The diagram illustrates the human immune system. At the top, a yellow box is labeled "Human Immunity". Below it, a red box is labeled "Immune System". The central part of the diagram shows two human figures. Between them is a blue Y-shaped molecule, likely an antibody, and a red, curved, worm-like structure, likely a pathogen. The figures represent the body's response to the pathogen.

The diagram illustrates the flow of genetic information from DNA to Protein. Transcription occurs in the nucleus, where DNA is transcribed into mRNA. Translation occurs in the cytoplasm, where mRNA is translated by a ribosome into a protein. tRNA molecules act as adaptors, bringing amino acids to the ribosome. The ribosome then joins these amino acids together to form a polypeptide chain, which folds into a functional protein.
