Preventive Measures Building Risk Assessment And Crisis Early Warning Systems:

Preventive Measures John L. Davies, 1998-09-03 State failure ethnopolitical war genocide famine and refugee flows are variants of a type of complex political and humanitarian crisis exemplified during the 1990s in places like Somalia Bosnia Liberia and Afghanistan The international consequences of such crises are profound often threatening regional security and requiring major inputs of humanitarian assistance They also may pose long term and costly challenges of rebuilding shattered governments and societies A vital policy question is whether failures can be diagnosed far enough in advance to facilitate effective international efforts at prevention or peaceful transformation This volume of original essays examines crisis early warning factors at different levels in different settings and judges their effectiveness according to various models Top contributors offer answers along with analyses as they move from early warning to early response in their policy recommendations

The Prevention and Intervention of Genocide Samuel Totten, 2017-09-08 Over the last twenty years the world has witnessed four major genocides There was the genocide in Iraq 1988 in Rwanda 1994 in Srebrenica 1995 and in Darfur 2003 and continuing Most observers agree there is an urgent need to assess the international community's efforts to prevent genocide and to intervene once a genocide is under way in an effective and timely manner This volume the latest in a widely respected series on the subject of genocide provides an overview of a host of issues germane to this task The book begins with a cogent discussion of the issues of prevention and intervention during the Cold War years The second chapter discusses the abject failures and moderate though in some cases highly controversial successes at prevention and intervention carried out in the 1990s and early 2000s Further chapters examine latest efforts to develop an effective genocide early warning system and examine the complexity of and barriers to prevention The pros and cons of sanctions and the problems of enforcement and evaluation their effectiveness are then discussed Conflicts between state sovereignty and the protection of threatened populations are examined both in historical context and by incorporating the latest thinking Later chapters treat the issue of intervention why and how it has met with only limited success Concentrating on Rwanda and Srebrenica chapter 8 discusses various peace operations that were abject failures and those that were moderately successful The concept of an anti genocide regime is examined in terms of progress in developing such a regime as well as what the international community must do in order to implement it Chapters discuss key issues related to post genocidal periods those that need to be addressed in order to establish stability in a wounded land and populace as well as to prevent future genocides The final chapter asks whether bringing perpetrators to justice has any impact in breaking impunity ensuring deterrence and bringing about reconciliation The contributors to the volume are all noted scholars some of whom specialize in the study of genocide and others who specialize in such areas as early warning peacekeeping and sanctions

Early Warning and Conflict Management in the Horn of Africa Cirû Mwaûra,Susanne Schmeidl,2002 The Horn of Africa has come to be defined by the frequency and intensity of its violent conflicts Yet whereas in other regions conflict prevention stresses formal top down inter governmental structures in the Horn of Africa an alternative conflict management regime that seeks to build on local capacity and is based on inclusive and collaborative decision making has emerged This publication outlines the two year process of CEWARN s and IGAD s development

Security and Development Robert Picciotto,Rachel Weaving,2013-10-28 The new contributions in this book by acknowledged leaders in the field examine the delivery of effective aid under fire and securing the peace in environments where governance is fragile They bridge the cultural divide between the security and development professions at a time of unprecedented global economic integration geopolitical turbulence and novel threats to international peace and security More than a billion people live in countries where governance is weak poverty is rampant and economies are depressed Failed and frail states provide ideal breeding grounds for civil strife criminality and new wars that target civilians use children as combatants and commit massive human rights violations The new security risks loom within national borders while the capacity of the international community to intervene behind borders remains inadequate Policy making for security still relies heavily on military responses Yet military responses cannot address and may even worsen the social and cultural antecedents of civil strife and social resentment Similarly development aid policy and practice are poorly adapted to the new realities of frail governance and insecure operating environments in aid recipient countries This book was previously published as a special issue of the leading journal Conflict Security and Development

Walking the Tightrope Jaïr van der Lijn,2006 The media generally tend to focus in particular on the failures of U N peacekeeping operations In Walking the Tightrope Jaïr Van Der Lijn draws a different conclusion He argues once a peace agreement has been signed the efforts of the U N peacekeeping operations do contribute to durable peace By analyzing the U N peacekeeping operations in Cambodia Mozambique Rwanda and El Salvador in a structured focused comparison this book shows how U N operations do have a contribution to make

Conflict Prevention Andreas Wenger,Daniel Möckli,2003 Offering a new perspective the authors show how efforts to prevent violent civil wars could be much more effective if they incorporate the business sector

Facing Global Environmental Change Hans Günter Brauch,Navnita Chadha Behera,Patricia Kameri-Mbote,John Grin,Úrsula Oswald Spring,Béchir

