Prescription for Justice Jack M. Kress,1980      Judicial Decision Making, Sentencing Policy, and Numerical Guidance Austin Lovegrove,2012-12-06 This book describes an original empirical study of judicial decision making The process of determining sentences is a difficult one for judges and often unnecessarily intuitive subjective and complex The present study introduces a conceptual outline and empirical technique for increasing the precision of sentencing policy thus offering an aid to judges who sentence in the light of this policy The primary purpose of this model of judicial decision making is to provide a framework for scaling the seriousness of any single case in relation to the facts of that case and for relating this assessment to the appropriate quantum of sentence The validity of the model is tested and cross validated in an archival study This innovative research serves as an important prototype for a system of numerical guidance to judges and sentencers      United States Sentencing Commission Discussion Materials on Organizational Sanctions ,1988
National Assessment of Structured Sentencing ,1996      The Oxford Handbook of Sentencing and Corrections Joan Petersilia,Kevin R. Reitz,2015 This handbook surveys American sentencing and corrections from global and historical views from theoretical and policy perspectives and with attention to a number of problem specific issues      Sentencing Fragments Michael H. Tonry,2016 Cover Contents Preface Acknowledgments 1 Sentencing Matters 2 Sentencing Fragments 3 Federal Sentencing 4 Sentencing Theories 5 Sentencing Principles 6 Sentencing Futures References Index      Sentencing Matters Michael H. Tonry,1997      Topical Bibliography ,1983      Federal Probation ,2001      Discussion Materials on Organizational Sanctions ,1988      Criminal Sentencing in Bangladesh Muhammad Mahbubur Rahman,2017-03-20 In Criminal Sentencing in Bangladesh Muhammad Mahbubur Rahman critically examines the sentencing policies of Bangladesh and demonstrates that the country s sentencing policies are not only yet to be developed in a coherent manner and shaped with an appropriate and contextual balance but also remain part of the problem rather than part of the solution The author forcefully argues that the conception of sentencing policies cannot and should not always be confined exclusively to institutional understandings The typical realities of post colonial societies call for rethinking the traditional judiciary centred understanding of what is meant by criminal sentences This book thus raises the question for theoretical sentencing scholarship whether the prevailing judiciary centred understanding of sentencing should be rethought      Sentencing and Sanctions in Western Countries Michael Tonry,Richard Frase,2001-05-31 This collection of original essays surveys the evolution of sentencing policies and practices in Western countries over the past twenty five years Contributors address plea bargaining community service electronic monitoring standards of use of incarceration and legal perspectives on sentencing policy developments among other topics Sentencing and Sanctions in Western Countries provides a range of scholars and students excellent cross national knowledge of sentencing laws and practices when and why they have changed over time and with what effects      Determinate Sentencing and the Correctional Process Lynne Goodstein,National Institute of Justice (U.S.),1985      Crime and Justice, Volume 41 Michael Tonry,2013-12-16 Prosecutors are powerful figures in any criminal justice system They decide what crimes to prosecute whom to pursue what charges to file whether to plea bargain how aggressively to seek a conviction and what sentence to demand In the United States citizens can challenge decisions by police judges and corrections officials but courts keep their hands off the prosecutor Curiously in the United States and elsewhere very little research is available that examines this powerful public role And there is almost no work that critically compares how prosecutors function in different legal systems from state to state or across countries Prosecutors and Politics begins to fill that void Police courts and prisons are much the same in all developed countries but prosecutors differ radically The consequences of these differences are enormous the United States suffers from low levels of public confidence in the criminal justice system and high levels of incarceration in much of Western Europe people report high confidence and support moderate crime control policies in much of Eastern Europe people s perceptions of the law are marked by cynicism and despair Prosecutors and Politics unpacks these national differences and provides insight into this key area of social control Since 1979 the Crime and Justice series has presented a review of the latest international research providing expertise to enhance the work of sociologists psychologists criminal lawyers justice scholars and political scientists The series explores a full range of issues concerning crime its causes and its cure      Civilization and Barbarism Graeme R.

Newman,2020-03-01 The practice of mass incarceration has come under increasing criticism by criminologists and corrections experts who nevertheless find themselves at a loss when it comes to offering credible practical and humane alternatives In Civilization and Barbarism Graeme R Newman argues this impasse has arisen from a refusal to confront the original essence of punishment namely that in some sense it must be painful He begins with an exposition of the traditional philosophical justifications for punishment and then provides a history of criminal punishment He shows how over time the West abandoned short term corporal punishment in favor of longer term incarceration justifying a massive bureaucratic prison complex as scientific and civilized Newman compels the reader to confront the biases embedded in this model and the impossibility of defending prisons as a civilized form of punishment A groundbreaking work that challenges the received wisdom of corrections Civilization and Barbarism asks readers to reconsider moderate corporal punishment as an alternative to prison and for the most serious offenders forms of incapacitation without prison The book also features two helpful appendixes a list of debating points with common criticisms and their rebuttals and a chronology of civilized punishments

SNI National Criminal Justice Reference Service (U.S.),1980      Sentencing Reform in Overcrowded Times Michael Tonry,Kathleen Hatlestad,1997-04-24 Sentencing and corrections issues are much the same in every Western country and increasingly efforts are being made to import policies and practices that have succeeded elsewhere This volume brings together articles on sentencing reform in the United States other English speaking countries Australia Canada England Wales New Zealand South Africa and Western Europe by leading national and international authorities on sentencing policy practices and institutions Short timely and readable the articles originally appeared in the journal Overcrowded Times Together they fill a major gap in the academic and policy literatures and will be essential reading for students scholars and practitioners in the field Beyond the Courtroom Anthony J.
