Not Unlike a Madman in Cheap Sandals James Victor Anderson, 1999-01-01      An Occasional Damage of Roses
James Victor Anderson, 2014-08-28 The purpose of Anderson's poetry is not to try to seek that which is already within us but that which we have always known since infancy as a viable factor in where we have arrived And still we travel discover and grow with the speed of dawn Poetry which merely tells a story or points to a deeper meaning does not have the power of taking you by the leash and unfastening it That alone should frighten a traveler The art of poetry itself is never a saving factor but is merely a voice found in the heart of one who has never given up in spite of the beatings Doesn't this explain most of us still on the journey The traveler who has found his or her inner voice will understand Anderson's poetry through personal experience but to others it may be nothing more than indecipherable marks on an abandoned wall And may have through no fault of their own no need of it Whichever the case relish the disturbance and enjoyment of things that have always been yours and your right to reclaim them This book is best embraced in some quiet private place of comfort far away from the things that sent you there      Not Unlike a Madman In Cheap Sandals James Victor Anderson, 2020-02-05 I was born Aug 24 1940 to the Oregon coastal towns of North Bend Coos Bay The Heavily mixed ethnicity along The waterfront left me with the indelible impression that there is nothing wrong with anyone's race or nationality Earth wind fire and water seemed to equalize and humble anyone who thought himself above the common good for any length of time It was a bayshore world where owners bosses and labor seemed to muck alongside each other in an indistinguishable fog bank that capitalist and socialist philosophers would be at a loss to describe We seemed to invent ourselves Proud shining steamers from all over the world sailed in and out of a roughneck harbor A fine carpenter gothic three story public school stood only two blocks uphill from the waterfront cat houses I delivered Sunday and afternoon newspapers there My old Swedish Lutheran Church preached what was right and wrong but the people there persevered as if it were imperative that they support each other just as they are That world is gone now but it made the first impression on me of what is Tao      The Women's Courtyard
