Richard Wilson The Landscape Of Reaction By Solkin David H:

Richard Wilson David H. Solkin, Richard Wilson, Tate Gallery, 1982 Published for the exhibition at the Tate Gallery 3 November 1982 2 January 1983 Landscape between Ideology and the Aesthetic Andrew Hemingway, 2016-11-28 At a time of growing interest in relations between Marxism and Romanticism Andrew Hemingway's essays on British art and art theory reopen the question of Romantic painting's ideological functions and in some cases its critical purchase Half the volume exposes the voices of competing class interests in aesthetics and art theory in the tumultuous years of British history between the American Revolution and the 1832 Parliamentary Reform Act Half offers new perspectives on works by some of the most important landscape painters of the time John Constable J M W Turner John Crome and John Sell Cotman Four essays are hitherto unpublished and the remainder have been updated and in several cases substantially rewritten for this volume

The Non-Representation of the Agricultural Labourers in 18th and 19th Century English Paintings

Penelope McElwee, 2016-02-08 The life of the poor rural worker appears to have been one of unmitigated toil within an unequal society a reality seldom endorsed in paintings of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries The contemporary viewer who constituted less than three per cent of the population wished to see visions of the idyllic golden landscapes of Merrie England peopled by happy contented workers or alternatively images of the Big House a feature and phenomenon now marching over the countryside fed by a new building frenzy This particular element would soon evolve into an all consuming preoccupation for the wealthy throughout the period Members of the upper echelons of society with their families all attired in fine silks and satins look out at their audience from ornately framed canvases as individuals Yet the rural poor the rabble at the gates the unseen workforce who toiled at the behest of the Master are virtually unknown They have left few records Enclosure came at a price The Poorhouse beckoned And still the agricultural labourer did virtually nothing for most of the eighteenth century to protest or rebel against the inequalities of his downtrodden existence Only the dreaded behemoth of the nineteenth century the threshing machine would stir him into action How would it end

Gender and the Formation of Taste in Eighteenth-Century Britain Robert W. Jones, 1998-07-02 Beauty is one of the most important and intriguing ideas in eighteenth century culture In Gender and the Formation of Taste in Eighteenth Century Britain Robert Jones provides a fresh understanding of how emergent critical discourses negotiated with earlier accounts of taste and beauty in order to redefine culture in line with the polite virtues of the urban middle classes Crucially the ability to form opinions on questions of beauty and the capacity to enter into debates on its nature was thought to characterise those able to participate in cultural discourse Furthermore the term beauty was frequently invoked in various and contradictory ways to determine acceptable behaviour for women In his book Jones discusses a wide range of material including philosophical texts by William Hogarth and Edmund Burke and Joshua Reynolds novels by Charlotte Lennox and Sarah Scott and the many representations of the celebrated beauty Elizabeth Gunning British Paintings in the Metropolitan Museum of Art

Washington Irving's Critique of American Culture J. Woodrow McCree, 2021-06-24 Washington Irving's Critique of American Culture Sketching a Vision of World Citizenship challenges long standing views of Washington Irving He has been portrayed as writing in the 18th century style of Addison and Goldsmith without having much substance of his own Irving has also been accused of being insufficiently American and adrift in an identity crisis The author argues that Irving addressed the American cultural context very extensively he was a writer of substance who articulated an ethic of world citizenship that was found in the philosophy of ancient Greek cynics and stoics This ethic was united with a love of picturesque travel which emphasized variety and texture in experience resulting in an extraordinary affirmation of the value of cultural diversity in the new Republic Irving was in fact a liminal figure straddling Romantic and neoclassical modes of writing and acting The author draws attention to Irving's success as a writer in the pictorial mode Irving also expressed a critique of cultural loss and environmental destruction like that articulated by the artist Thomas Cole The work embraces an interdisciplinary approach where insights from philosophy religion art history and social history shed light on an underestimated writer

The Iconography of Landscape Denis Cosgrove, Stephen Daniels, 1988 This book first published in 1988 draws together fourteen scholars from diverse disciplines to explicate the status of landscape as a cultural image

"The Concept of the 'Master' in Art Education in Britain and Ireland, 1770 to the Present" Matthew C. Potter, 2017-07-05 A novel investigation into art pedagogy and constructions of national identities in Britain and Ireland this collection explores the student master relationship in case studies ranging chronologically from 1770 to 2013 and geographically over the national art schools of England Ireland Scotland and Wales Essays explore the manner in which the Old Masters were deployed in education fuelled the individual creativity of art teachers and students were used as a rhetorical tool for promoting cultural projects in the core and periphery of the British Isles and united as well as divided opinions in response to changing expectations in discourse on art and education Case studies examined in this book include the sophisticated tradition of academic inquiry of establishment figures like Joshua Reynolds and Frederic Leighton as well as examples of radical reform undertaken by key individuals in the history of art education such as Edward Poynter and William Coldstream The role of Modern Masters like William Orpen Augustus John Gwen John and Jeff Wall is also discussed along with the need for students and teachers to master the realm of art theory in their studio based learning environments and the ultimate pedagogical repercussions of postmodern assaults on the academic bastions of the Old Masters

From Gainsborough to Constable, 1991 This is the catalogue to the exhibition held in summer 1991 at Gainsborough House Sudbury focusing on Constable and the artists whose work was important to him in his formative years Gainsborough Wilson Beaumont and Farington This exhibition complements the 1991 Tate Gallery exhibition which omits Constable's early work Gainsborough's Vision Amal Asfour, Dr Paul Williamson, Paul Williamson, 1999-01-01 Thomas Gainsborough one of the most popular British painters has been celebrated as a landscapist a portrait painter and a man of feeling whose impetuous character is revealed in his art life and letters This book reveals that the style themes and ideas of Gainsborough's paintings constitute purposeful expressions of an intellectual and visual culture whose importance in the development of eighteenth century British art has gone unrecognized Amal Asfour and Paul Williamson have set out to make us look more knowledgeably at the paintings of Gainsborough their treatment is richly informative George Steiner The Observer Asfour and Williamson display a profound knowledge of 18th century aesthetics a highly stimulating book The British Art Journal
