Preparing A Place For Myself:

Making a Place for Ourselves Vanessa Northington Gamble, 1995-03-23 Making a Place for Ourselves examines an important but not widely chronicled event at the intersection of African American history and American medical history the black hospital movement A practical response to the racial realities of American life the movement was a self help endeavor immediate improvement of separate medical institutions insured the advancement and health of African Americans until the slow process of integration could occur Recognizing that their careers depended on access to hospitals black physicians associated with the two leading black medical societies the National Medical Association NMA and the National Hospital Association NHA initiated the movement in the 1920s in order to upgrade the medical and education programs at black hospitals Vanessa Northington Gamble examines the activities of these physicians and those of black community organizations local and federal governments and major health care organizations She focuses on three case studies Cleveland Chicago and Tuskegee to demonstrate how the black hospital movement reflected the goals needs and divisions within the African American community and the state of American race relations Examining ideological tensions within the black community over the existence of black hospitals Gamble shows that black hospitals were essential for the professional lives of black physicians before the emergence of the civil rights movement More broadly Making a Place for Ourselves clearly and powerfully documents how issues of race and racism have affected the development of the American hospital system

Making Place through Ritual Lea Schulte-Droesch, 2018-09-10 Indian indigenous societies are especially known for their elaborate rituals which offer an excellent chance for studying religion as practice However few detailed ethnographic works exist on the ritual practices of these societies Based on long term ethnographic fieldwork in Jharkhand India this book offers insights into contemporary previously not described rituals of the Santal one of the largest indigenous societies of Central India Its focus lies on culturally specific notions of place as articulated and created during these rituals In three chapters the book discusses how the Santal make place on different local regional and global levels through their rituals They reaffirm their ancestral roots in their land during large sacrificial rituals They offer sacrifices to the dangerous deities of the forest in exchange for rain And they claim their region to be a Santal region through large festivals celebrated in sacred groves which they link to national and global discourses of indigeneity and environmentalism Through an analysis of the rituals of a specific society this book addresses broader issues It presents an example of how to study religion as a practical activity It portrays culture specific perceptions of the environment And last the book underlines the potential that lies in choosing place as a lens to study social phenomena in context Herald and Presbyter ,1914 Cases on Emotionally Responsive Teaching and Mentoring Ellsworth, Ann M.,2020-03-27 Educators who work with pre service teachers understand the significant role they play in mentoring the next generation of teachers Those who have walked the talk and been classroom teachers themselves working with students daily over the course of a school year can share powerful stories on transformative teaching To fully prepare tomorrow s teachers educators need to mix theory about best practice with the reality of teaching in classrooms Cases on Emotionally Responsive Teaching and Mentoring provides a collection of case studies from former classroom teachers who now work with pre service teachers to provide an understanding of the expectations and outcomes of teaching through actual K 12 teaching experiences Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as cultural identity teacher development and learner diversity this book is ideally designed for pre service teachers mentors educators administrators professors academicians and students seeking current research on the diverse nature of schools children and learning and applying concepts to best suit the profession The Defender ,1916 Lift Me Up! Milton Howard, Jr., Thanks Death You Did Me a Favor Bishop Clifton Jones,2010-05 The message of this book deals with one of the most feared subjects known to mankind the subject of death We look upon death with great surprise however we have seen it enough to know that its a matter of time and death is sure to come to all living My desire is to inform my readers so that they would look upon death from a realistic view point It is needless to get bent out of shape after losing a love one death is part of the process The Christian's Friend and Instructor C.
