Encyclopedia of American Poetry: The Twentieth Century Eric L. Haralson,2014-01-21 The Encyclopedia of American Poetry The Twentieth Century contains over 400 entries that treat a broad range of individual poets and poems along with many articles devoted to topics schools or periods of American verse in the century Entries fall into three main categories

poet entries which provide biographical and cultural contexts for the author's career entries on individual works which offer closer explication of the most resonant poems in the 20th century canon and topical entries which offer analyses of a given period of literary production school thematically constructed category or other verse tradition that historically has been in dialogue with the poetry of the United States

In the First Country of Places Louise Chawla, 1994-09-08 These authors describe their relationships with nature and childhood in the context of major Western traditions of philosophy and religion Each poet confronts the Western image of an alien nature within which histories of individuals are insignificant and three poets elaborate alternative versions of connection with nature and their own past

Shadowing the Ground David Ignatow, 1991-05 A celebrated poet turns his awe of death to a heightened awareness of life

Living is what I Wanted David Ignatow, 1999 Poems on death In The Living he writes Death provides the food the zebra lay on its side clawed into silence the tigress on her belly gnawing at the belly of the zebra with bloody teeth And the living zebras at a distance head bowed toward the earth eat of the living grass

Hamptons Bohemia Helen Harrison,Constance Ayers Denne,2002-04 Richly illustrated with archival photos and reproductions of the artists work Hamptons Bohemia chronicles the evolution of a community and the colorful characters who have inhabited it from Winslow Homer to George Plimpton 176 full color and halftone images Something to Say William Carlos Williams,1985 Something to Say William Carlos Williams on Younger Poets collects all of Williams known writings reviews essays introductions and letters to the editor on the two generations of poets that followed him from Kenneth Rexroth and Louis Zukofsky to Robert Lowell and Allen Ginsberg What might have been a random collection of occasional pieces achieves remarkable coherence from the singleness of Williams poetic vision his belief that the secret spirit of ritual of poetry was trapped in restrictive molds and if these could be broken the spirit would be able to live again in a new contemporary form Only a revived clarity and accuracy in sight and expression would enable the modern world to reform social order which Williams saw in complete disarray To resuscitate American Poetry Williams concentrated his efforts on the purification of poetic speech his American idiom and on remaking the poetic line in a new measure his variable foot And while his battles with his contemporaries on these issues could be heated he was always a nurturing father to the young a useful presence a model and a liberator He told Ginsberg to pare down and economize Roethke to open up and encouraged Lowell and Levertov to shake off poetic conventions But in all his emphasis on the poem as a made object of concrete physicality or as a field of action he would return again and again to this basic advice to young writers The only thing necessary is to have something to say when at last the opportunity comes to say it The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1975
