Redesigning Education:

Redesigning Education Kenneth Geddes Wilson, Bennett Daviss, 1994 Argues that American education is out of step with today's world offers advice on redesigning the educational infrastructure and looks at reform case studies Five Pillars of the Mind: Redesigning Education to Suit the Brain Tracey Tokuhamma-Espinosa, 2019-03-05 From the author of Neuromyths a revolutionary look at teaching and learning via the logical pathways of the brain A review of the research on brain networks reveals surprisingly that there are just five basic pillars through which all learning takes place Symbols Patterns Order Categories and Relationships Dr Tokuhamma Espinosa proposes that redesigning school curriculum around these five pillars whether to augment or replace traditional subject categories could enable students to develop the transdisciplinary problem solving skills that are often touted as the ultimate goal of education Heralding a potential paradigm shift in education Five Pillars of the Mind explores how aligning instruction with the brain's natural design might just be the key to improving students learning outcomes Redesigning Education Innovation Unit For Gelp, Global Education Leaders' Program. Innovation Unit, 2013 As we hurtle through the second decade of the 21st century the pressure for radical change to mainstream education is becoming ever more urgent and images for what that future might look like are emerging and coalescing But there is a problem There is no version of this complex exciting new world of learning that can arrive fully operational and ready to open for business on Monday morning Redesigning Education captures the journeys of cities and countries around the world as they travel from the education systems they have to the education systems they want and need and highlights the tools and processes they are using along the way The Global Education Leaders Program or GELP is a partnership of teams of education system leaders and world class organizations collaborating to transform education Its members include some of the highest performing countries in the world and those where providing education for all is an extraordinary challenge As a community these teams have developed refined and shared a compelling and critically actionable vision for the future of education Education 3.0 Redesigning Education is about what it takes to transform education systems when the context in which they've flourished fundamentally alters While a fully operational 21st century education system does not yet exist GELP teams are identifying a clear set of models and practices that together form a roadmap to the future backed up by the practical lessons drawn from their experiences More than simply a compelling case for change Redesigning Education offers real insights grown from stories of system transformation around the globe

Redesigning Education Lynn Stoddard, 1992 Redesigning Education Innovation Unit for Gelp, 2014-05-14 As we hurtle through the second decade of the 21st century the pressure for radical change to mainstream education is becoming ever more urgent and images for what that future might look like are emerging and coalescing But there is a problem There is no version of this complex exciting new world of learning that can arrive fully operational and ready to open for business on Monday morning Redesigning Education captures the journeys of cities and countries around the world as they travel from the education systems they have to the education systems they want and need and highlights the tools and processes they are using along the way The Global Education Leaders Program or GELP is a partnership of teams of education system leaders and world class organizations collaborating to transform education Its members include some of the highest performing countries in the world and those where providing education for all is an extraordinary challenge As a community these teams have developed refined and shared a compelling and critically actionable vision for the future of education

Education 3.0 Redesigning Education is about what it takes to transform education systems when the context in which they've flourished fundamentally alters While a fully operational 21st century education system does not yet exist GELP teams are identifying a clear set of models and practices that together form a roadmap to the future backed up by the practical lessons drawn from their experiences More than simply a compelling case for change Redesigning Education offers real insights grown from stories of system transformation around the globe

The New Landscape of Mobile Learning Charles Miller, Aaron Doering, 2014-02-24 The New Landscape of Mobile Learning is the first book to provide a research based overview of the largely untapped array of potential tools that mobile Learning offers educators and students in face to face hybrid and distance education This cutting edge guide provides An essential explanation of the emergence and role of Apps in education Design guidelines for educational Apps Case studies and student narratives from across the US describing successful App integration into both K-12 and Higher Education Robust research based evaluation criteria for educational Apps Although many believe that Apps have the potential to create opportunities for transformative mobile education a disparity currently exists between the individuals responsible for creating Apps i.e. developers who often have little to no instructional experience and the ultimate consumers in the classroom i.e. K-20 educators and students The New Landscape of Mobile Learning bridges this gap by illuminating critical design integration and evaluation narratives from leaders in the instructional design distance education and mobile learning fields

