Not So Very Nice Goings On At Victoria Lodge:

The Not-so-very-nice-goings-on at Victoria Lodge Philip Ardagh, 2004 Whilst flipping through issues of The Girl's Own Paper from the 1890s it gradually dawned on Philip Ardagh that he was witnessing tantalising glimpses of an unfolding story of mystery and intrigue in the seemingly unrelated illustrations With these original illustrations and his brand spanking new text he's created the quite extraordinary very funny and unashamedly silly The Not So Very Nice Goings On at Victoria Lodge destined to become an immediate family favourite in houses and flats across the nation In writing The Not So Very Nice Goings On at Victoria Lodge Philip Ardagh follows in the grand tradition of E V Lucas and George Morrow and their 1911 book What A Life which was based on a heavily doctored Whiteley's store catalogue Woody Allen's What's Up Tiger Lily an existing Japanese film for which he created a completely new plot and dialogue and those caption competitions you used to find in the back of Punch

Neo-Victorian Humour, 2017-06-06 This volume highlights humour's crucial role in shaping historical re-visions of the long nineteenth century through modes ranging from subtle irony camp excess ribald farce and aesthetic parody to blackly comic narrative games It analyses neo-Victorian humour's politicisation its ideological functions and ethical implications across varied media including fiction drama film webcomics and fashion Contemporary humour maps the assumed distance between postmodernity and its targeted nineteenth century referents only to repeatedly collapse the same in a seemingly self-defeating nihilistic project This collection explores how neo-Victorian humour generates empathy and effective socio-political critique dispensing symbolic justice but also risks recycling the past's invidious ideologies under the politically correct guise of comic debunking even to the point of negating laughter itself This rich and innovative collection invites us to reflect on the complex and various deployments of humour in neo-Victorian texts where its consumers may wish at times that they could swallow back the laughter a scene or event provokes It covers a range of approaches to humour utilised by neo-Victorian writers dramatists graphic novelists and filmmakers including the deliberately and pompously unfunny the traumatic the absurd the ribald and the frankly distasteful producing a richly satisfying anthology of innovative readings of canonical neo-Victorian texts as well as those which are potential generic outliers The collection explores what is funny in the neo-Victorian and who we are laughing at the Victorians as we like to imagine them or ourselves in ways we rarely acknowledge This is a celebration of the parodic playfulness of a wide range of texts from fiction to fashion whilst offering a trenchant critique of the politics of postmodern laughter that will appeal to those working in adaptation studies gender and queer studies as well as literary and cultural studies more generally Prof Imelda Whelehan University of Tasmania Australia
