Writing Carmen Luz Fuentes-Vásquez, 2013 This book examines the literary construction of personal identity through autobiographical narratives by three significant writers analysed together for the first time the Scottish Willa Muir 1890 1970 the Canadian Margaret Laurence 1926 1987 and the New Zealander Janet Frame 1924 2004 These apparently dissimilar authors suffered not only geographical but also political marginality they were women from the working class or struggling middle class striving to be considered as professional writers and emerging from countries that might be felt to be under the shadows of economic and political world powers such as England and the United States During their lifetimes they exerted themselves to overcome prejudices about class gender and ethnicity They experienced war and the post war era and lived through most of the twentieth century being accurate witnesses and critics of their times As it discusses major writers who are iconic for the development of the literatures of their respective countries this book also attracts readers who are interested in learning more about the lives of these remarkable women the way their socio historical and geographical circumstances affected their writing and how they expressed such concerns in their autobiographies and other fictional and non fictional works besides considering them in relation to contemporary women writers and autobiographers who underwent similar experiences Signifying Pain Judith Harris, 2012-02-01 A deeply personal yet universal work

Signifying Pain applies the principles of therapeutic writing to such painful life experiences as mental illness suicide racism domestic abuse and even genocide Probing deep into the bedrock of literary imagination Judith Harris traces the odyssey of a diverse group of writers John Keats Derek Walcott Jane Kenyon Michael S Harper Robert Lowell and Ai as well as student writers who have used their writing to work through and past such personal traumas Drawing on her own experience as a poet and teacher Harris shows how the process can be long and arduous but that when exercised within the spirit of one's own personal compassion the results can be limitless Signifying Pain will be of interest not only to teachers of creative and therapeutic writing but also to those with a critical interest in autobiographical or confessional writing more generally
