Dogs' Tales Hugh Gerald Arthur Roberts, 2006 Sleeping rough having sex in public and insulting the most powerful men in the world earned the ancient Cynic or dog philosophers fame and infamy in antiquity and beyond This book reveals that French Renaissance texts feature a rich and varied set of responses to the Dogs including especially Diogenes of Sinope 4th century B C whose life was a subversive performance combining wisdom and wisecracks Cynicism is a special case in the renewal of interest in ancient philosophy at this time owing to its transmission through jokes and anecdotes The Cynics curious combination of seduction and sedition goes a long way to account for both the excitement and the tension that they generate in Renaissance texts Responses to the extreme and deliberately marginal philosophical stance of the Dogs cast light back on the mainstream revealing cultural attitudes tensions and uncertainties Above all representations of Cynicism constitute a site for the exploration of strange and paradoxical ideas in playful and humorous ways This is true of both major writers including Erasmus Rabelais and Montaigne and of dozens of other less well known but fascinating figures This book will be of interest to students and scholars of intellectual and literary history

Ecocinema in the City Robin L. Murray, Joseph K. Heumann, 2017-11-15 In Ecocinema in the City Murray and Heumann argue that urban ecocinema both reveals and critiques visions of urban environmentalism The book emphasizes the increasingly transformative power of nature in urban settings explored in both documentaries and fictional films such as Children Underground White Dog Hatari and Lives Worth Living The first two sections Evolutionary Myths Under the City and Urban Eco trauma take more traditional ecocinema approaches and emphasize the city as a dangerous constructed space The last two sections Urban Nature and Interdependence and The Sustainable City however bring to life the vibrant relationships between human and nonhuman nature Ecocinema in the City provides a space to explore these relationships revealing how ecocinema shows that both human and nonhuman nature can interact sustainably and thrive

Tales from a Dog Catcher Lisa Duffy-Korpics, 2009-04-01 The Cold War had recently drawn to a close and Lisa Duffy Korpics's career as a dogcatcher would soon be history too but for very different reasons and indeed with infinitely more pleasant memories In Tales from a Dog

Catcher she brings together these experiences in a magical book that is funny touching and heartrending by turns Set in a small Hudson River town north of New York City this book comprises twenty two real life stories about people and their experiences with animals stories that both entertain and charm and feature all creatures great and small from plenty of dogs and cats and peeping Tom raccoons to a duck and a turkey and an imagined mountain lion Animal lovers of all kinds can read how A decades long feud between two longtime enemies who use each other s dogs to hurt each other culminates in a dramatic courtroom battle where they unwittingly end up helping each other A call on an elderly woman to surrender twenty three cats provokes a surprising revelation A language and culture barrier yields a situation where a woman ends up watering her cats like plants All ends well save for some damp kittens but the laughter continues for miles The police chief forces the animal control officer ACO into a presentation at the local high school for students with behavioral problems After a few awkward moments the ACO finds herself at ease Drawn to these engaging teenagers she realizes that sometimes what you are meant to do in life is not always something that you choose Sometimes it chooses you In the tradition of James Herriot s All Creatures Great and Small and John Grogan s Marley Me Lisa Duffy Korpics s Tales from a Dog Catcher is an unforgettable look at the lives of everyday people and animals who whether by accident or design come into contact with the sad comical and often profound world of an animal control officer

Shaggy Dog Tales Paul Ress, 2006-10-24 The stories and the anecdotes in this book illustrate two kinds of journalism over a period of more than half a century During a span of almost 30 years as a journalist for major media I was convinced that there was no life after journalism Even losing my job as a reporter three times did not change my mind What did alter my outlook was the discovery of international and non governmental environmental and public health organizations in and around the United Nations in Geneva that were doing good things Writing about their activities and seeing them reported not in one newspaper or magazine but in hundreds of publications and on radio and television stations around the world was a satisfying experience It was journalistic writing and sometimes the press releases and feature stories really did make things move Two examples A simple World Health Organization press release on arsenic in the drinking water in Bangladesh led to an investigation on the spot by a reporter of a major American newspaper His syndicated story caught the attention of a Nordic government which agreed to finance efforts to try to rid the wells of the arsenic Another story for UNICEF this time concerned premature or underweight babies in Colombia in a region where hospitals had no incubators The mother carried her baby close to her body beneath her sweater or dress rather like a kangaroo with a baby in her pouch It saved their lives They came to be known as kangaroo babies A respected large circulation British newspaper read the feature sent a team with a doctor a nurse a reporter and a photographer to Colombia and published a big cover story on the technique in their Sunday magazine Articles about kangaroo babies keep popping up here and there and the kangaroo system has spread