Chourou,Czeslaw Mesjasz,Heinz Krummenacher,2009-06-04 The year 2007 could perhaps accurately be described as the year when climate change finally received the attention that this challenge deserves globally Much of the information and knowledge that was created in this field during the year was the result of the findings of the Fourth sessment Report AR4 of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC which were disseminated on a large scale and reported extensively by the media This was the result not only of a heightened interest on the part of the public on various aspects of climate change but also because the IPCC itself proactively attempted to spread the findings of its AR4 to the public at large The interest generated on the scientific realities of climate change was further enhanced by the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the IPCC and former Vice President of the US Al Gore By taking this decision in favour of a leader who has done a great deal to create awareness on c mate change and a body that assesses all scientific aspects of climate change and disseminates the result of its findings the Norwegian Nobel Committee has clearly drawn the link between climate change and peace in the world

Regeneration of War-Torn Societies NA NA,2016-04-30 Regeneration and peacebuilding in war torn societies is a fast growing area of interest in world politics The book is an original and timely contribution to the study of post conflict transition through an examination of various aspects of regeneration and detailed analysis of examples of intent Four issues are highlighted in particular the legacies of modern conflict in the transitions to relative peace the question of ownership and accountability in the interactions between internal and external actors the need for coherent responses to regeneration the importance of case specific approaches The book s purpose is to encourage students policy makers and practitioners in governments intergovernmental organisations international and local non governmental organisations to understand and reflect on processes designed to promote social stability and relative peace and to re examine the nature of the tasks they confront and their responses The authors represent perspectives from law political economy social work development studies anthropology and international relations

Peacekeeping and Conflict Resolution Oliver Ramsbotham,Tom Woodhouse,2013-07-04 Conflict resolution theory has become relevant to the various challenges faced by the United Nations peacekeeping forces as efforts are made to learn from the traumatic and devastating impact of the many civil wars that have erupted in the 1990s This work analyzes the theory

The Center Holds Nadia Mizner, 2017-07-12 The United Nations remains a unique institutional hope for addressing and resolving the world's major environmental developmental and humanitarian problems It represents global aspirations for a just and peaceful world by inspiring the political imagination of individuals and collectivities But because it is now viewed primarily as a trade union for expressing the national political interests of 192 state parties as Clements and Mizner's volume of essays demonstrate the UN has succumbed to political cynicism and skepticism Only the UN can champion emerging international regimes the rule of law and global processes that generate structural stability justice and peace in the international system Unlike some central security organs of the UN specialized UN agencies have addressed these problems With the exception of the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq the UN and its affiliates have played an important role in ending violent political conflict and in preventing further conflict According to the Human Security Report 2005 the 80 percent decline in deadly conflicts since the early 1990s can be explained by the extraordinary upsurge of activity by the international community which has been directed towards conflict prevention and peace making This work explores how the UN can establish global norms to reinforce a doctrine of internal and external political responsibility How can the UN ensure that the interests of the peoples of the world receive equal attention as the interests of state parties How does it deal with non sovereign actors not represented directly in the UN who may command power and resources that are more significant than those available to nation states How does it deal with state parties deemed ineffective incapable and illegitimate by their own citizens How can the organization enhance its role with regional organizations Finally how will the UN ensure a positive and proactive role with respect to diverse global

Century of Genocide Samuel Totten, William S. Parsons, Israel W. Charny, 2004 The Rwandan government forces as well as Cambodia's Khmer Rouge and German Bosnian and U S governments have all been guilty of the destruction of their indigenous cultures This book analyses the major atrocities of our times including recent cases of genocide in Yugoslavia and Iraq

