Genetic Privacy: An Evaluation Of The Ethical And Legal Landscape Terry Sheung-hung Kaan, Calvin Wai-loon Ho, 2013-07-04 Privacy is an unwieldy concept that has eluded an essentialised definition despite its centrality and importance in the body of bioethics The compilation presented in this volume represents continuing discussions on the theme of privacy in the context of genetic information It is intended to present a wide range of expert opinion in which the notion of privacy is examined from many perspectives in different contexts and imperatives and in different societies with the hope of advancing an understanding of privacy through the examination and critique of some of its evolving component concepts such as notions of what constitute the personal the context of privacy the significance and impact of the relational interests of others who may share the same genetic inheritance and mechanisms for the protection of privacy as well as of their limitations among others More specifically the discussions in this volume encourages us to think broadly about privacy as encompassing values that are entailed in the sociality of context and of relations and also as freedom from illegitimate and excessive surveillance A long standing question that continues to challenge us is whether genetic information should be regarded as exceptional as it is often perceived A conclusion that could be derived from this volume is that while genetic information may be significant it is not exceptionally so The work presented in this volume underlines the continuing and growing relevance of notions of privacy to genomic science and the need to take ownership of a genetic privacy for the future through broad rigorous and open discussion Contributors Alastair V Campbell Benjamin Capps Jacqueline JL Chin Oi Lian Kon Kenji Matsui Thomas H Murray Nazirudin Mohd Nasir Dianne Nicol Anh Tuan Nuyen Onora O'Neill Margaret Otlowski Yvette van der Eijk Chunshui Wang Ross S White
