The Declining Significance of Gender? Francine D. Blau, Mary C Brinton, David B. Grusky, 2006-05-11 The last half century has witnessed substantial change in the opportunities and rewards available to men and women in the workplace While the gender pay gap narrowed and female labor force participation rose dramatically in recent decades some dimensions of gender inequality most notably the division of labor in the family have been more resistant to change or have changed more slowly in recent years than in the past These trends suggest that one of two possible futures could lie ahead an optimistic scenario in which gender inequalities continue to erode or a pessimistic scenario where contemporary institutional arrangements persevere and the gender revolution stalls In The Declining Significance of Gender editors Francine Blau Mary Brinton and David Grusky bring together top gender scholars in sociology and economics to make sense of the recent changes in gender inequality and to judge whether the optimistic or pessimistic view better depicts the prospects and bottlenecks that lie ahead It examines the economic organizational political and cultural forces that have changed the status of women and men in the labor market The contributors examine the economic assumption that discrimination in hiring is economically inefficient and will be weeded out eventually by market competition They explore the effect that family organizational policies have had in drawing women into the workplace and giving them even footing in the organizational hierarchy Several chapters ask whether political interventions might reduce or increase gender inequality and others discuss whether a social ethos favoring egalitarianism is working to overcome generations of discriminatory treatment against women Although there is much rhetoric about the future of gender inequality The Declining Significance of Gender provides a sustained attempt to consider analytically the forces that are shaping the gender revolution Its wide ranging analysis of contemporary gender disparities will stimulate readers to think more deeply and in new ways about the extent to which gender remains a major fault line of inequality Humanistic

Aspects of Technical Communication Paul. M. Dombrowski, 2020-11-25 This book has two audiences and purposes The first audience comprises teachers of technical communication and graduate and undergraduate students commonly from English programs and without technical backgrounds The purpose for them is to introduce technical communication from the avenue of humanities with which many are familiar and allied The book serves them as an adjunct to conventional textbooks The second audience comprises scholars and practicing professionals already familiar with technical communication The purpose for them is to provide a handy collection with introduction of significant essays on recent humanistic developments

Gender, Work, and Harness Racing Elizabeth Anne Larsen, 2014-11-19 While gender equality has progressed in many sports since the second wave of the feminist movement in terms of women's inclusion participation and success harness horse racing has been recalcitrant to change Gender Work and Harness Racing Fast Horses and Strong Women in Southwestern Pennsylvania investigates the stories of women involved in harness racing to expose how they use the uniqueness of their situation to work for positive change With stirring accounts of the strong women who are surviving and sometimes succeeding in harness horse racing Elizabeth Anne Larsen's analysis provides insight for studies of gender and work occupational sex segregation and women's studies After Eden Mary Stewart Van Leeuwen, 1993 Written by an interdisciplinary team of scholars this substantial volume offers a wide ranging examination from a Christian perspective of the many complexities surrounding gender relations showing how they have changed and how they still need to change if we are to be the men and women God meant us to be No other book treats the systemic embedding of gender issues in all areas of life
