Nature Experiments Anthony D. Fredericks, 2005 Presents simple experiments demonstrating environmental concepts such as erosion aeration and animal camouflage

Nonfiction Readers Theatre for Beginning Readers Anthony D. Fredericks, 2007-04-30 Teachers and librarians are continually looking for an interesting fun way to input content knowledge to build that background information which will help push up student expository reading scores Nonfiction readers theatre is one way to accomplish this Professor Fredericks offers 30 short nonfiction readers theatre plays for the young reader grades 1 3 on topics ranging from earth and natural science to community helpers holidays and government Test scores across the country show American students are far more able to read narrative than nonfiction text Some research speculates this is due to a great lack in the background knowledge of many children Librarians are beginning to realize that a unique fit for the school librarian is as a provider of background knowledge materials for teachers to use

The Teacher's Handbook Anthony D. Fredericks, 2010-01-16 Good teaching is much more than a college degree and a collection of lesson plans This book is unique in that it focuses on the basic and essential elements of quality teaching It s designed specifically for teachers both novice and experienced looking for down to earth practical answers to their questions and concerns From the first day to assessment and from homework to classroom management this book has it all The Teacher s Handbook an all in one sourcebook of practical ideas and solutions provides simple convenient strategies for every classroom teacher A creative range of inside information is offered for teachers to dip into and savor for their professional and personal pursuits The Teacher s Handbook is organized for hungry teachers a veritable smorgasbord of possibilities to taste and test as part of a sumptuous professional feast

Chemistry Experiments Louis V. Loesching, 2005-11 Kids can create their own chemistry lab right at home with the most ordinary equipment and this brightly illustrated collection of fun experiments Could you ever imagine that whipping up some sweet maple candy could teach you about science It does Or try to put a banana in a jar without using your hands Some of the projects even have practical uses as you re learning about negative and positive charged molecules you re also creating marbled gift wrap From berry easy litmus paper to exothermic exercises these experiments will transform you into a chemistry whiz

Theory, and Knowledge in the Managerial and Organizational Sciences Eliezer Geisler, 1999-06-30 Geisler argues that the over reliance on co variation techniques and statistical methods instead of process approach and in depth analysis produces meaningless knowledge in the managerial and organizational sciences and indeed throughout all the social sciences He offers instead a new and different approach based on the notion of what he calls dynamic morphologies an architecture of slicing complex phenomena This way it is possible to explain many inconsistencies in research findings and to find a cohesive systematic outlook on research research design and knowledge creation Intellectually challenging and following in the footsteps of Kuhn Argyris and Popper Geisler s approach is frankly revolutionary in research design and contains its own notions terms and nomenclature A provocative discussion for academics and others well trained in the organizational managerial and social sciences Geisler s dynamic morphologies provide a means to research complex phenomena and gain knowledge about them They are composed of a chain of events combined logically and temporally and a method by which this process is studied Geisler also contends that knowledge in the organizational and managerial sciences is only viable when it describes and explains the complex higher order phenomena Therefore theory building and research in these fields must be linked to higher order constructs and the phenomena that they attempt to explain This is the central notion of amplitude that Geisler introduces and describes His book also criticizes the evolutionary epistemology view of knowledge creation and contends that knowledge in all of these fields of study in general is not evolutionary but instead cumulative and expansive

Science News-letter ,1965 Hearings United States. Congress. House,1937 Science Digest ,1985 Rules without Rights Tim Bartley,2018-02-08 Activists have exposed startling forms of labor exploitation and environmental degradation in global industries leading many large retailers and brands to adopt standards for fairness and sustainability This book is about the idea that transnational corporations can push these standards through their global supply chains and in effect pull factories forests and farms out of their local contexts and up to global best practices For many scholars and practitioners this kind of private regulation and global standard setting can provide an alternative to regulation by territorially bound gridlocked or incapacitated nation states potentially improving environments and working conditions around the world and protecting the rights of exploited workers impoverished farmers and marginalized communities But can private voluntary standards actually create meaningful forms of regulation Are forests and factories around the world actually being made into sustainable ecosystems and decent workplaces Can global norms remake local orders This book provides striking new answers by comparing the private regulation of land and labor in democratic and authoritarian settings Case studies of sustainable forestry and fair labour standards in Indonesia and China show not only how transnational standards are implemented on the ground but also how they are constrained and reconfigured by domestic governance Combining rich multi method analyses a powerful comparative approach and a new theory of private regulation Rules without Rights reveals the contours and contradictions of transnational governance Transformations in Governance is a major new academic book series from Oxford University Press It is designed to accommodate the impressive growth of research in comparative politics international relations public policy federalism environmental and urban studies concerned with the dispersion of authority from central states up to supranational institutions down to subnational governments and side ways to public private networks It brings together work that significantly advances our understanding of the organization causes and consequences of multilevel and complex governance The series is selective containing annually a small number of books of exceptionally high quality by leading and emerging scholars The series targets mainly single authored or co authored work but it is pluralistic in terms of disciplinary specialization research design method and geographical scope Case studies as well as comparative studies historical as well as contemporary studies and studies with a national regional or international focus are all central to its aims Authors use qualitative quantitative formal modeling or mixed methods A trade mark of the books is that they combine scholarly rigour with readable prose and an attractive production style The series is edited by Liesbet Hooghe and Gary Marks of the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill and Walter Mattli of the University of Oxford An Introductory Course in Science for Colleges ... Frank Covert Jean,Fred Louis Herman,1934