Interaction Seeing the Invisible Thomas Quiggin, 2007 Intelligence is critical to ensuring national security especially with asymmetric threats making up most of the new challenges Knowledge rather than power is the only weapon that can prevail in a complex and uncertain environment awash with asymmetric threats some known many currently unknown This book shows how such a changing national security environment has had profound implications for the strategic intelligence requirements of states in the 21st century The book shows up the fallacy underlying the age old assumption that intelligence agencies must do a better job of connecting the dots and avoiding future failures It argues that this cannot and will not happen for a variety of reasons Instead of seeking to predict discrete future events the strategic intelligence community must focus rather on risk based anticipatory warnings concerning the nature and impact of a range of potential threats In this respect the book argues for a full and creative exploitation of technology to support but not supplant the work of the strategic intelligence community and illustrates this ideal with reference to Singapore's path breaking Risk Assessment and Horizon Scanning RAHS program Global Migrants, Global Refugees Aristide R. Zolberg, Peter M. Benda, 2001-06-01 In recent years several influential commentators have stated or strongly implied that the advanced industrial democracies are today being overwhelmed by a host of problems including rapid population growth the breakup of multi ethnic states environmental degradation and increasing economic differentials between the developing and developed worlds for which no effective solutions are at hand The migration inducing potential of these post Cold War developments has been a particular source of concern This volume provides a counter catastrophic view of developments and a more sober and balanced assessment of the challenges the United States and other industrial democracies face in the sphere of international migration than that offered in recent years The first part is devoted to a diagnosis of the problem revaluation of the notion of a migration crisis by examining the likely consequences of population growth environmental degradation and political conflict in the developing and post communist worlds Special attention is also given to the manifestations of these forces in the western hemisphere where they may have direct consequences for immigration to the United States In the second part the implications for U S policy are considered ranging from promotion of democracy and development of strategies for minimizing international migrations and refugee flows to the intricacies of humanitarian relief and intervention when preventive measures prove ineffective Pioneers of Genocide Studies (Clt) Samuel Totten, Steven Leonard Jacobs, 2002 New areas of research are not the result of a snap of the finger They are carved out of the marrow of human existence The study of genocide well illustrates this raw fact From the early efforts that emerged in the struggle against Nazism and over the past half century the field has now reached a point where there at least five genocide centers across the globe and well over one hundred Holocaust centers This work emerged out of an earlier effort at an oral history project one that would enable a new generation of scholars researchers and policy makers to assess the major foci of the field efforts to develop ways and means to intervene and prevent future genocides and review the successes and failures of the field The editors of Pioneers of Genocide Studies emphasize that contributors should approach the questions of greatest relevance in a personal way crafting a statement that reveals one's individual voice, persuasions, literary style, scholarly perspectives, and relevant details of one's life. The book succeeds admirably in the above aims and in so doing epitomizes scholarly autobiographical writing at its best. The book also includes the most important works by each author on the issue of genocide. As a result, the collective portrait enhances the usefulness of the volume for those new to the field. Among the contributors are experts in the Armenian, Bosnian, Cambodian, and Holocaust against the Jewish people. The contributors are Rouben Adalian, M. Cherif Bassiouni, Israel W. Charney, Vahakn Dadrian, Helen Fein, Barbara Harff, David Hawk, Herbert Hirsch, Irving Louis Horowitz, Richard Hovannisian, Henry Huttenbach, Leo Kuper, Raphael Lemkin, James E. Mace, Eric Markusen, Robert Melson, R. J. Rummel, Roger W. Smith, Gregory H. Stanton, Ervin Staub, Colin Tatz, Yves Ternan, and the co-editors. The work has been five years in the making and represents a high watermark in the reflections and self-reflections on the comparative study of genocide.

Samuel Totten is professor of curriculum and instruction in the College of Education and Health Professions at the University of Arkansas Fayetteville. He is the editor of First Person Accounts of Genocidal Acts and Century of Genocide, Eyewitness Accounts and Critical Views, and book review editor for the Journal of Genocide Research. Steven Leonard Jacobs is associate professor and Aaron Aronov Chair of Judaic Studies in the department of religious studies at the University of Alabama Tuscaloosa. He is the author of Shirot Bialik: A New and Annotated Translation of Chaim Nachman Bialik's Epic Poems, Raphael Lemkin's Thoughts on Nazi Genocide, Not Guilty, and Contemporary Christian and Contemporary Jewish Religious Responses to the Shoah.

Pioneers of Genocide Studies Samuel Totten, Steven Jacobs, 2017-07-05. Confronting Genocide René Provost,Payam Akhavan,2010-11-11 Never again stands as one the central pledges of the international community following the end of the Second World War upon full realization of the massive scale of the Nazi extermination programme Genocide stands as an intolerable assault on a sense of common humanity embodied in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and other fundamental international instruments including the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide and the United Nations Charter And yet since the Second World War the international community has proven incapable of effectively preventing the occurrence of more genocides in places like Cambodia Yugoslavia Rwanda and Sudan Is genocide actually preventable or is ever again a more accurate catchphrase to capture the reality of this phenomenon The essays in this volume explore the complex nature of genocide and the relative promise of various avenues identified by the international community to attempt to put a definitive end to its occurrence Essays focus on a conceptualization of genocide as a social and political phenomenon on the identification of key actors Governments international institutions the media civil society individuals and on an exploration of the relative promise of different means to prevent genocide criminal accountability civil disobedience shaming intervention
