E. Massengill, 1999-10-01 Few places in the United States can compare to the natural beauty and grace of Western North Carolina a combination of picturesque mountain ranges rolling foothills and lush valleys At the turn of the century the visual splendor of the Appalachians and clean mountain air drew thousands upon thousands of visitors including a large number of photographers to the region's many health resorts hotels hiking trails and small towns Like explorers of old these photographers went out into the North Carolina wilderness carrying their bulky photographic contraptions and glass plate negatives in hopes of sharing its spectacular scenes with the rest of the nation Using cameras equipped with twin lenses mounted about 2.5 inches apart which created almost identical images these photographers created stereoscopic views or stereo views double images placed on a rigid card which were then viewed through a hand held stereoscope and resulted in the person experiencing a three dimensional effect In Western North Carolina A Visual Journey Through Stereo Views and Photographs you will see these professional photographers hard work a wonderful collection of images capturing the unspoiled beauty of the region such as pictures of waterfalls rivers forests and mountain ranges views of local people at work and at play snapshots of early railroad construction and panoramas of the growing mountain communities such as Bakersville Hot Springs Lenoir Old Fort Hendersonville and Asheville     North Carolina Women Michele Gillespie, Sally G.

McMillen, 2015-07-01 By the twentieth century North Carolina's progressive streak had strengthened thanks in large part to a growing number of women who engaged in and influenced state and national policies and politics These women included Gertrude Weil who fought tirelessly for the Nineteenth Amendment which extended suffrage to women and founded the state chapter of the League of Women Voters once the amendment was ratified in 1920 Gladys Avery Tillett an ardent Democrat and supporter of Roosevelt's New Deal became a major presence in her party at both the state and national levels Guion Griffis Johnson turned to volunteer work in the postwar years becoming one of the state's most prominent female civic leaders Through her excellent education keen legal mind and family prominence Susie Sharp in 1949 became the first woman judge in North Carolina and in 1974 the first woman in the nation to be elected and serve as chief justice of a state supreme court Throughout her life the Reverend Dr Anna Pauline Pauli Murray charted a religious literary and political path to racial reconciliation on both a national stage and in North Carolina This is the second of two volumes that together explore the diverse and changing patterns of North Carolina women's lives The essays in this volume cover the period beginning with women born in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries but who made their greatest contributions to the social political cultural legal and economic life of the state during the late progressive era through the late twentieth century
