Practice in Geography Teaching Ashley Kent, 2001-01-26 This book provides a comprehensive overview of contemporary thought and practice in teaching geography It is designed to support continuing professional development and reflective practice in geography education by encouraging a critical understanding of the literature and concepts stimulating teachers to continue with personal and professional development and providing professionally relevant knowledge understanding skills and values Drawn from a wide range of eminent geographers and experienced practitioners the authors cover progress in geography changing viewpoints the geography curriculum development planning and issues research and geography teaching why and how research matters Thi Reflective Teaching of Geography 11-18 Graham Butt, 2002-10-11 THIS IS THE SERIES BLURB LIST ALL BOOKS TOGETHER Continuum Studies in Reflective Practice and Research is a new series of textbooks aimed at teaching students As with Andrew Pollard s books they use the idiom of reflective teaching In other words they avoids the two extreme views about learning to teach namely that it is best done simply through acquiring practical tricks of the trade without any theory or that it is best done applying sytematized objective theory The distinctive feature of relective teaching is that it encourages practitioners to develop by continually inter relating theory and research findings to their own practice situation and style These comprehensive textbooks provide an accessible guide to all those who are new to teaching in secondary schools Covering all aspects of job from planning through to teaching and assessment the authors provide constructive accessible and above all practical advice to help subject teachers become more effective in their work

International Handbook on Geographical Education Rod Gerber, 2013-03-09 I am very pleased to have been asked by Rod Gerber to provide a preface to such a book Not least because of the twenty four chapters eight are written by former students or colleagues with whom I have worked in the past and whom I still meet at conferences on geographical education It is with a certain pride and joy that I note the progress which has been made in geographical education both in its day to day teaching and in research in the twenty years following the end of my term of office as Chair of the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union CGEIUG My successors Joe Stoltman Hartwig Haubrich Rod Gerber and now Lea Houtsonen have done much and are continuing to work hard to foster the development of geographical education This book is proof if proof were needed that the international collaboration in this field is alive and well with contributions coming from all the continents except Antarctica It would be a moribund subject that remained unaffected in one way or another by developments on the great world stage as Fairgrieve 1926 would have put it And as Rod Gerber shows the issues of globalisation of cultural encounters of differing value systems of new technologies of variable economic development and of environmental quality all feature as topics which influence and are influenced by geographical education

Global Perspectives in the Geography Curriculum Alex Standish, 2008-10-07 For geographers across the globe this book provides the arguments for a return to the teaching of geography and why they should reject the politicisation of the subject by education policy makers and politicians Standish s careful critique shows the necessity of a depoliticised geography curriculum the irony of which would be that it would ensure that every child could point to Iraq Iran and Afghanistan on a map Prof Dennis Hayes Oxford Brookes University UK A prescient and critical analysis of the changing face of geography teaching This book deserves to be widely read and debated Alex Standish s book puts current trends in geography teaching in historical and critical context It comprises a forthright and timely defence of geographical education for its own sake Dr Jim Butcher FRSA

Department of Sport Science Tourism and Leisure Canterbury Christ Church University Since the early 1990s educational policy makers and some subject leaders have been seeking to fundamentally change the teaching of geography in UK and US schools from a subject which encourages students to explore spatial concepts ideas and skills to a more ethics based subject concerned with the promotion of environmentalism cultural diversity and social justice In this book the new approach is critically examined within a historical and ideological context addressing a number of fundamental questions Should geography be used as a tool for the delivery of citizenship ideals How does this affect the intellectual and moral value of geographical education for young people If the state and teachers are taking more responsibility for the values attitudes and emotional responses of students how will they learn to develop these qualities for themselves If global perspectives shift the focus of education from learning about the outside world to learning about the self what is its vision of social progress and conception of social change This book advocates a return to liberal models of education arguing that the new approach to geography currently being promoted for schools fundamentally undermines the educational value of the subject and the freedom of young people to shape the world in which they live A vital resource for teachers and student teachers alike
