies He explores the decade's major political events and movements including the rise and fall of détente congressional reform changes in healthcare policies and the hostage crisis in Iran The seventies also gave birth to several social movements and the rights revolution in which women gays and lesbians and people with disabilities all successfully fought for greater legal and social recognition At the same time reaction to these social movements as well as the issue of abortion introduced a new facet into American political life the rise of powerful politically conservative religious organizations and activists Berkowitz also considers important shifts in American popular culture recounting the creative renaissance in American film as well as the birth of the Hollywood blockbuster He discusses how television programs such as All in the Family and Charlie's Angels offered Americans both a reflection of and an escape from the problems gripping the country

The Social Problem Novels of Frances Trollope Vol 1 Brenda Ayres,Christine Sutphin,Douglas Murray,Priti Joshi,Ann-Barbara Graff,2024-09-20 Frances Milton Trollope 1779 1863 was a prolific provocative and hugely successful novelist She greatly influenced the generation of Victorian novelists who came after her such as Charles Dickens George Eliot and Elizabeth Gaskell This book features Trollope s social problem novels The Lever of Riches Joel Mokyr,1992-04-09 In a world of supercomputers genetic engineering and fiber optics technological creativity is ever more the key to economic success But why are some nations more creative than others and why do some highly innovative societies such as ancient China or Britain in the industrial revolution pass into stagnation Beginning with a fascinating concise history of technological progress Mokyr sets the background for his analysis by tracing the major inventions and innovations that have transformed society since ancient Greece and Rome What emerges from this survey is often surprising the classical world for instance was largely barren of new technology the relatively backward society of medieval Europe bristled with inventions and the period between the Reformation and the Industrial Revolution was one of slow and unspectacular progress in technology despite the tumultuous developments associated with the Voyages of Discovery and the Scientific Revolution What were the causes of technological creativity Mokyr distinguishes between the relationship of inventors and their physical environment which determined their willingness to challenge nature and the social environment which determined the openness to new ideas He discusses a long list of such factors showing how they interact to help or hinder a nation's creativity and then illustrates them by a number of detailed comparative studies examining the differences between Europe and China between classical antiquity and medieval Europe and between Britain and the rest of Europe during the industrial revolution He examines such aspects as the role of the state the Chinese gave up a millennium wide lead in shipping to the Europeans for example when an Emperor banned large ocean going vessels the impact of science as well as religion politics and even nutrition He questions the importance of such commonly cited factors as the spill over benefits of war the abundance of natural resources life expectancy and labor costs Today an ever greater number of industrial economies are competing in the global market locked in a struggle that revolves around technological ingenuity

The Lever of Riches with its keen analysis derived from a sweeping survey of creativity throughout history offers telling insights into the question of how Western economies can maintain and developing nations can unlock their creative potential

Oil News, 1921

Deans and Truants Gene Andrew Jarrett, 2013-03-01 For a work to be considered African American literature does it need to focus on black characters or political themes Must it represent these within a specific stylistic range Or is it enough for the author to be identified as African American In Deans and Truants Gene Andrew Jarrett traces the shifting definitions of African American literature and the authors who wrote beyond those boundaries at the cost of critical dismissal and at times obscurity From the late nineteenth century to the end of the twentieth de facto deans critics and authors as different as William Howells Alain Locke Richard Wright and Amiri Baraka prescribed the shifting parameters of realism and racial subject matter appropriate to authentic African American literature while truant authors such as Paul Laurence Dunbar George S Schuyler Frank Yerby and Toni Morrison perhaps the most celebrated African American author of the twentieth century wrote literature anomalous to those standards Jarrett explores the issues at stake when Howells the Dean of American Letters argues in 1896 that only Dunbar's entirely black verse written in dialect would succeed Three decades later Locke the cultural arbiter of the Harlem Renaissance stands in contrast to Schuyler a journalist and novelist who questions the existence of a peculiarly black or New Negro art Next Wright's 1937 blueprint for African American writing sets the terms of the Chicago Renaissance but Yerby's version of historical romance approaches race and realism in alternative literary ways Finally Deans and Truants measures the gravitational pull of the late 1960s Black Aesthetic in Baraka's editorial silence on Toni Morrison's first and only short story Recitatif Drawing from a wealth of biographical historical and literary sources Deans and Truants describes the changing notions of race politics and gender that framed and were framed by the authors and critics of African American culture for more than a century

African-American Writers Philip Bader, 2014-05-14 African American authors have consistently explored the political dimensions of literature and its ability to affect social change African American literature has also provided an essential framework for shaping cultural identity and solidarity From the early slave narratives to the folklore and dialect verse of the Harlem Renaissance to the modern novels of today
