Personhood and Presence Ewan Kelly,2012-03-08 The greatest asset which people in pastoral care offer in a caring relationship is themselves or to be more precise the aspects of self which they have reflected upon Offering oneself to other people in order to provide companionship along the road of life especially when the particular stage on the journey is one of anticipated or actual loss is an act which is both challenging and yet potentially life enhancing for a carer The purpose of this book is to offer an aid to those who seek to understand themselves better with a view to enhancing the quality of spiritual and pastoral care they offer Here the reference point for reflexivity is the caring relationship Yet as we are fundamentally the same beings in personal and professional relationships readers may also find stimulus to reflect on what they bring to a variety of relationships including that with the Sacred and indeed themselves      Resilient Pastors Justine book Professor Robin Gill identifies the main challenges facing the church and reflects on how Christians should respond He first studies the immense moral challenges of our rapidly changing world religion and the environment the arms trade including reflection on the global situation since the attack on New York on 11 September 2001 media ethics and the Lambeth Conference and sexual ethics The second part focuses on the changing patterns of churchgoing and addresses anxieties about churchgoing decline in the West which run parallel with claims about rapid church growth elsewhere The third part looks at changes in theological education The author argues for greater honesty in the church and for a judicious use of both theology and sociology which would equip Christians to face the enormous challenges of our world today      The New Guidebook for Pastors James W.
