Loukoum The Little Prince Of Belleville:

Calixthe Beyala Nicki Hitchcott, Associate Professor and Reader in African Francophone Studies Nicki Hitchcott, 2006-01-01 The most successful female writer from Francophone Africa Calixthe Beyala occupies an unusual place in French literary and popular culture Her novels are bestsellers and she appears regularly on French television yet a conviction for plagiarism has tarnished her reputation Thus she is both an authentic African author and a proven literary fake In Calixthe Beyala Nicki Hitchcott considers representations of Beyala in the media critical responses to her writing and Beyala s efforts to position herself as a champion of women s rights Hitchcott pays equal attention to Beyala s novels tracing their explorations of the role of migration in the creation of personal identity FRE 290Y C. Evans, 2005 Post-Colonial Cultures in France Alec Hargreaves, Mark McKinney, 2013-10-18 Ethnic minorities principally from Africa Asia the Caribbean and the surviving remnants of France s overseas empire are increasingly visible in contemporary France Post Colonial Cultures in France edited by Alec Hargreaves and Mark McKinney is the first wide ranging survey in English of the vibrant cultural practices now being forged by France s post colonial minorities The contributions in Post Colonial Cultures in France cover both the ethnic diversity of minority groups and a variety of cultural forms ranging from literature and music to film and television Using a diversity of critical and theoretical approaches from the disciplines of cultural studies literary studies migration studies anthropology and history Post Colonial Cultures in France explores the globalization of cultures and international migration Contemporary World Fiction Juris Dilevko, Keren Dali, Glenda Garbutt, 2011-03-17 This much needed guide to translated literature offers readers the opportunity to hear from learn about and perhaps better understand our shrinking world from the perspective of insiders from many cultures and traditions In a globalized world knowledge about non North American societies and cultures is a must Contemporary World Fiction A Guide to Literature in Translation provides an overview of the tremendous range and scope of translated world fiction available in English In so doing it will help readers get a sense of the vast world beyond North America that is conveyed by fiction titles from dozens of countries and language traditions Within the guide approximately 1 000 contemporary non English language fiction titles are fully annotated and thousands of others are listed Organization is primarily by language as language often reflects cultural cohesion better than national borders or geographies but also by country and culture In addition to contemporary titles each chapter features a brief overview of earlier translated fiction from the group The guide also provides in depth bibliographic essays for each chapter that will enable librarians and library users to further explore the literature of numerous languages and cultural traditions Contemporary Francophone African Writers and the Burden of Commitment Odile Cazenave, Patricia Célérier, 2011-02-02 By looking at engag e literature from the recent past when the francophone African writer was implicitly seen as imparted with a mission to the present when such authors usually aspire to be acknowledged primarily for their work as writers Contemporary Francophone African Writers and the Burden of Commitment addresses the current processes of canonization in contemporary francophone African literature Odile Cazenave and Patricia Clrier argue that aesthetic as well as political issues are now at the forefront of debates about the African literary canon as writers and critics increasingly acknowledge the ideology of form Working across genres but focusing on the novel the authors take up the question of renewed forms of commitment in this literature Their selected writers range from Mongo Beti Ousmane Sembene and Aminata Sow Fall to Boubacar Boris Diop Vronique Tadjo Alain Mabanckou and L onora Miano among others

Ambiguous Pleasures Rachel Spronk, 2012 Among both male and female young urban professionals in Nairobi sexuality is a key to achieving a modern identity These young men and women see themselves as the avant garde of a new Africa while they also express the recurring worry of how to combine an African identity with the new lifestyles with which they are experimenting By focusing on public debates and their preoccupations with issues of African heritage gerontocratic power relations and conventional morality on the one hand and personal sexual relationships intimacy and self perceptions on the other this study works out the complexities of sexuality and culture in the context of modernity in an African society It moves beyond an investigation of a health or development perspective of sexuality and instead examines desire pleasure and eroticism revealing new insights into the methodology and theory of the study of sexuality within the social sciences Sexuality serves as a prism for analysing how social developments generate new notions of self in postcolonial Kenya and is a crucial component towards understanding the way people recognize and deal with modern changes in their personal lives

