Violent Crime Darnell F. Hawkins, 2003-02-24 Analysts have long noted that some societies have much higher rates of criminal violence than others They have also observed that the risk of being a victim or a perpetrator of violent crime varies considerably from one individual to another In societies with ethnically and racially diverse populations some ethnic and racial groups have been reported to have higher rates of violent offending and victimization than other groups This series of essays explores the extent and causes of racial and ethnic differences in violent crime in the United States and several other contemporary societies Urban Nightscapes Paul Chatterton, Robert Hollands, 2003 Explores how urban nightlife is experiencing a McDonaldisation where big branded names are taking over large parts of downtown areas leaving consumers with an increasingly standardised experience Work and Idleness Jane Wheelock, John Vail, 2012-12-06 Work and Idleness develops the view that redistributing employment is a feasible capitalist solution not just to the unemployment which particular groups suffer but also to the work that others have to contend with including many women Putting the redistribution of employment on the policy agenda opens up debate on how to ensure a more equitable and fulfilling relationship between the ways we gain our livelihoods and the lives we lead Growing insecurity in labour markets and changing patterns in the commodification of labour have led to a redistribution of paid and unpaid labour time as the structure of power relations the gender order discrimination and state regulation have been modified The first main trend affecting insecurity is mass unemployment and the growth of workless households A second notable trend is a gender based redistribution of hours worked The third major trend is a shift from full time waged work to full time self employment Part I of this book presents the main economic theories driving the continuing divide between the intensification of work and the extension of idleness Part II documents the ways in which the shift to mass idleness in advanced industrial countries has hit some groups particularly hard the youngest and oldest age groups and other groups including disabled workers have traditionally been subject to discrimination in the labor markets Part III provides a set of policy prescriptions Beyond the Power Mystique Robert Prus, 1999-02-25 Despite the considerable attention given to power by foundational sources such as Machiavelli Hobbs Weber Durkheim and Marx and those social theorists who have built on their works surprisingly little attention has been given to the study of power as an enacted feature of community life Locating power more directly within a symbolic interactionist framework Beyond the Power Mystique not only enables scholars to permeate much of the mystique shrouding power but explicitly viewing power as intersubjective accomplishment the material presented here fosters a research agenda that is highly attentive to the collectively articulated aspects of power relations Consideration is given to the ways in which power is brought into existence implemented experienced sustained objectified resisted dissipated and reconstituted in actual practice Addressing the full range of associations occurring in all human arenas from small group settings to large scale theaters of operations this volume provides a conceptually viable means of synthesizing so called macro and micro realms of power Prus considers people s definitions of and routings into situations of power as well as the dilemmas they face the strategies they assume and the limitations they encounter as they enter into interchanges with others on both more individualized and collectively coordinated bases and in both long term and more situated instances
