Abstract: In recent years, the India and the Pacific region has become an essential foreign policy focus for many countries around the world, as a new growth point in the global economy and a center of power interaction. The shift from the American “Return to Asia-Pacific” strategy to the “Indo-Pacific Strategy” reflects not only the expansion and deepening of the US policy framework in Asian region, but also the enhanced strategic role and changing attitude of India, as an opportunity and focus point for the construction of the new “Indo-Pacific Strategy” in this framework. For the time being, however, India’s strategic role is still constrained by many factors, both domestic and external. This paper will therefore analyze the reasoning for the change in American strategy toward the Indo-Pacific area as well as the evolving position of India within it, analyzing its role and potential in the area in the context of India’s situation.

Keywords: India, Indo-Pacific, China-India Relations

1. Introduction

1.1. Research Background

The 21st century has witnessed the accelerated growth of the Asia, as well as the Pacific region and the regional development of China and India, which has attracted the attention of Washington. The major US policy shift in Asia began with the Obama Administration’s Asia-Pacific Rebalancing Strategy, after which the America gradually ended the “Anti-Terrorism” operations waging around the world, reoriented its tactical concentration to the Asia and Pacific region. After Trump took office, he officially used the term “Indo-Pacific” in Government documents Unprecedentedly, replacing the traditional concept of “Asia-Pacific.” Moreover, eventually, Trump expanded it into the Indo-Pacific Strategy and made it a core principle in handling U.S. relations with Asia. Soon after Biden took office, he released the American Indo-Pacific Strategy Report, which fully inherited the Indo-Pacific

Reflections On United States Policy:

Reflections on Latin American Development Roberto de Oliveira Campos, 1967-12-12 Economic development has been an challenge facing the countries of Latin America Because the United States from the very nature of its geographic and economic relationship with its southern neighbors must inevitably exercise a strong influence on the course which that development takes it is important that North Americans understand conditions in Latin America and the attitudes of its peoples Roberto de Oliveira Campos former Brazilian Minister of Economic Planning is in a unique position to evaluate both past accomplishments and future problems In this group of essays Campos gives a comprehensive analysis of many aspects of Latin American development in the mid twentieth century He examines relations between the United States and Latin America from a variety of angles and he outlines the basic problems of economic development of governmental policy and of public and private administration He gives particular attention in several essays to the relationship of foreign trade and foreign aid to economic development and he presents a long discussion of the Alliance for Progress its history its purposes its accomplishments and its failures Campos s philosophy regarding the role of the state in economic development and other questions emerges clearly from these pithy essays The valid distinction I see on the basis of my analysis of men and things is between pragmatic or functional nationalists and romantic or temperamental nationalists he writes The latter confuse intention with results They start with enthusiasm and end in fanaticism this being according to Santayana the art of redoubling efforts after losing sight of objectives Many romantic nationalists though they do not confess it favor the dangerous purgery of revolution The pragmatic nationalist seeks to operate within the frame of democratic institutions and prefers reform to revolution As to myself I shall continue considering myself a pragmatic nationalist I renounce the temptation of mobilizing resentment in order to gain the authority to plan development I would rather strengthen the national entrepreneur than merely antagonize the foreigner I would want the state not to do what it cannot do in order to do what it should do I prefer to love my own country rather than to hate the others Burke: Reflections on the revolution in France. 1921 Edmund Burke, 1881
