Pastoralism in Tropical Africa Théodore Monod,2018-09-03 Originally published in 1975 the papers collected in this volume review African pastoralism in both West and East Africa in relation to economy ecology social and community organisation kinship inter group relations modern administrative attitudes and policies and problems of development The challenges confronting peoples and cultures in Africa which practise pastoralism are discussed D. F. Owen ;Man's Environmental Predicament : an Introduction to Human Ecology in Tropical Africa ,1973 Africa, Problems & Prospects United States. Department of the Army,1977 National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1973 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Distant Hunger Heather Johnston Nicholson,Ralph L. Nicholson,1979 The problem of hunger is increasing in general we agree on that but our agreement ceases when we consider appropriate definitions approaches and solutions to global scarcity of food This book emphasizes that the world s food problems are technically biologically socially politically economically and morally complex Early chapters set out alternative conceptions of the world food problem and explore the major variables and assumptions of each Subsequent chapters compare and contrast modern agriculture with traditional and subsistence forms of agriculture as biological systems A fourfold classification of nations into food sufficient and food deficient and rich and poor precedes a discussion of political economic and cultural aspects of food policies in the United States Europe and selected less developed nations The book also considers the prospects for scientific and technological developments as partial solutions to global scarcity of food and makes guarded recommendations reaffirming the complexity of the issues involved in world hunger Desertification Michael H. Glantz,2019-03-04 The United Nations Water Conference in Argentina in March 1977 and the United Nations Conference to Combat Desertification in Kenya in August 1977 reflect the worldwide attention that recent global food shortages and growing populations have drawn to the destruction of arable and potentially arable land This collection of articles focuses on a primary form of such destruction desertification the creation of desert like conditions in arid or semiarid regions either by changes in climate patterns or by human mismanagement or both The contributors representing a range of disciplines examine and evaluate the social political economic environmental and technical problems related to the causes and effects of desertification Ethnozoology Romulo Romeu Nobrega Alves,Ulysses Paulino Albuquerque,2017-10-23 Ethnozoology Animals In Our Lives represents the first book about this discipline providing a discussion on key themes on human animal interactions and their implications along with recent major advances in research Humans share the world with a bewildering variety of other animals and have interacted with them in different ways This variety of interactions both past and present is investigated through ethnozoology which is a hybrid discipline structured with elements from both the natural and social sciences as it seeks to understand how humans have perceived and interacted with faunal resources throughout history In a broader context ethnozoology and its companion discipline ethnobotany form part of the larger body of the science of ethnobiology In recent years the importance of ethnozoological ethnobiological studies has increasingly been recognized unsurprisingly given the strong human influence on biodiversity From the perspective of ethnozoology the book addresses all aspects of human connection animals and health from its use in traditional medicine to bioprospecting derivatives of fauna for pharmaceuticals with expert contributions from leading researchers in the field Draws on editors and contributors extensive research experience and studies covering ethnozoology and ethnobiology Covers all aspects of human animal interaction through the lens of this emerging discipline with coverage of both domestic and wild animal topics Presents topics of great interest to a variety of researchers including those in wildlife conservation biologists ecologists conservationists and domestic related disciplines psychologists sociologists

Tropical Forests and Their Crops Nigel J. H. Smith, J. T. Williams, Donald L. Plucknett, Jennifer P. Talbot, 2018-05-31 The tropics are the source of many of our familiar fruits vegetables oils and spice as well as such commodities as rubber and wood Moreover other tropical fruits and vegetables are being introduced into our markets to offer variety to our diet Now as tropical forests are increasingly threatened we face a double fold crisis not only the loss of the plants but also rich pools of potentially useful genes Wild populations of crop plants harbor genes that can improve the productivity and disease resistance of cultivated crops many of which are vital to developing economies and to global commerce Eight chapters of this book are devoted to a variety of tropical crops beverages fruit starch oil resins fuelwood fodder spices timber and nuts the history of their domestication their uses today and the known extent of their gene pools both domesticated and wild Drawing on broad research the authors also consider conservation strategies such as parks and reserves corporate holdings gene banks and tissue culture collections and debt for nature swaps They stress the need for a sensitive balance between conservation and the economic well being of local populations If economic growth is part of the conservation effort local populations and governments will be more strongly motivated to save their natural resources Distinctly practical and soundly informative this book provides insight into the overwhelming abundance of tropical forests an unsettling sense of what we may lose if they are destroyed and a deep appreciation for the delicate relationships between tropical forest plants and people around the world