Literature and Culture in Global Africa Tanure Ojaide, 2017-07-06 Exploring the idea of a Global Africa this book examines how African literary and cultural productions have changed due to the social and political influences brought about by increased globalisation A variety of European theoretical concepts are applied to Africa demonstrating the universality of the African experience Human Rights, Inc. Joseph R. Slaughter, 2009-08-25 In this timely study of the historical ideological and formal interdependencies of the novel and human rights Joseph Slaughter demonstrates that the twentieth century rise of world literature and international human rights law are related phenomena Slaughter argues that international law shares with the modern novel a particular conception of the human individual The Bildungsroman the novel of coming of age fills out this image offering a conceptual vocabulary a humanist social vision and a narrative grammar for what the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and early literary theorists both call the free and full development of the human personality Revising our received understanding of the relationship between law and literature Slaughter suggests that this narrative form has acted as a cultural surrogate for the weak executive authority of international law naturalizing the assumptions and conditions that make human rights appear commonsensical As a kind of novelistic correlative to human rights law the Bildungsroman has thus been doing some of the sociocultural work of enforcement that the law cannot do for itself This analysis of the cultural work of law and of the social work of literature challenges traditional Eurocentric histories of both international law and the dissemination of the novel Taking his point of departure in Goethe's Wilhelm Meister

Slaughter focuses on recent postcolonial versions of the coming of age story to show how the promise of human rights becomes legible in narrative and how the novel and the law are complicit in contemporary projects of globalization in colonialism neoimperialism humanitarianism and the spread of multinational consumer capitalism Slaughter raises important practical and ethical questions that we must confront in advocating for human rights and reading world literature imperatives that today more than ever are intertwined

Sackeyfio, 2021-04-26 African Women Writing Diaspora Transnational Perspectives in the Twenty First Century examines contemporary fiction by African women authors to resonate diaspora perspectives on what it means to be African within transnational spaces Through a critical lens the collection interrogates the ways in which women construct new ways of telling the African story in the global age of social economic and political transformation African Women Writing Diaspora illustrates that for African women life in the diaspora is an uncharted journey across new landscapes of identity beyond Africa's borders as a unifying theme The fictional works analyzed represent the leading women writers who dominate the African literary canon and the contributors explore diverse themes of immigrant life racialized identities and otherness within transnational spaces of the west

Being/s in Transit, 2021-11-22 This fifth volume of ASNEL Papers covers a wide range of theoretical and thematic approaches to the topics of travelling migration and dislocation All migrants are travellers but not all travellers are migrants Migration and the figure of the migrant have become key concepts in recent post colonial studies However migration is not such a new or exceptional phenomenon From the eighteenth century onward there have been migrations from Europe to what are now called post colonial countries and this prepared the ground for movement back to the old but also to the new centres of Europe and elsewhere Travel and travel experience on the other hand have been part of the cultural codes not only of the West and not only of imperialism The essays in this volume look at both kinds of movement at their intersections and at their dislocating effects They cover a wide range of topics from early seventeenth century travel reports through nineteenth century women's travel writing to such contemporary writers as Michael Ondaatje and Janette Turner Hospital

Critique and Utopia in Postcolonial Historical Fiction Greg Forter, 2019-01-17 This bold and ambitious volume argues that postcolonial historical fiction offers readers valuable resources for thinking about history and the relationship between past and present It shows how the genre's treatment of colonialism illustrates continuities between the colonial era and our own and how the genre distills from our colonial pasts the evanescent utopian intimations of a properly postcolonial future Critique and Utopia in Postcolonial Historical Fiction arrives at these insights by juxtaposing novels from the Atlantic world with books from the Indian subcontinent Attending to the links across these regions the volume develops luminous readings of novels by Patrick Chamoiseau J G Farrell Amitav Ghosh Marlon James Hari Kunzru Toni Morrison Marlene van Niekerk Arundhati Roy Kamila Shamsie and Barry Unsworth It shows how these works not only transform our understanding of the colonial past and the futures that might issue from it but also contribute to pressing debates in postcolonial theory debates about the politics of literary forms the links between cycles of capital accumulation and the emergence of new genres the meaning of working through traumas in the postcolonial context the relationship between colonial and panoptical power the continued salience of hybridity and mimicry for the study of colonialism and the tension between national liberation struggles and transnational forms of solidarity Beautifully written and meticulously theorized Critique and Utopia in Postcolonial Historical Fiction will be of interest to students of world literature Marxist critics postcolonial theorists and thinkers of the utopian
