Rio De Janeiro Time Life:

The Brazil Chronicles Stephen G. Bloom, 2024-11-18 Winner of the 2025 AEJMC Knudson Latin America Prize As a young journalist at the Brazil Herald from 1979-81 Stephen G. Bloom spent his early professional years working in Rio's seedy Lapa district surrounded by fugitives, drug runners, pornographers, and stealth CIA agents. Bloom shares the wild story of this English language newspaper in The Brazil Chronicles. The expat newspaper was a breeding ground for a different kind of storyteller: audacious risk takers who told madcap tales of Amazon plantations, Confederate emigres, and lost Indian tribes. Several renowned journalists cut their teeth at the Brazil Herald, including acclaimed New York Times correspondent Tad Szulc, Huffington Post CEO Eric Hippeau, and an untamed Gonzo reporter by the name of Hunter S. Thompson. Drawing from extensive archival research and more than 150 interviews with his former colleagues, Bloom's eye-opening narrative dive is both entertaining and academically rigorous. With a backdrop of coups, nonstop political instability, censorship, hyperinflation, and weekends at sultry Ipanema Beach, The Brazil Chronicles doubles as a coming-of-age memoir following young Bloom as he embarks on his quest to become a foreign correspondent, relocating to a foreign country to pursue "under the radar" stories and tall tales. His firsthand experience provides an insider's eye witness account of the newspaper's colorful history, transporting the reader to its sweltering newsroom and delving into the multifarious lives of its eclectic trailblazing polyglot staff. Even as Bloom weaves between personal narrative history and accounts from journalism luminaries, it's clear who the book's main character is: the one of a kind newspaper itself.

Brazilian Bulletin, 1957 Daily Report, Foreign Radio Broadcasts United States. Central Intelligence Agency, 1966 Magic and Management G. Caravantes, W. Bjur, 2003-03-31

Whereas many recommend a paradigm change in order to cope with modern complexities, Caravantes and Bjur urge executives not to change their operating paradigms but rather to become paradigm competent—that is, knowledgeable and competent in several ways of understanding and analyzing the working world. Four major paradigms are described: positive science, quantum physics, oriental mysticism, and existentialism. The authors recognize that executives often are obligated to make important choices despite insufficient data and the inability to predict future outcomes. Hunches that one action is to be preferred over others are examples of high-level managers making use of more than rational intuitions defined as knowing without knowing how you know. The authors think of this as a kind of subconscious magic, not taught or developed in the curricula of schools of management where the emphasis is on technical rationality and technique. The authors emphasize the importance of subconscious perceptions in enabling an executive's access to infraconscious, extra-rational, or magic capabilities and discuss some modern techniques that can be used to enhance an executive's magic and charisma. Magic and Management is a fourth book co-authored by Bjur and Caravantes, until now unpublished and marketed in Brazil. Their work is based on three decades of multi-cultural analysis and observation of management theory as it is practiced in many different countries. This work is designed for the experienced manager who desires to enhance personal knowledge and discover inherent possibly hidden abilities to excel in leadership
