Lawrence Ferlinghetti, a Comprehensive Bibliography to 1980 Bill Morgan, 1982      Geography for Nongeographers Frank R. Spellman, 2010-03-16 Geography is a multidisciplinary field which looks at both physical and social aspects of the world The broad scope of the field makes it a daunting area for those who do not have a specific background in it Geography for Non Geographers thus introduces readers to the most important aspects of geography and how they affect us It covers all areas of geography from physical geography to climate and weather to human and cultural geography Geography for Non Geographers is presented in an accessible and straightforward manner explaining scientific concepts in the most basic way possible Along with basic geographical principles the text provides a clear concise presentation of the consequences of the physical interactions with the environment we inhabit Each chapter ends with a chapter review test to help evaluate mastery of the concepts presented Readers acquire an understanding of and skill in geographical principles adding a critical component to their professional knowledge      Herring and People of the North Pacific Thomas F. Thornton, Madonna L. Moss, 2021-01-31 A unique look at Indigenous knowledge fisheries management and marine ecology Herring are vital to the productivity and health of marine systems and socio ecologically Pacific herring Clupea pallasii is one of the most important fish species in the Northern Hemisphere Human dependence on herring has evolved for millennia through interactions with key spawning areas but humans have also significantly impacted the species distribution and abundance Combining ethnological historical archaeological and political perspectives with comparative reference to other North Pacific cultures Herring and People of the North Pacific traces fishery development in Southeast Alaska from precontact Indigenous relationships with herring to postcontact focus on herring products Revealing new findings about current herring stocks as well as the fish s significance to the conservation of intraspecies biodiversity the book explores the role of traditional local knowledge in combination with archeological historical and biological data in both understanding marine ecology and restoring herring to their former abundance      Fundamentals of Biofuels Engineering and Technology Cataldo De Blasio, 2019-04-09 This book explores the use of biomass as an energy source and its application in energy conversion technologies Focusing on the challenges of and technologies related to biomass conversion the book is divided into three parts The first part underlines the fundamental concepts that form the basis of biomass production its feasibility valuation and its potential utilization This part does not consider only how biomass is generated but also methods of assessment The second part focuses on the clarification of central concepts of the biorefinery processes After a preliminary introduction with industrial examples common issues of biochemical reaction engineering applications are analysed in detail The theory explained in this part demonstrates that the chemical kinetics are the core focus in modelling biological processes such as growth decay product formation and feedstock consumption This part continues with the theory of biofuels production including biogas bioethanol biodiesel and Fischer Tropsch synthesis of hydrocarbons The third part of this book gives detailed explanations of preliminary notions related to the theory of thermodynamics This theory will assist the reader when taking into account the concepts treated in the previous two parts of the book Several detailed derivations are given to give the reader a full understanding of the arguments at hand This part also gives literature data on the main properties of some biomass feedstock Fundamentals of Biofuels Engineering and Technology will be of interest not only to academics and researchers working in this field but also to graduate students and energy professionals seeking to expand their knowledge of this increasingly important area

Water Stress in Plants Ismail M. M. Rahman,Zinnat Ara Begum,Hiroshi Hasegawa,2016-08-24 Water stress in plants is caused by the water deficit as induced possibly by drought or high soil salinity The prime consequence of water stress in plants is the disruption in the agricultural production resulting in food shortage The plants however try to adapt to the stress conditions using biochemical and physiological interventions The edited compilation is an attempt to provide new insights into the mechanism and adaptation aspects of water stress in plants through a thoughtful mixture of viewpoints We hope that the content of the book will be useful for the researchers working with the plant diversity related environmental aspects and also provide suggestions for the strategists

Baker,David R. Larsen,Alark Saxena,2022-05-17 Professor Chadwick Dearing Oliver has made major intellectual contributions to forest science and natural resources management Over the course of his career he has actively sought to bring research and practice together through synthesis outreach and capacity building A common thread throughout his career has been complexity and how we as a society understand and manage complex systems His work on forest stand dynamics landscape management and sustainability have all focused on the emergent properties of complex ecological and or social systems This volume celebrates a remarkable career through a diverse group of former students and colleagues who work on a wide range of subject areas related to the management of complex natural resource systems Over the past decade there has been considerable discussion about forests as complex adaptive systems Advances in remote sensing social methods and data collection and processing have enabled more detailed characterisations of complex natural systems across spatial and temporal scales than ever before Making sense of these data however requires conceptual frameworks that are robust to the complexity of the systems and their inherent dynamics particularly in the context of global change This volume presents a collection of cutting edge research on natural ecosystems and their dynamics through the lens of complex adaptive systems It includes contributions by a wide range of authors from academia NGOs forest industry and governmental organisations with diverse perspectives on forests and natural resources management Each chapter offers new insights into how these systems can be made more resilient to ensure that they provide a diversity of ecological and social values well into the future Together they provide a robust way of thinking about the many challenges that natural ecosystems face and how we as society may best address them
