Edited by LaVonne Jackson Leslie. With a new introduction by the editor. In highlighting the history of the oldest black women's organization in the United States, The History of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs Inc. written by scholar Dr. Charles Wesley provides a comprehensive insight into the historical achievements and activities of the organization from its creation to 1984. The book offers an interesting history of how the organization evolved and functioned nationwide into one of the most respectable black organizations. It is highly recommended for readers interested in understanding the role of black women in uplifting the black community through community service involvement with programs focusing on childcare, education, and social services. The clubwomen established local, state, and regional chapters nationwide. The History of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs Inc. utilizes the organization's conference reports, minutes, and National Notes publication as primary sources to depict how the clubs carried out their goals and operated in society to make a difference. The voices of the pioneer women in the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs Inc. can be envisioned by reading this pivotal work. Their achievements are noteworthy in our history. They have inspired women in the organization to continue to be involved in carrying out its mission by upholding its motto: lifting as we climb. Between World War I and World War II, women flocked to Chicago's parks, playgrounds, and clubs, becoming enthusiastic participants, players, and fans of the games of the time. Robert Pruter's Modern Women and Sports in Interwar Chicago, 1918-1941 examines how the Windy City became home to advancements in women's track and field, swimming, basketball, golf, speed skating, and softball. As a work of sport and urban history, Pruter's text situates the vibrant world of women's athletics within the context of interwar Chicago's new infrastructure and support from its religious and cultural institutions, newspapers, and industrial and retail firms. Woven into this historical analysis are biographies of individual athletes, including Edith Cummings, the 1920s golf star who inspired F. Scott Fitzgerald, and Tidye Pickett, the first African American woman to compete in the Olympic Games. Modern Women and Sports in Interwar Chicago provides a detailed look at developments in the city, the rise of women's sporting culture and the lives and social contexts of the athletes who navigated gender norms while embracing more inclusive recreation and competition

Pan American Women Megan Threlkeld, 2014-07-24 In the years following World War I women activists in the United States and Europe saw themselves as leaders of a globalizing movement to promote women's rights and international peace In hopes of advancing alliances U S internationalists such as Jane Addams Carrie Chapman Catt and Doris Stevens reached across the border to their colleagues in Mexico including educator Margarita Robles de Mendoza and feminist Hermila Galindo They established new organizations sponsored conferences and rallied for peaceful relations between the two countries But diplomatic tensions and the ongoing Mexican Revolution complicated their efforts In Pan American Women Megan Threlkeld chronicles the clash of political ideologies between U S and Mexican women during an era of war and revolution Promoting a human internationalism in the words of Addams U S women overestimated the universal acceptance of their ideas They considered nationalism an ethos to be overcome while the revolutionary spirit of Mexico inspired female citizens there to embrace ideas and reforms that focused on their homeland Although U S women gradually became less imperialistic in their outlook and more sophisticated in their organizational efforts they could not overcome the deep divide between their own vision of international cooperation and Mexican women's nationalist aspirations Pan American Women exposes the tensions of imperialism revolutionary nationalism and internationalism that challenged women's efforts to build an inter American movement for peace and equality in the process demonstrating the importance of viewing women's political history through a wider geographic lens
