

The Meaning of Caring in Nursing Practice

Introduction

The dynamic essence of nursing is due to caring. Unfortunately, many different terms such as care, care-giving, care receiving, nursing care, etc., are used interchangeably which promotes confusion. Thus, the concept of care can be considered one of the least understood parts of nursing. It is important to note that because there are multiple ways to define caring from different paradigms, the frame of reference is imperative to understand the definition.

The purpose of this paper is to analyze three conceptualizations of caring and discuss the relevance of incorporating theory into practice.

Watson's Theory of Caring

Watson [1] defines caring as: "the moral ideal of nursing whereby the end is protection, enhancement, and preservation of human dignity. Human caring involves values, a will and a commitment to care, knowledge, caring actions, and consequences. All of human caring is related to inter subjective human response to health-illness; environmental-personal interaction; a knowledge of the nurse caring process; self knowledge, knowledge of one's power and transaction limitations" (p. 501). Moreover, Watson posits that "the essence of the value of human care and caring may be futile unless it contributes to a philosophy of action. . . . The actual concrete action of caring can transcend the value (and pass it on). . . . The value of caring is grounded in the self-transcending creative nurse" (p. 52). She further believes that human-to-human caring interactions of nursing cannot be validated or understood using a "positivistic, deterministic, materialistic mind set" [1].

Watson [1] acknowledges the differences between traditional science and human science. They are as follows:

Traditional Science Content	Nursing Human Science for Caring
Normative	Ignative
Reductionistic	Transactional
Mechanistic	Metaphysical, Humanistic-contextual
Method-centered	Phenomena-centered
Disease-centered	Person-experience centered
Pathology-physiology, the physical body	Human responses to illness and personal meanings of human condition
Ethics of 'science'	Human-social ethics- morality
More quantitative	More qualitative
Absolutes, givens, laws	Relativism, probabilities
Human as object	Human as subject
Objective experiences	Subjective-intersubjective experiences
Facts	Experience, meaning
Nonethetic	Idiographic +/- nomothetic
Concrete-observable	Abstract- may or may not "be seen"

Science as creative process of discovery

Human = mind/body/spirit gestalt of whole being (not only more than sum of parts, but different)

"Real" is abstract, largely subjective as well as objective, but is may or may not ever be fully known, observable, fully measured, what is "real" holds mystery and unknowns yet to be discovered

A nurse is required to perform certain acts for her patient which are legally and ethically binding. Watson [1] posits that the value of human care and caring is more than the mere action of performance. Caring involves a sense of self identity and spirit of the person. It involves a pure sense of dedication and commitment to the patient. A specific action of caring may transcend the value because it is "grounded in the self-transcending creative nurse" [1].

The following are Watson's [1] eleven assumptions related to Human Care Values in Nursing:

1. Care and love are the most universal, the most tremendous, and the most mysterious of cosmic forces; they comprise the primal and universal psychic energy.
2. Often these needs are overlooked; or we know people need each other in loving and caring ways, but often we do not behave well toward each other. If our humanness is to survive, however, we need to become more caring and loving to nourish our humanity and evolve as a civilization and love together.
3. Since nursing is a caring profession, its ability to sustain its caring ideal and ideology in practice will affect the human development of civilization and determine nursing's contribution to society.

Quality Caring in Nursing Dr. Joanne Duffy, PhD, RN, FAAN, 2008-12-15 Winner of an AJN Book of the Year Award for 2009 This book offers a coherent theoretical and research guided framework for quality nursing caring in practice education and leadership a foundational timeless yet transformative framework of substance Jean Watson PhD RN AHN BC FAAN College of Nursing University of Colorado Denver Dedicated time spent with patients and families in clinical settings is often limited rushed and impersonal How can nurses develop more positive caring relationships with their patients and help to improve the quality of patient care at large. This book addresses this critical question by presenting Joanne R Duffy's Quality Caring Model, the result of 35 years of clinical experience and educational acumen. This values-based model will bring caring back into the foreground of nursing practice by providing revised curricula for educational programs and outlining the core caring principles for nurse administrators. Key Features: Establishes Relationship-Centered Caring with discussions on how to care for the self, patients and families, each other, and communities. Offers multiple case examples and includes reflective questions and applications for use in educational programs, workshops, conferences, and clinical practice. Demonstrates how the Quality Caring Model can be implemented in clinical practice, nursing education, research, and nursing leadership settings. Includes appendices that discuss how caring can improve patient safety, outline course objectives, and explain how to assess and measure caring in your facility. Written in clear, accessible language, this book will be an invaluable resource to nursing students, nursing scholars, clinical nurses, nurse educators, nurse researchers, and nurse leaders. Duffy's approach will help create a redesigned patient care delivery system focused on the primacy of caring relationships.

Health Care System Transformation for Nursing and Health Care Leaders Anne Boykin, Savina Schoenhofer, Kathleen Valentine, 2013-09-10. The authors' approach to creating a transforming culture through use of foundations laid in the theoretical development of Nursing As Caring offers a solid foundation upon which to recalibrate and reconfigure toward a caring organizational health system. Tim Porter-O'Grady, DM, EdD, APRN, FAAN, FACCWS, Associate Professor, Leadership Scholar, College of Nursing and Healthcare Innovation, Arizona State University; Clinical Professor, Leadership Scholar, College of Nursing, The Ohio State University. This is a time-tested practical guide for nurses and other healthcare professionals who wish to transform their healthcare systems based on caring values and the promotion of intra- and inter-professional dialogue among stakeholders. It describes a theoretically grounded model created by nurses for transforming the culture of healthcare systems at all levels and features tested strategies that facilitate accessibility, efficiency, effectiveness, and enhanced outcomes. At its most basic level, this model, the Dance of Caring Persons, expresses the fundamental beliefs and attitudes that each person in the healthcare system lives caring meaningfully in unique and valuable ways, and the contributions of each person to the whole of the enterprise have a significant place within it. The book features successful examples of how various units of the healthcare system can apply specific strategies to their inter- and intra-professional work and how to engage and sustain authentic dialogue among and between stakeholders. Chapters feature information from a great variety of health professionals that represent a broad range of participants in healthcare. Detailed information is presented in a variety of formats ranging from formal written responses to chapter contents to transcriptions of small group conversations relating to the topic at hand. The book reflects the interests of such major stakeholders as patients and families, nurses, physicians, and other primary and adjunctive care providers, ancillary service providers, administrators, and managers, and all other individuals involved in the many aspects of organizational models and delivery of health care and human resource functions and outcomes Each chapter includes questions to consider and suggested resources to help with implementation of strategies The text incorporates professional standards and essentials from the Joint Commission ANCC and AACN DNP Key Features Presents a theoretically grounded proven caring based model for healthcare system change for all stakeholders across the continuum of care Provides practical strategies for transformation in all aspects of a healthcare system applicable across the range of health services Describes how healthcare system change happens who initiates it and how to sustain it through caring science Includes success stories from patients and their families nurses physicians ancillary service providers healthcare administrators and others Promotes inter and intra professional dialogue and collaboration
