Landing a Job Supplemental Staffing and the Changing Structure of Nurse Employment Lauren Leroy,1985
The Costs and Effectiveness of Nurse Practitioners Lauren LeRoy,1981 Love's Sweet Design Frances Engle Wilson,1987 The Challenges of Nursing Stroke Management in Rehabilitation Centres Bianca Buijck, Gerard Ribbers,2018-07-05 This volume provides integral knowledge of all aspects of stroke care and rehabilitation after stroke and is therefore highly relevant for nurses who work in rehabilitation centers It outlines the several phases after stroke for example the type of care patients may receive in the chronically phase at home Nurses will obtain knowledge about treatment importance of observation and caring with a special focus on communication problems swallowing problems activities of daily living urinary and defecation problems shoulder and hand issues Thanks to photographs nurses will learn to transfer patients in the adequate positions Several chapters provide nurses with examples of effective and efficient collaboration with multidisciplinary professionals informal caregivers and patients themselves There is also an emphasis on behavior and cognitive functioning And lastly in the final chapters authors highlight the organization of rehabilitation and integrated care issues Nurses play a very important role in rehabilitation education counseling prevention and caring for patients with cerebrovascular accident CVA In caring for stroke patients nurses need specific competences and abilities that go beyond the general neurologic knowledge and experience Nurses need to collaborate in an efficient and effective manner with multidisciplinary team members in their organization and across organizations This book discusses medical aspects and specific symptoms of a stroke as well as the limitations that patients experience and which interventions are indicated for recovery Health Care in Crisis Theresa Morris,2018-07-17 An inside look into how hospitals nurses and patients are faring under the Affordable Care Act More and more not for profit hospitals are becoming financially unstable and being acquired by large hospital systems The effects range from not having necessary life saving equipment to losing the most experienced nurses to better jobs at other hospitals In Health Care in Crisis Theresa Morris takes an in depth look at how this unintended consequence of the Affordable Care Act plays out in a non profit hospital s obstetrical ward Based on ethnographic observations of and in depth interviews with obstetrical nurses and hospital administrators at a community not for profit hospital in New England Health Care in Crisis examines how nurses care of patients changed over the three year period in which the Affordable Care Act was implemented state Medicaid funds to hospitals were slashed and hospitals were being acquired by a for profit hospital system Morris explains how the tumultuous political economic changes have challenged obstetrical nurses who are at the front lines of providing care for women during labor and birth In the context of a new environment where hospital reimbursements are tied to performance nursing has come under much scrutiny as documentation of births already laboriously high has reached even greater levels Providing patient centered care is an organizational challenge that nurses struggle to master in this context Some nurses become bogged down by new processes and bureaucratic procedures while others focus on buffering patients from the effects of these changes with little success

Morris maintains that what is most important in delivering quality care to patients is the amount of interaction time spent with patients yet finding that time is a real challenge in this new environment As questions and policies regarding health care are changing rapidly Health Care in Crisis tells an important story of how these changes affect nurses ability to care for their patients
