Nutrition In Gerontology Aging:

Geriatric Nutrition Ronni Chernoff, 2006 This book offers a comprehensive review of nutritional assessment intervention programs for the elderly and health promotion activities Nutritional Intervention in the Aging Process H.J. Armbrrecht, J.M. Prendergast, R.M. Coe, 2012-12-06 There has been much popular and scientific interest in the fields of nutrition and aging in recent years As the importance of proper nutrition in children and young adults becomes more fully understood it is natural to wonder if proper nutrition could play a similar role in later life Recent research has indicated that nutrition can potentially intervene in the aging process in at least two ways First studies in animals and humans have shown that nutrition can be used to improve functional status which in turn is related to perceived quality of life Second nutritional manipulation has been used to extend maximal life span in laboratory animals How these interesting findings apply to the human situation remains to be explored The purpose of this book is twofold The first is to present recent advances in our basic knowledge of how nutrition and aging interact with each other The second is to discuss some applications of this knowledge to the care of the elderly patient The interaction between aging and nutrition is complex because each may act on the other in either a synergistic or antagonistic fashion Aging may alter the nutritional status of the elderly by affecting the way nutrients are absorbed and utilized by the body Aging may also influence food intake and therefore nutritional status by decreasing the palatability of food The environment of the elderly may change so they are less likely to eat well balanced meals Nutrition for the Older Adult Melissa Bernstein, Ann Schmidt Luggen, 2009-08-17 Nutrition for the Older Adult is a clear comprehensive text that introduces students to nutrition and health promotion for older adults Covering such important topics as the physiological changes of aging weight and nutrition problems in older adults nutritional assessment and support for the elderly and diet and cultural diversity as well as exercise prescriptions for older adults this text is an essential resource for students in the fields of nutrition nursing and gerontology Important Notice The digital edition of this book is missing some of the images or content found in the physical edition Geriatric Nutrition Annette B. Natow, Jo-Ann Heslin, 1980 Abstract A text for health professionals who care for geriatric patients addresses important factors in the everyday nutritional management of the elderly Older persons are often at risk of nutritional deficiency proper nutrition is a critical aspect of preventive medicine and health care of the aged Diet therapy and assessment of nutritional status are especially relevant for older adults in management of chronic illness Nutrient needs RDAs and food consumption in the elderly are considered following a discussion of the aging process and its effect on body systems Other topics examine nutrition related health problems nutrient drug interactions dietary supplements psychological and social forces on food habits and food choices by older persons and nutrition education for geriatric clients Suggestions for appropriate food selection budgeting marketing preparation and cooking for one or two persons are given Nutrition in Aging Eleanor D. Schlenker, 1997 This text examines the sociological and physiological aspects of ageing and the manner in which they affect the nutritional needs of individuals The coverage of the theories of ageing is updated and so provides a sound basis for understanding the process of ageing as a natural one New findings in geriatric nutrition are discussed ensuring that students have a current basis for their studies The chapter on food selection patterns discusses how ethnic social and cultural patterns affect the likely response to dietary intervention and provides students with a guide as to how to approach future clients in order to ensure the greatest likelihood of a successful interaction The updated chapter on drugs and nutrition provides a background to drug nutrient interactions and polypharmacy

Nutrition Across the Lifespan for Healthy Aging National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Food and Nutrition Board, Food Forum, 2017-05-11 In September 2016 the National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine convened a workshop to examine trends and patterns in aging and factors related to healthy aging in the United States with a focus on nutrition and how nutrition can sustain and promote healthy aging not just in late adulthood but beginning in pregnancy and early childhood and extending throughout the lifespan Participants discussed the role of nutrition in the aging process at various stages in life changes in organ systems over the lifespan and changes that occur with age related to cognitive brain and mental health and explored opportunities to move forward in promoting healthy aging in the United States This publication summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop

Nutrition, Aging, and the Elderly D.E. Danford, H.N. Munro, 2013-11-11 The proportion of the population over 65 years of age is increasing steadily in most industrialized countries In the United States the proportion of elderly people has risen from four percent in 1900 to 11 % in 1978 and is projected to be 14% by the year 2000 The occurrence of debilitating chronic diseases in the elderly increases with each additional year These diseases along with the natural loss of tissue function that occurs throughout adult life impose a heavy burden on the health care system Nutrition plays an important etiologic role in many of these degenerative changes Consequently the aging segment of the population presents a challenge to the nutrition scientist who should be able to recommend optimal intakes of nutrients to minimize the functional losses associated with aging and to optimize the health of those already elderly This sixth volume in the series Human Nutrition A Comprehensive Treatise provides a conspectus of the various interactions of nutrition with the aging process and a comprehensive survey of current knowledge of the amounts of individual nutrients needed by the elderly The volume begins with a general survey of the multifaceted relationship of nutrition to aging followed by four chapters on how nutrition can affect age related changes in selected body functions The next six chapters cover the available evidence regarding the needs of the elderly for dietary energy protein calcium trace elements vitamins and fiber Geriatric Stephen Bartlett, Mary Marian, Douglas

Taren, 1997-11-30 Nutrition and Aging Martha L. Hutchinson, 2012-12-02 Nutrition and Aging is a collection of papers presented at the Fifth Bristol Myers Symposium on Nutrition Research held in Boston Massachusetts from October 31 to November 1 1985 Contributors discuss the significant influence of nutrition on aging and specifically the role of nutrition in preventing and limiting the physical mental and emotional problems associated with the aging process This book reviews findings that include the effects of the aging process on the body's physiological functions and the effects of nutrient intake on organ function Consideration is also given to the gap between the documented nutrient intake and nutrient needs of the elderly as it may influence the aging process The first chapter is a brief overview of the variety of problems that have to be resolved in determining the role of nutrition in aging The discussion then turns to the relationship of nutrition to changes in physiological function during the aging process along with factors that influence the nutrient needs of the elderly The final chapters focus on the impact of nutrition on the etiology of age related degenerative diseases This book will be of interest to scientists as well as students and researchers engaged in nutrition research and its growing importance to the prevention and treatment of disease Nutrition and the Elderly Charlotte Kenton, 1981 Aging, Nutrition and Taste Jacqueline B. Marcus, 2019-04-15 Approximately 380 million people worldwide are 60 years of age or older This number is predicted to triple to more than 1 billion by 2025 Aging Nutrition and Taste Nutrition Food Science and Culinary Perspectives for Aging Tastefully provides research facts theories practical advice and recipes with full color photographs to feed the rapidly growing aging population healthfully This book takes an integrated approach utilizing nutrition food science and the culinary arts A significant number of aging adults may have taste and smell or chemosensory disorders and many may also be considered to be undernourished While this can be partially attributed to the behavioral physical and social changes that come with aging the loss or decline in taste and smell may be at the root of other disorders Aging adults may not know that these disorders exist nor what can be done to compensate This text seeks to fill the knowledge gap Aging Nutrition and Taste Nutrition Food Science and Culinary Perspectives for Aging Tastefully examines aging from three perspectives nutritional changes that affect health and well being food science applications that address age specific chemosensory changes compromised disease states and health and culinary arts techniques that help make food more appealing to diminishing senses Beyond scientific theory readers will find practical tips and techniques products recipes and menus to increase the desirability consumption and gratification of healthy foods and beverages as people age Presents information on new research and theories including a fresh look at calcium cholesterol fibers omega 3 fatty acids higher protein requirements vitamins C E D trace minerals and phytonutrients and others specifically for the aging population Includes easy to access and usable definitions in each chapter guidelines recommendations tables and usable bytes of information for health
