Krause,2013-11-11 WERNER KRAUSE INTRODUCTION GENERAL COMMENTS ON THIS VOLUME The subject Application of vegetation science to grassland husbandry is not limited by geographical boundaries It is pro posed to cover this subject in an internationally applicable work of reference However to avoid omissions it would have to em brace all the diversity of grassland from the Arctic to the Equa tor The term application requires that the papers contained herein take into account both generally relevant scientific knowl edge and the special needs of practical farming The latter are not satisfied solely by the laws of vegetation science the changing effects of the market politics the distribution of wealth and poverty highly developed technology and the continued use of archaic farming methods must all be considered To try to cover all this adequately in one volume of ap proximately 550 pages is a hopeless task The editor and the authors had to limit themselves to presenting a selection of prob lems and attempts to solve them with the aim that these exam ples should indicate how much vegetation science can contribute to grassland husbandry and the scope of this contribution is broadened by the references quoted The arrangement of the sections within this volume does not lend itself to specific suggestions for the management of individual systems However grassland husbandry can expect to obtain from this work an insight into some overall general rela tionships which could assist the adviser in the formulation of more specific improvement plans CULTIVATED PLANTS, PRIMARILY AS FOOD SOURCES -Volume II Gyorgy Fuleky,2009-02-13 Cultivated Plants Primarily as Food Sources is a component of Encyclopedia of Food and Agricultural Sciences Engineering and Technology Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias Global food demand is forecast to double and possible triple by the year 2050 when more than 10 billion people will need to be fed worldwide To ensure adequate nutrition for this growing population food production must be expanded faster than the population Following a longer introduction chapter with some information on the history of crop production the land used for agriculture the cropping systems and the future trends comes the knowledge in depth The grain and cereal the edible been plants the
