A value priced romance collection filled with nostalgic appeal for fans of beloved romantic comedy movies ranging from You ve Got Mail to Dirty Dancing Did you swoon when Tom Cruise passionately serenaded his flight instructor with a You ve Lost That Loving Feeling Did your heart swell when Patrick Swayze growled Nobody puts Baby in the corner Then grab a box of popcorn and settle in for these bigger than life romances sure to remind you of those fan favorite 80s and 90s blockbusters Blue Moon Just like Tom Hanks in Splash Gabriel Rayner rescues a beautiful drowning mermaid but this beauty is searching for a champion to fight an evil warlord and save her people a la Clash of the Titans But if they fall in love Gabe will be enslaved to the Merfolk for eternity In a clash of culture shock and heat Gabriel and Ephyra battle those odds but will they have to sacrifice their love to save her life Text Me Abigail Jeffries gets a random text from a stranger only to discover the sender Carter Coben isn t so strange after all In a madcap modern day version of You ve Got Mail she s caught up in a game of assumed identities with the same gorgeous guy she got fired from his job Will they ever manage to sort out their mixed signals mistaken identities and misunderstandings to find real love Waking Up to Love Fans of While You Were Sleeping will love this debut tale When Scott McInney s mom gets a slight case of amnesia he convinces Ramona the identical twin sister of his runaway wife to step into her heels Ramona reluctantly agrees to help out but when the pretending gets too real will Scott figure out that he might have married the wrong twin Love Above All The last thing pediatrician Susan Ryan wants is to get involved with arrogant test pilot Major Martin Bennett Forewarned about fighter pilots in general and Martin in particular she nevertheless finds herself increasingly attracted to the man Top Gun style But a broken engagement has left her cautious and mistrustful of men how can she avoid becoming just another statistic in the amorous pilot s logbook Perfect Partners London s latest hit dance competition television show throws Lisa Darby and Redmond Carrington into each other s arms The problem They re former flames who aren t looking for a repeat performance but a little Dirty Dancing is inevitable when old feelings come flooding back Can they stay in step with their goals and ahead of their past The Turkish Affair Anne Pierson was a top notch Washington journalist until scandal sent her hiding out in backwoods Turkey She s working as a translator near the ancient Hittite site of Karakuyu determined to keep her past a secret until American archaeologist Renaud Townsend arrives searching for the culprit behind stolen artifacts A Raiders of the Lost Ark style search could lead to a second chance at love if they are bold enough to meet the challenge Sensuality Level Sensual

The Stuff of Spectatorship Caetlin Benson-Allott, 2021-04-06 Film and television create worlds but they are also of a world a world that is made up of stuff to which humans attach meaning Think of the last time you watched a movie the chair you sat in the snacks you ate the people around you maybe the beer or joint you consumed to help you unwind all this stuff shaped your experience of media and its influence on you The material culture around film and television changes how we make sense of their content not to mention the very concepts of the mediums Focusing on material cultures of film and television reception The Stuff of Spectatorship argues that the things we share space with and consume as we consume television and film influence the meaning we gather from them This book examines the roles that six different material cultures have played in film and television culture since the 1970s including video marketing branded merchandise drugs and alcohol and even gun violence and shows how objects considered peripheral to film and television culture are in fact central to its past and future

