Preservation Management for Libraries, Archives and Museums G. E. Gorman, Sydney J. Shep, 2006 Memory institutions such as libraries archives galleries and museums all share pressing concerns about preserving heritage whether in the form of material and documentary cultural artefacts in collections or in the form of new digitally born material Recent incidents of natural disaster and cultural genocide together with the global turn to digitization have forced librarians archivists and curators to rethink and restructure their primary modes of operation Preservation management now sits at the top of the agenda for heritage institutions around the world as collection development policies and practices are negotiated between libraries museums archives funding agencies and governments Historically separate cultural institutions are now converging to share limited resources develop compatible ideologies and co ordinate distributed collections This forward looking collection charts the diversity of preservation management in the contemporary information landscape and offers guidance on preservation methods for the sustainability of collections from a range of international experts The authors are connected to a wide international network of professional associations and NGOs and have been selected not only for their specific expertise but for the contribution they are making to the future of preservation management The chapters cover managing the documentary heritage issues for the present and future preservation policy and planning intangible heritage museums and preservation surrogacy and the artefact moving with the times in search of permanence a valuation model for paper conservation research preservation of audiovisual media traditional to interactive formats challenges of managing the digitally born artefact preserving cultural heritage in times of conflict access and the social contract in memory institutions redefining the collection in the 21st century Readership There is urgent need for heritage management initiatives and robust disaster planning that will safeguard our cultural heritage and recognize the right of the end user to ownership of it This is an informed and essential guide to managing collection and preservation strategies for anyone working in the library archive museum or broader cultural heritage sectors Advances in Preservation and Access Barbra Buckner Higginbotham,1995

A Reader in Preservation and Conservation Ralph W. Manning, Virginie Kremp,2013-02-07 No detailed description available for A Reader in Preservation and Conservation Preservation Management John Feather,Graham Matthews,Paul Eden,1996 Much has happened in libraries and information in the last ten years and preservation and conservation issues have developed accordingly The authors carried out a survey of around 500 British libraries to study preservation management practices over that period and the results of this questionnaire are the basis of this book In analysing the responses it was clear that the fundamental issues about the access to and use of books were being addressed preservation and retention of materials and media being the foundation of access Having put the research into its historical context the book moves on to the findings about management attitudes and practices Policy issues are considered and some of the national and international prescriptive policy documents issued by professional organizations are compared with those from the British libraries The differences between the two form the basis of suggestions about how individual libraries might develop preservation policies and also what national policies could be considered This is a book that will enable all librarians from all sectors to understand the importance and nature of preservation policies and to begin to create or improve their own

The Preservation Management Handbook Ross Harvey,Martha R. Mahard,2014-04-10 Cultural heritage professionals museum curators museum professionals archivists and librarians work with their specialized knowledge to prioritize the needs of their collections Preservation managers draw on experts in climate control fire safety pest management and more in developing the large overview of a collection and its needs And all the special materials within the collections have their experts too Here in one volume is a wide range of topic specific expertise that comprises both an enduring text for preservation students as well as an essential one stop reference for cultural heritage professionals particularly those in small to medium sized organizations where resources are limited and professional help is not always at hand The editors introduce the reader to the essential tools and principles of a preservation management program in the twenty first century addressing the realities of diverse collections and materials and embracing the challenges of working with both analog and digital collections The sections on planning and managing a preservation program contain the basic starting point for any kind of collection regardless of size and content Written with the small collection in mind the principles are nevertheless scalable and widely applicable

Conservation and Preservation of Library Materials Jan Merrill-Oldham, University of Connecticut. Libraries, University of Connecticut. Library, 1984 Promoting Preservation Awareness in Libraries Jeanne M. Drewes, Julie Page, 1997-05-21 No other book provides such a comprehensive approach to educating library customers and staff in the preservation of library materials Over 35 case studies provide innovative programs and strategies for providing preservation education initiatives throughout the library The various types of materials collected paired with the variety of patrons requires a full spectrum of approaches Going on the assumption that much damage is caused by unknowing misuse this professional reference gives academic school and public library staff as well as special collections staff a solid approach for designing implementing and evaluating formal and informal preservation educational programs As collections deteriorate and library budgets shrink the longevity of collections becomes an increasingly important issue To minimize harm to collections librarians need to emphasize the importance of preservation and proper handling This professional reference explains how to create implement and evaluate formal and informal preservation education programs in school public academic and special collections Chapters are written by contributors from a wide range of positions in librarianship and academia Building on the assumption that most misuse is because of misunderstanding or lack of understanding much attention is given to reaching all types of patrons and changing attitudes Because preservation largely depends on the attitude of patrons much attention is given to reaching all types of patrons Informing adults to avoid misuse and teaching children to respect books and to handle them carefully are two different methods Visual messages using posters bookmarks and signs to educate can help prevent damage Library staff on the other hand benefit from training programs which can effectively include tests and videos Users of rare and archival materials can be informed through brochures and one on one interaction with librarians The volume includes over 35 illustrative case studies and it concludes with an extensive bibliography and videography Preservation in Libraries Ross Harvey, Douglas Ross Harvey, 1993 Providing a single point of access to the pertinent knowledge theories experience throughout the library information science world this international selection of writings was chosen for its power to amplify illustrate preservation policy Readings range from fire recovery at the USSR Library of the Academy of Sciences to preservation education in U S library schools reveal how preventative aspects of preservation can be integrated into daily management TOPICS IN LIBRARY INFORMATION STUDIES The
