Uyehara,2010 The Subversive Activities Prevention Law SAPL was the last major controversial law to be drafted at the end of the Allied Occupation of Japan 1945 1952 which was managed and controlled by General Headquarters GHQ under U S General MacArthur and was enacted into law after Japan had regained its formal independence in 1952 Soon after the Occupation began prewar Japanese internal security laws were ordered abolished by the Occupation Now that Japan would be re gaining its independence in 1952 there was urgency to creating a new integrated national internal security law to fill the vacuum created by the Occupation 1945 1952 The Subversive

Activities Prevention Law was to be the centerpiece for maintaining internal security in the new independent Japan. It turned out to be an extremely controversial law that was vociferously opposed by the political opposition in and out of the Diet in light of the prewar history surrounding how such internal security laws were implemented by the state security apparatus. The demonstrations in 1951-52 against the proposed law organized by the labor unions were the largest, loudest, and most determined since the end of the war. This publication is the first analysis in English on how this law was drafted and debated, supported and opposed using the 20 drafts of the law and the subsequent deliberations concerning the proposed law in the Houses of Representatives and Councillors. A short epilogue since over 50 years have elapsed since the law was initially enacted in 1952 analyzes the implementation of the law during these years. The Subversive Activities Prevention Law of Japan: Its Creation 1951-1952 will be of particular interest to those studying the Allied Occupation of Japan, the Japanese political and legislative process, and its internal security laws. Principals Avoiding Lawsuits David Schimmel, Suzanne Eckes, Matthew Militello, 2017-03-20. This book gives principals the tools they need to avoid lawsuits by teaching their staff the information they need to practice preventive law. Lawsuits often begin when teachers unintentionally violate students' rights such as searching a student's cell phone without reasonable suspicion or failing to follow a student's Individualized Education Program. These violations do not occur because teachers intend to break the law. They occurred because the vast majority of teachers are not required to learn about the rights and responsibilities of students and teachers in their teacher preparation programs. As a result, most teachers get their legal information from the law school of the teachers' lounge that is from colleagues who are similarly uninformed and misinformed. Instead, what teachers want and need is an in-service program that will provide them with a basic understanding of school law. But most busy principals don't have the time, knowledge, and resources to provide such a program for their staff. This book will meet this critical unmet need. It provides principals with the resources and lesson plans they need to incorporate school law into their professional development program. As a result, their teachers will get their information about school law from a reliable source, not from the rumors, fears, and myths of the teachers' lounge. By empowering their teachers with legal knowledge, principals and teachers will avoid lawsuits by becoming partners in the practice of preventive law.