Children's Books in Print, 2007 ,2006 Billion-Dollar Kiss Jeffrey Stepakoff,2007-05-10 When Jeffrey Stepakoff was graduating with an MFA in playwriting he imagined a life in the New York theater wearing a beret and smoking clove cigarettes Writing for the boob tube didn't even cross his mind But he ended up in L A in the late 80 s when television writers were experiencing their equivalent of a gold rush After the billion dollar syndication of Seinfeld when studios were paying astronomical amounts of money to writers to create the next Friends or ER the sudden mania for scripted entertainment made the TV writer a hot commodity He found himself meeting with big agents inside primetime story rooms pitch meetings and on the set of some of TV's most popular shows and making more money than he'd ever thought possible Weaving his personal story with television's Stepakoff takes us behind the scenes to show what it's like to have a story idea one week and see it come to life and be seen by millions of people just a week later Stepakoff also takes us inside the industry to explain what we're watching and why by exploring the growing problems of media consolidation the effects of interference from executives the lack of diversity and what reality television is doing to quality scripted television When the market crashed and the dust settled TV executives and the media conglomerates they worked for were sitting on a broken business model Slowly a new programming idea began to take hold what if the writer and their salaries were removed from the equation Reality TV was born and the TV writer suddenly became obsolete at least temporarily Atoms, Bombs and Eskimo Kisses: A Memoir of Father and Son Claudio G. Segrè,2019-08-09 There are few books that explore the complex relations between famous parents and their children I knew Claudio and his Nobel laureate father Emilio Segrè in this honest angry loving memoir I hear their voices again speaking across the gulf that all families struggle to bridge Richard Rhodes author of Dark Sun The Making of the Hydrogen Bomb This is a warm and openhearted book Claudio Segrè shows that all the traditional tensions between fathers and sons can still exist even in the extraordinary milieu he grew up in He evokes that experience with grace and a fine eye for the telling details Adam Hochschild author of Half the Way Home It's a wonderful book a coming of age story in the atomic era the struggle of a son for the love and respect of a famous father It is also a perceptive insight into the pursuit of science the price of fame and how families bridge differences between generations and cultures to find age old connections and ultimately love and understanding James Kunetka author of City of Fire Los Alamos and the Atomic Age and Oppenheimer The Years of Risk The Nobel Prize winning physicist Emilio Segrè gave an account of his own life in the posthumously published A Mind Always in Motion In the present book Segrè's only son now himself deceased gives an account of his growing up with such a father The experience as he describes it was not an easy one Transported in infancy from Italy to the United States Claudio was required to negotiate his way between his family's persistent conviction of European cultural superiority and the danger of being perceived as not one of us by his new compatriots Admiring his father he was conscious of himself as Son of Superman alternatively feeling eclipsed by and relishing the position Academically he was beset by a joyless desire to achieve and only seldom gained the praise or sympathy he longed for from his exacting and often sarcastic father But he discovered the delights of hot dogs comic books and baseball and forged ahead on his own by choosing the reputedly Red Reed College over his family's preferred Berkeley After graduation in search of work to which he could be as devoted as my father was to physics he spent some years as a journalist before ultimately making a creditable academic career as a historian along the way establishing an apparently satisfactory family life of his own The book ends with an account of his relations with his father as an adult including a disappointing attempt at a therapeutic confrontation

Katherine Livingston Science How does a son emerge from his father's shadow when it is the size of a mushroom cloud Such was the plight of Claudio G Segr whose father Emilio won the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1959 and helped to create the atomic bomb He recounts his lifelong quest to establish an independent identity He also tells of his hope that his own success would earn him the respect and acceptance of his difficult father Segr alternately describes his father as Superman a mighty king and a basilisk a mythical reptile whose very look is fatal Nevertheless his father emerges as a good caring man unsure how to handle the fame that separates him from his son It is tragic therefore that no true reconciliation occurs and that Segr's only moment of catharsis takes place when it is already too late in 1989 when he delivers his father's eulogy Douglas A Sylva The New York Times In this heartfelt counterpart to his father's autobiography A Mind Always in Motion journalist and professor Claudio Segr attempts to shed some thawing light on the cold peace between father and son that lasted until Emilio Segr's death in 1989 despite the affectionate nose rubbings of the title Publishers Weekly The son of a Nobel laureate and Manhattan Project collaborator meditates on the inspirations and disappointments of a difficult relationship In 1959 the author's father shared the Nobel Prize for his work on antimatter But fatherhood isn't as precise a science as physics and young Claudio mixed pride in his father's superman achievements with frustration and rage at the impossible standards and criticisms that so outweighed the occasional moment of affection between them Segr's memoir of an immigrant childhood is often poignant at bottom a thoughtful account of life with a father who found the behavior of atomic particles far easier to comprehend than the emotional life of his son Kirkus Reviews
