The Development of the Italian Schools of Painting Raimond Van Marie, 2013-06-29 At the outset of this work I thought it possible that I might have to lay down my pen at the end of the fifth volume but it is with considerable pleasure I learn that my readers have been in great enough number and sufficiently satisfied with the work for my editor and myself to continue the enterprise and undertake a study of the fifteenth century similar to that which has already appeared on the fourteenth The spontaneous manifestations of sympathy that I have received from many different countries give me the impression that there exists a group of readers who will not be disappointed to hear of my intention to continue this history of Italian painting at least until the end of the fifteenth century which is a period not in any way less glorious than those with which I have already dealt I should like to give one word of warning to the authorities of galleries and to private collectors who of late have started buying pictures of the thirteenth century Notwithstanding the fact that the interest in this form of art is of recent date the amount of factitious paintings of this period is already very considerable Many of them are half length figures of the Madonna painted on late Byzantine panels of the same subject Greek Madonnas of the sixteenth and seven teenth centuries are in this way transformed into Italian pictures of the thirteenth

The Development of the Italian Schools of Painting Raimond Van Marle, 2013-03-14

The preparation of this volume and of those that have stiU to foUow necessitated a fairly long sojourn in Great Britain and I feel that I must express my gratitude to an those with whom I carne in contact for the continuation of this work Here I should like to convey my personal appre ciation which I feeI sure is shared by every historian of art of the kindness of Sir Robert and Lady Witt whose collec tion incredibly rich in reproductions of works of art is open to students in a manner which is as cordial as it is useful My relations with private collectors and with the officials of museums and other collections will always remain a very happy souvenir and once more I wish to thank more par ticularly Mr Arthur M Hind of the Print Room of the British Museum for all that he did to facilitate my study of this marvellous collection of drawings and prints Sa1 1
