Nutritional and Metabolic Bases of Cardiovascular Disease Mario Mancini, Jose M. Ordovas, Gabrielle Riccardi, Paolo Rubba, Pasquale Strazzullo, 2011-07-11. Extraordinary advances in the understanding of the links between nutrition, metabolism and cardiovascular disease have prompted a systematic reappraisal of knowledge in the field. As a result, it is now imperative that clinicians who care for patients with CVD or its key risk factors have a solid understanding of the often complex interrelationships between cardiovascular health and chronic diseases such as diabetes and obesity. Written by a team of international thought leaders in cardiology, endocrinology, diabetology and nutritional science, this important new book examines and updates the role of obesity, hyperlipidemia, diabetes, hypertension, thrombosis and aging in atherogenesis. Describes in detail the scientific and clinical evidence of the etiopathogenesis of ischemic heart disease as well as of peripheral and cerebrovascular disease. Focuses on the 6 topics that will be of greatest interest to readers: 1. general nutrition, 2. metabolic syndrome and diabetes, 3. hyperlipidemia and atherosclerosis, 4. hypertension and cerebrovascular disease, 5. hemostasis and thrombosis, 6. aging. Throughout the book, in clear and accessible text, contributors illuminate the close relationship between dietary habits, the metabolic processes of nutrients and their impact on the cardiovascular system, always with an eye on how the physician can use this information to implement better cardiovascular prevention and improve patient care. Nutritional and Metabolic Bases of Cardiovascular Disease is ideal for those who need to update their knowledge of the links between nutrition, metabolism and CVD, from trainees, clinicians and clinical investigators in cardiovascular medicine to endocrinologists, diabetologists and nutritionists. cardiovascular disease Herbert K Naito Ph D Dietary Intake and Cardiovascular Risk Factors William R. Harlan, 1983 Attention is directed towards possible associations between nutritional variables and coronary artery disease risk factors based on data developed during the first US National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey 1971-75. Relative body weight/height squared was determined to be an important predictor of serum cholesterol and urate levels and of blood pressure levels in US adults. This predictor together with age and sex accounted for most of the explained variance. Dietary variables based on results from 24 hours recall or on a food frequency questionnaire did not influence serum cholesterol or urate levels. Alcohol intakes however correlated directly with serum urate level. Serum Ca and Mg levels and serum glutamic oxalacetic transaminase were found to be directly and independently related to serum cholesterol and urate which were also related to each other. Other positive and negative influences on serum cholesterol and urate levels are discussed. Summarized data concerning this study are provided. Nutrition and Heart Disease Ronald Ross Watson, Victor R.
