thought Such a perspective suggests that the past and future inhabit the present increase the depth of sensory perception itself and enrich the range of our affective and ethical responses Grounded in the lived experience of reading this perspective offers an alternative to an idea of intertextuality as simply following lines of influence and appropriation It focuses on the expansion of experience created by telling and retelling stories Ironically for literary theorists and critics perhaps the highest form of both praise and critique is a tale retold since such retellings attest to literature s instructive power and its perennial regeneration
