Minoru Yamasaki and the Fragility of Architecture
Paul Kidder, 2021-07-18 Few figures in the American arts have stories richer in irony than does architect Minoru Yamasaki While his twin towers of New York's World Trade Center are internationally iconic few who know the icon recognize its architect's name or know much about his portfolio of more than 200 buildings One is tempted to call him America's most famous forgotten architect He was classed in the top tier of his profession in the 1950s and 60s as he carried modernism in novel directions yet today he is best known not for buildings that stand but for two projects that were destroyed under tragic circumstances the twin towers and the Pruitt Igoe housing project in St Louis This book undertakes a reinterpretation of Yamasaki's significance that combines architectural history with the study of his intersection with defining moments of American history and culture The story of the loss and vulnerability of Yamasaki's legacy illustrates the fragility of all architecture in the face of natural and historical forces yet in Yamasaki's view fragility is also a positive quality in architecture the source of its refinement beauty and humanity We learn something essential about architecture when we explore this tension of strength and fragility In the course of interpreting Yamasaki's architecture through the wide lens of the book we see the mid century role of Detroit as an industrial power and architectural mecca we follow a debate over public housing that entailed the creation and eventual destruction of many thousands of units we examine competing attempts to embody democratic ideals in architecture and to represent those ideals in foreign lands we ponder the consequences of anti Japanese prejudice and the masculism of the architectural profession we see Yamasaki's style criticized for its arid minimalism yet equally for its delicacy and charm we observe Yamasaki making a great name for himself in the Arab world but his twin towers ultimately destroyed by Islamic militants As this curious tale of ironies unfolds it invites reflection on the core of modern architecture's search for meaning and on the creative possibilities its legacy continues to offer Beautifully illustrated with over 100 color illustrations of Yamasaki's buildings this book will be of interest to students academics and professionals in a range of disciplines including architectural history architectural theory architectural preservation and urban design and planning Images of the Interior Philip Jones, 2011 During the half century from the 1890s to the 1940s the theme of the bush emerged as a formative element in a new Australian identity Assumptions about the Central Australian frontier and its people black and white then hardened into stereotypes that still affect our perceptions of this country The photographs in this book from the rich collections of the South Australian Museum take us behind those stereotypes to the reality of the frontier itself The photographers were seven remarkable men whose vocations took them into the heart of Central Australia long before tourism and colour photography transformed our view of the outback The photographers are Francis J Gillen Captain Samuel Albert White George Aiston Ernest Eugene Kramer Cecil John Hackett William Delano Walker and Rex Battarbee APAIS 1999: Australian public affairs information service, Bloody Bastard Beautiful Mocco Wollert, 2017 The frank and hilarious account of an immigrant girl who follows her German lover to Darwin Adventurous love able and laughable Mocco captures the heat and vibrance of Darwin and its larrikins in a decade where the Territory makes its own rules Christian Reflection in Africa Paul Bowers, 2018-07-05 This reference collection presents academic reviews of more than twelve hundred contemporary Africa related publications relevant for informed Christian reflection in and about Africa The collection is based on the review journal BookNotes for Africa a specialist resource dedicated to bringing to notice such publications and furnishing them with a one paragraph description and evaluation Now assembled here for the first time is the entire collection of reviews through the first thirty issues of the journal's history The core intention both of the journal and of this compilation is to encourage and to facilitate informed Christian reflection and engagement in Africa through a thoughtful encounter with the published intellectual life of the continent Reviews have been provided by a team of more than one hundred contributors drawn from throughout Africa and overseas The books and other media selected for review represent a broad cross section of interests and issues of personalities and interpretations including the secular as well as the religious The collection will be of special interest to academic scholars theological educators libraries ministry leaders and specialist researchers in Africa and throughout the world but will also engage any reader looking for a convenient resource relating to modern Africa and Christian presence there The Construction of Value in the Ancient World John K. Papadopoulos, Gary Urton, 2012-12-31 Recipient of the Jo Anne Stolaroff Cotsen Prize Scholars from Aristotle to Marx and beyond have been fascinated by the question of what constitutes value The Construction of Value in the Ancient World makes a significant contribution to this ongoing inquiry bringing together in one comprehensive volume the perspectives of leading anthropologists archaeologists historians linguists philologists and sociologists on how value was created defined and expressed in a number of ancient societies around the world Based on the basic premise that value is a social construct defined by the cultural context in which it is situated the volume explores four overarching but closely interrelated themes place value body value object value and number value The questions raised and addressed are of central importance to archaeologists studying ancient civilizations How can we understand the value that might have been accorded to materials objects people places and patterns of action by those who produced or used the things that compose the human material record Taken as a whole the contributions to this volume demonstrate how the concept of value lies at the intersection of individual and collective tastes desires sentiments and attitudes that inform the ways people select or give priority to one thing over another
