Campbell, PhD, RN, FAAN, 2010-07-28 Nurses too often encounter battered women abused children and other victims of family violence in hospital and emergency room settings Nurses therefore have a unique and important role to play in the prevention identification and mitigation of violence This newly revised second edition is a landmark resource that provides comprehensive nursing focused coverage of intimate partner violence IPV child abuse and more This textbook provides a detailed overview of all types of family and other violence including IPV same sex IPV abuse during pregnancy intimate partner homicide stalking violence against women with disabilities dating violence child abuse children witnessing violence sexual assault of both children and adults and elder abuse The book offers both graduate and undergraduate nursing students a clear view of the essential theories interventions and issues surrounding nursing and family violence presenting an approach that empowers nurses to contribute to the prevention of this worldwide health problem Special Features Chapters on legal and forensic issues address the nurse's role and responsibilities when confronting family violence In depth attention to cultural issues promote culturally relevant practice Abundant diagrams and tables offer quick access to essential standards for care Practice assessment forms and model interventions give practical strategies for addressing family violence A new chapter describes international work in family violence      Maternal-Child Nursing Care Optimizing Outcomes for Mothers, Children, & Families Susan Ward, Shelton Hisley, 2015-06-03 It offers the perfect balance of maternal and child nursing care with the right depth and breadth of coverage for students in today's maternity pediatric courses A unique emphasis on optimizing outcomes evidence based practice and research supports the goal of caring for women families and children not only in traditional hospital settings but also wherever they live work study or play Clear concise and easy to follow the content is organized around four major themes holistic care critical thinking validating practice and tools for care that help students to learn and apply the material      National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),      Criminal Victims and the Criminal Justice System, 1986      NIJ Reports, 1985      Case Studies in Family Violence Robert T. Ammerman, Michel Hersen, 2013-06-29 The past 20 years have seen the emergence of family violence as one of the most critical problems facing society. The alarming incidence figures of abuse and neglect directed toward family members justify this attention. For example, over 1 million children are thought to be abused and neglected each year. Similarly, almost 2 million women are victims of wife battering each year. Annual rates of elderly mistreatment are thought to be as high as 32 per 1000 population. Accurate epidemiological data only now are being compiled on more recently recognized forms of mistreatment such as psychological abuse, ritualistic abuse of children, and child witnessing of adult violence. The pervasiveness of domestic mistreatment makes it a priority for clinicians and researchers alike. For clinicians, intrafamilial violence represents a formidable challenge with respect to assessment and treatment. The etiology of abuse and neglect is multidetermined. There are numerous pathways in the development of family violence, and these interact and converge in a nonlinear fashion. The consequences of family violence are equally complex and divergent. Victims of mistreatment can display a variety of physical injuries and psychological disturbances. No single psychiatric syndrome or symptom constellation has been consistently implicated in any form of family mistreatment. The perpetrators of family violence are equally heterogeneous in their clinical presentations. Illustrative dysfunctions in perpetrators include skill deficits, substance abuse, mental illness, and impulse control disorders.
