study of the making of foreign policy of China a rising power in the 21st century It examines three sets of driving forces behind China s foreign policy making One is historical sources including the selective memories and reconstruction of the glorious empire with an ethnocentric world outlook and the century of humiliation at the hands of foreign imperialist powers The second set is domestic institutions and players particularly the proliferation of new party and government institutions and players such as the national security commission foreign policy think tanks media and local governments The third set is Chinese perception of power relations particularly their position in the international system and their position relations with major powers This book consists of articles from the Journal of Contemporary China Making American Foreign Policy Ole

11 The Christian Right & US Foreign Policy in the 21 st Century Mohd Afandi Salleh, 2020-01-07 This book is about the role of the Christian Right in the US foreign policy decision making process It reveals that the Christian Right has long been fascinated with some international issues in general and US foreign policy in particular The interest of the movement in international issues increased markedly during the George W Bush administration 2000 2009 During this period the movement successfully widened its activism from domestic social conservative issues to foreign policy issues by participating in articulating and lobbying for its religious version of American foreign policy In assessing the role of the Christian Right in US foreign policy making this dissertation examines aspects of US foreign policy namely Israel international religious freedom and global humanitarianism Based on these three aspects the Christian Right is seen as skilled in framing and defining issues The Christian Right seems effective in selecting and prioritizing international issues that have a reasonable chance of being picked up on by foreign policy decision makers especially in Congress Moreover the Christian Right has shown its maturity in seeking engagement and cooperation with other organizations regardless of whether they are secular or religious to advance its international goals Finally in pursuing and conveying its international agenda the Christian Right has adopted a more moderate and mundane approach Instead of using its traditional religious rhetoric the Christian Right has successfully projected its foreign policy preferences into the conventional realist discourse of American foreign policy

Environmental Politics and Foreign Policy Decision Making in Latin America Amy Below,2014-12-05 Although the Kyoto Protocol an international agreement to address global climate change has been regarded by many as an unsuccessful treaty both politically and environmentally it stands as one of the world s few truly global agreements Why did such a diverse group of countries decide to sign and or ratify the treaty Why did they choose to do so at different times and in different ways What explains their foreign policy behavior Amy Below s book builds off the increasing significance of climate change and uses the Kyoto Protocol as a case study to analyze foreign policy decision making in Latin America Below s study takes a regional perspective in order to examine why countries in Latin America made disparate foreign policy choices when they were faced with the same decision The book looks at the decisions in Argentina Mexico and Venezuela via a process tracing method Below uses information obtained from primary and secondary documents and elite interviews to help reconstruct the processes and augments her reconstruction with a content analysis of Conference of the Parties speeches by presidents and country delegates The book complies with convention in the field by arguing that systemic national and individual level factors simultaneously impact foreign policy decisions but makes the additional claim that role theory most accurately accounts for relationships between variables Environmental Politics and Foreign Policy Decision Making in Latin America considers a variety of factors on individual national and international levels of analysis and show that the foreign policy decisions are best viewed through the prism of role theory The book also draws conclusions about the value of role theory in general and about environmental foreign policy decisions in developing countries which will be of value to both policy makers and academics