Redesigning Education Edward Wheeler,1973
Redesigning Schools Joseph P. McDonald,1996-11-22 For five years McDonald charted the progress of ten schools in the Coalition of Essential Schools as they immersed themselves in the hard work of school reform He also visited many other schools both elementary and secondary in an attempt to understand serious school reform and its prospects He concludes that school reform requires redesign in three critical areas The first is a shift in the ordinary and often tacit beliefs of the people who work in schools the communities that support them and even the children who attend them The second area which McDonald dubs the wiring arena involves internal communication and power arrangements The third area called tuning involves connecting the school to the needs interests and values of the communities it serves Education Reform

Seymour B. Sarason,2002 The Politics of Education and the New Institutionalism Robert L. Crowson,William Lowe

Boyd,Hanne B. Mawhinney,1996 This is an assessment of the reluctance of American education institutions to undergo change and reform at a time when it is considered necessary The lack of public confidence in educational institutions is discussed along with the subsequent consequences Ecological Principles for Sustainable Education Liza

Ireland,2024-01-29 This book explores how the education sector can transition to being truly sustainable and why necessary innovations for educational change are being subverted and undermined when mapped onto the existing industrial educational system Based on PhD case study research with schools that are modelling and teaching sustainability action research and the author s 40 years of working in the K 12 system this volume examines how education continues to perpetuate the status quo and why education innovations are thus undermined It shows the importance of redesigning education based on the principles of sustainable living systems and explores how this can be achieved across all levels of the educational system The first part of the book establishes a new vision of sustainable education whilst the second brings to light the industrial mechanistic root metaphors in current practice across leadership and administration buildings and grounds curriculum design teaching and learning that are subverting innovative efforts From understanding the foundational influential problematic root metaphors of our Industrial educational system it moves to explore how the ecological principles of sustainability can be used to rethink and redesign an educational system from its administration leadership and policy to curriculum buildings grounds and resources through to teaching and learning that will support sustainability innovation and creativity developing systems thinking and sustainability as a frame of mind Exploring how the education sector can transition to being truly sustainable and find new ways to traverse the problematic Industrial world view at this pivotal moment will appeal to administrators post secondary educators policymakers and researchers and scholars of sustainability education educational leadership curriculum design and educational philosophy The Finnish Education Mystery

Hannu Simola,2014-11-20 Finnish education has been a focus of global interest since its first PISA success in 2001 After years of superficial celebration astonishment and educational tourism the focus has recently shifted to what is possibly the most interesting element of this Finnish success story that Finnish schools have been effectively applying methods that go against the flow of global education policy with no testing no inspection no hard evaluation no detailed national curriculum no accountability and no hard competition From a historical and sociological perspective the Finnish case is not merely a linear success story but is part of a controversial and paradoxical struggle towards Utopia towards egalitarian schooling

Bringing together a collection of essays by Hannu Simola and his colleagues this book analyses the key dimensions of schooling in Finland to provide a critical analytical and uncompromising picture of the Finnish education system. Going beyond the story of success the book reveals the complexities of educational change but also identifies opportunities and alternatives for smart political action in complex and trans national societies. Including a selection of key chapters on Finnish education policy and governance teacher education and classroom cultures the book will be of interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in comparative education teacher education educational policy and educational reform.

Comprehensive Systems Design: A New Educational Technology Charles Reigeluth, Bela H. Banathy, J.R.

Olson, 1993-08-11 Educational technology in the broadest sense is knowledge and competence for improving the educational process for using hardware equipment software methods and underware underlying organizational structures. This volume in the Special Programme on Advanced Educational Technology presents the results of a NATO Advanced Research Workshop on educational systems design as a new educational technology. The objective of the workshop was to advance our knowledge about the comprehensive systems design approach for improving educational systems. The workshop was organized for the transdisciplinary interaction of three scientific groups representing design science organizational systems science and educational technology. Participants were selected based on their scholarship as members of one or more of these three groups. The book opens with the framing papers sent by the editors to participants prior to the workshop then presents five sets of thematic contributions: the conceptual and empirical contexts of comprehensive systems design; the systems design focus; a systems view of designing educational systems; the educational context of systems design; and high technology focus in systems design.
