Archaeology and History in Roman, Medieval and Post-Medieval Greece Linda Jones Hall, 2016-12-05 The essays in Archaeology and History in Roman Medieval and Post Medieval Greece honor the contributions of Timothy E Gregory to our understanding of Greece from the Roman period to modern times Evoking Gregory's diverse interests the volume brings together anthropologists art historians archaeologists historians and philologists to address such contested topics as the end of Antiquity the so called Byzantine Dark Ages the contours of the emerging Byzantine civilization and identity in post Medieval Greece These papers demonstrate the continued vitality of both traditional and innovative approaches to the study of material culture and emphasise that historical interpretation should be the product of methodological self awareness In particular this volume shows how the study of the material culture of post Classical Greece over the last 30 years has made significant contributions to both the larger archaeological and historical discourse The essays in this volume are organized under three headings Archaeology and Method the Archaeology of Identity and the Changing Landscape which highlight three main focuses of Gregory's research. Each essay interlaces new analyses with the contributions Gregory has made to our understanding of Medieval and Post Medieval Greece. Read together, these essays not only make a significant contribution to how we understand the post-Classical Greek world but also to how we study the material culture of the Mediterranean world more broadly.

Transnational Patriotism in the Mediterranean, 1800-1850 Konstantina Zanou, 2018. Transnational Patriotism in the Mediterranean charts the lives of those who lived along the shores of the Adriatic during the first half of the nineteenth century when the region was transformed from a Venetian lake into a battlefield between old and new imperial powers and where emerging nationalisms and nation states emerged.

Archaeologies of the Greek Past Susan E. Alcock, 2002-08-15. Social memory: the shared remembrances of group experience create shared identity and provide people with both an image of their past and a design for their future. But how are we to conceive the memories of past peoples such as, for example, the ancient Greeks? This 2002 book makes a strong case for the use of archaeology, particularly the evidence of landscape and of monuments, to trace patterns in commemoration and forgetfulness. Three detailed case studies—early Roman Greece, Hellenistic and Roman Crete, and Messenia in Archaic to Hellenistic times—focus on societies undergoing different types of social transformation. Material evidence allows us to observe how groups responded to these challenges and how they made different uses of the past in the past.
