Design technology is now crucial for every division of modern industry from a viewpoint of higher productivity and better products As technologies advance the amount of information and knowledge that engineers have to deal with is constantly increasing This results in seeking more advanced computer technology to achieve higher functionalities flexibility and efficient performance of the CAD systems Knowledge engineering or more broadly artificial intelligence is considered a primary candidate technology to build a new generation of CAD systems Since design is a very intellectual human activity this approach seems to make sense The ideas of intelligent CAD systems ICAD are now increasingly discussed everywhere We can observe many conferences and workshops reporting a number of research efforts on this particular subject Researchers are coming from computer science artificial intelligence mechanical engineering electronic engineering civil engineering architectural science control engineering etc But still we cannot see the direction of this concept or at least there is no widely accepted concept of ICAD What can designers expect from these future generation CAD systems In which direction must developers proceed The situation is somewhat confusing The Spectator Insurance Year Book , 1919
